'MODEL MAID' TAKES $15,000

LAWYER TELLS MAYOR'S SIDE IN LIBEL SUIT

Outlines His Case Against Tribune.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Mayor William Hale Thompson was pictured as a true, greatly abused patriot and defender of the common people in the opening statement of his $500,000 libel suit against THE TRIBUNE in Judge Wilson's court yesterday afternoon.

THE TRIBUNE was represented as a malicious newspaper that distorted the mayor's remarks, printed false news concerning his war-time activities, and carried on a deliberate campaign in its columns to destroy the mayor politically.

Outline by Attorney Jackson.

This theory as outlined by Attorney David H. Jackson was that "the plot against the mayor" had its beginning and basis in 1917, "when it was beginning to appear that a certain gentleman, a member of the family who owned and controlled THE TRIBUNE, belonged to a certain political faction here in Chicago, a faction of the Republican party that was opposed to Mayor Thompson's branch of that party; that that faction of the Republican party naturally desired that the mayor be as weak politically as possible." The reference is to Senator Medill McCormick, brother of Col. Robert R. McCormick, a co-editor of THE TRIBUNE.

Reads Three Tribune Articles.

Mr. Jackson read to the jury three articles published in THE TRIBUNE during 1917 and which he said made the basis of the claim for punitive damages against THE TRIBUNE. He said other articles printed in THE TRIBUNE would be produced showing a "vicious propaganda" against the mayor carried on consistently for years, that his remarks had been collected and distorted, lifted from their context and by means of headlines and subheads made to appear unpatriotic.

The mayor's patriotism was defended in all phases by Mr. Jackson. He said the mayor had upheld the constitution and had done his plain duty in the matter of the meeting of the People's Council in America for Democracy and Terms of Peace and that Gov. Lowden had sent troops here to stop that meeting "without the slightest legitimate cause." He said the mayor had not opposed the draft act and had coöperated through his police with the federal government in upholding law and preserving order during the war. Witnesses, he said, would be put on the stand to show these things.

Tribune Lawyer Talks Today.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, chief counsel for THE TRIBUNE, will present his side of the case this morning. The jury box was filled early yesterday afternoon, somewhat unexpectedly, and there were few spectators in the courtroom when the arguments began. Mr. Jackson spoke for one hour. He said the mayor was bringing this suit as an individual citizen, not as mayor. He began by reading the articles on which the suit is based.

The first article was on July 30, 1917, Mr. Jackson said, "and was a part of a speech delivered by a man by the name of Vincent at Fort Sheridan, Ill. It is as follows:

"'I regret that we cannot put some of our German-American editors on the firing line in the first line trenches. But far more willful, wicked, and culpable than they is the mayor of the great city not thirty miles from here (and we charge that they mean here William Hale Thompson). We hope that the time will soon come when the United States will take due note and cognizance of that gentleman. Then I will be satisfied. The people will say, "Don't give him mercy; give him justice. The Union forever, down with the traitor, up with the stars."'"

Quotes Article's Headlines.

The second article on which the suit is based was published on Sept. 3, 1917, according to Mr. Jackson, the day following the meeting of the People's Council in America for Democracy and Terms of Peace. Mr. Jackson quoted the headlines, "Troops to Subdue Mayor" and "Thompson Faces Trial and Removal." He then quoted from a news article:

"'Mayor William Hale Thompson today faces criminal prosecution and ouster from office. This flat was issued yesterday by Levy Mayer, counsel for and a member of the Illinois State Council of Defense.'"

After reading further from the news article concerning the pacifists' meeting, he quoted another headline—"Council takes steps tomorrow to oust

MORE POLICE, 1,000 OF THEM, TO GUARD CITY

Council Votes 56 to 5 for Increase.

Chicago's defense against the criminal regiment, the ordinary "copper on the beat," was strengthened yesterday by the addition of 1,000 uniformed patrolmen when the city council, by a vote of 56 to 5, authorized Chief Fitzmorris to spend $675,000 in the next six months on extra protection for life and property.

The "thin blue line" between law and order on the one hand and the well organized crime bands on the other will receive the first 500 of the reinforcements by July 1 and the full 1,000, 95 per cent of whom will be ex-service men, disciplined by war and experienced marksmen, will be traveling beats in the city's residential districts by the first of August. The council's action increases the strength of the uniformed patrolmen on post duty from 1,400 to 2,400.

Proud of New Force.

"These men will be the finest body of men ever added to the force," Chief Fitzmorris declared. "Three thousand men were examined to create the new eligible list of 650 names to be posted next week. Both mental and physical examinations were the stiffest in the history of the department."

After an attempt had been made and defeated in the finance committee to cut the police reënforcements to 500, Ald. Robert J. Mulcahy, friend of "Big Tim" Murphy, "Con" Shea, and "Frenchy" Mader, attempted to defeat the plan for an adequate police force on the floor of the city council by raising the labor question.

"Chief Fitzmorris has either failed to make good or these police are to be used for an ulterior purpose, that is to replace the guards of the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award," Mulcahy shouted.

Byrne Answers Mulcahy.

"It's simply another move in the battle to kick organized labor out of Chicago and make it an open shop town."

Ald. Thomas F. Byrne, who carries a union card and is looked upon as the spokesmen of organized labor in the council, came back at Mulcahy with a series of sizzling assertions.

"This is not a question of labor. Organized labor is for law and order. Organized labor is for enough police protection to protect property and the lives of women and children.

"Mulcahy doesn't understand organized labor or he would never have made the speech he has made. I'm not double crossing labor when I vote for 1,000 more police. I'm protecting labor. Chief Fitzmorris has given me his word that not one of these 1,000 men will be ordered to guard Landis award jobs."

Will Not Increase Taxes.

From the standpoint of the taxpayer yesterday's council action was especially interesting because in a resolution introduced by Ald. Anton J. Cermak and accompanying the $675,000 appropriation, the aldermen bound themselves "unalterably and unequivocally" not to ask for any tax increase in 1923 if the 1,000 guardians of the peace are kept on the force.

"It means that the 1923 revenue will not be boosted to pay these salaries next year," Ald. Cermak said. "If the men are kept on the job retrenchments will have to made elsewhere to create a saving to pay them."

The Cermak resolution was passed by a vote of 57 to 4, Ald. Mulcahy, Guernsey, O'Toole, and Lynch voting in the negative.

The battle against the new crime fighters was spiritless. Ald. Guernsey led it. He thought 500 police would be enough. He said bridges need painting, alleys need cleaning, and that "certain people are taking advantage of a psychological situation to put 1,000 more men on city pay rolls."

"That's all true," countered Ald. Woodhull, "but life and property are more important even than paint for the bridges and cleaner alleys. I vote yes."

Hot Shot for Aldermen.

Ald. Albert voted for the appropriation, but he took a hot shot both at the police and his brother aldermen in explaining his vote.

"There have been four murders in my ward in a week," he declared. "More police will not get to the bottom of the situation. It is the hell holes, operating with the connivance of the police to whom graft is being paid, that is at the bottom of the situation. You aldermen are yourselves at fault for your failure to shut up these graft paying hell holes."

A new examination for patrolmen will be held next week, as it is expected that the 650 names on the new eligible list will soon be exhausted.

POLICE SEARCH FOR LOST GIRLS PROVES FUTILE

Police were still unsuccessful last night in their search for Miss Edna Newhouse, who disappeared May 11 while on her way to work as a stenographer.

The only hint that the girl may have killed herself while despondent over some unknown trouble is the fact that she failed to draw $28 salary due her.

Likewise fruitless was the search for Grace Webster, 16 years old, orphaned heiress of Aurora, who mysteriously disappeared Saturday from the home of F. C. Ammerly, Aurora, president of the Independent Pneumatic Tool company, where she lived while attending high school.

Police continued their search for Louise Pavlini, 15, who disappeared while en route to the Prescott school from her home at 3507 North Ashland avenue.

PLANE SAVES MAN WHO COULD NOT SAVE GIRL IN SEA

Atlantic City, N. J., May 24.—[Special.]—Though four men risked their lives to save her and a hydroplane was commandeered to assist the rescuers, Edna Bowers, 12, a pretty girl living here, was drowned today in a strong undertow.

Roger McKenna, beach guard lieutenant, struck out for the spot where the girl was last seen. After diving repeatedly, he brought up her lifeless body. But he could not return to shore.

The hydroplane station had been called by telephone and out of a hangar dashed a plane which skimmed the waves close enough to enable the crew to drag McKenna and his burden aboard.

"THERE are two points to be decided," said Harley. "First, where Sir Joseph dropped the cigaret which he lighted in the room below; and second, which of these fair but frail ladies was here tonight."

POLICE CAPTURE POISON PENMAN

$700 Lures Him to Disguised Cops.

Eugene Bryant, 608 St. Clair street, confessed yesterday he is author of the poison pen letters sent to Mrs. A. H. Shotwell, 223 Delaware place, demanding money for suppression of facts which would cause a divorce from her husband—facts of which Mrs. Shotwell knew nothing. Since last July the letters have come constantly.

Bryant was arrested in a restaurant at 16 East Randolph street by Detectives Ignatius Brandt and John Prendergast, who dressed as waiters and spent the day in the restaurant carrying dishes, watching each customer.

Agrees to Give $700.

Mrs. Shotwell received another letter yesterday. Then she was called on the phone. In accordance with a plan suggested by Capt. Morgan Collins, Mr. Shotwell agreed to place $700 in a package addressed to "G. H. Hines," which was to be left at the automat restaurant with the cashier. A dummy package was made up and given the cashier.

After an all day wait, the detectives saw Bryant step up to the cashier's desk. As Bryant took the package and turned to leave he was arrested.

In his confession Bryant named as accomplice the "Fontaine," who signed many of the letters, giving his real name as William Walsh, alias J. B. Hunes. The police do not believe Bryant had an accomplice.

Worked at Her Home.

For nearly ten months he was employed as an elevator operator in the building at 223 East Delaware place, where Mrs. Shotwell lives. It is thought he figured out the blackmail scheme before leaving there.

His arrest ends a six months' search in which Bryant narrowly escaped arrest several times when telephone calls made by him to the Shotwell home were traced to Marshall Field & Co.'s basement by the police, who found their quarry had mixed with the crowd and escaped before their arrival.

Admits He's Clever.

In his letters, Bryant admitted himself clever, said he was a member of a national blackmail gang who scoffed at the police and threatened death if the money demanded was not paid. One of the letters, typical of the 200 written, follows:

"Mrs. Shotwell: You no doubt have heard about the David Joyce divorce, the McCormick divorce, the Dr. Carr scandal. We are the secret cause of them. Don't get David Joyce mixed up with Stanley Joyce and Peggy. We had nothing to do with them. You may also remember a wealthy man that was murdered in your neighborhood. See what Taylor got in Hollywood, Cal. See what you'll get if you think you are clever.

Unafraid of Police.

"We know how to deal with people of your type. You're not used to combating things of this nature. So if you are wise, follow our directions. The Chicago police have no terrors for us, so we don't worry. But follow directions in previous letters and be sure you follow every word. Remember, if one of us is caught, you or some of your family die.

"I see you and speak to you nearly every week. That is how clever I am. Catch me?—ha ha. You are dealing with a coast to coast blackmail gang that has been operating successfully for twenty years. Get busy. Send $350. FONTAINE."

Loots Home of Jewelry After 3 Days

Owen W. Brewer's home at 411 Briar place, the northern end of Chicago's gold coast, was looted of jewels and clothing valued at $15,000 yesterday by a "model maid" who was employed three days ago, giving references from Pasadena, Cal. The loss was first discovered by Mr. Brewer when he returned home near dinner time. A partial and hasty inventory of missing valuables taken is as follows:

Two diamond rings	$2,000
One diamond sapphire ring	800
One diamond ring	900
One pearl necklace	2,600
One diamond scarf pin	400
One pearl scarf pin	400
One lorgnette chain	275

Complete List Impossible.

It was not possible to make a complete check last night on everything missing.

In responce to a call from Capt. E. B. Brewer, the son of O. W. Brewer of the 202d anti-aircraft artillery, Sergts. Nolan and Josephon hurried to the Brewer home. There they were informed by Mrs. Brewer that her new maid, Agnes Swanson, had disappeared taking her own clothing besides the valuables belonging to the Brewer family.

The detectives learned shortly after their arrival that the Swanson girl had left the house with two suit cases and a bundle in a taxicab.

Model Maid Sought.

Believing the maid was merely a member of a gang, and secured employment in the north shore home for plunder purposes, the police are making every effort to locate her. It is believed she may be traced through the taxi driver, providing he was not a member of the gang.

Mr. Brewer, head of the Western Book and Stationery company at 427 South Wabash avenue, arrived at the home shortly before his wife returned from a shopping trip. Instead of dinner waiting, Mr. Brewer found his home turned topsy turvy and deserted. Mrs. Brewer came in soon after her husband. Going to the maid's room, she discovered the girl had taken her clothing and flown.

CARL E. AKELEY, FAMOUS HUNTER, SEEKS DIVORCE

Deserted by Wife, Is His Assertion.

Carl E. Akeley, world famous as a big game hunter and a naturalist, and recently returned from his fifth trip into the interior of Africa, yesterday filed suit for divorce from Mrs. Delia J. Akeley, the companion of several of his research expeditions, and herself widely known for her prowess as a nimrod.

Desertion Alleged.

The explorer, for many years with the Field Museum, and more recently a member of the staff of the American Museum of Natural History in New York, bases his suit on the alleged desertion of Mrs. Akeley July 17, 1917, after fifteen years of married life.

In the bill, filed by Attorney Gustave E. Beerly, Akeley said he "lived with his wife as a true, kind, indulgent husband, providing her with all the necessities and comforts of life, according to the best of his means and their station in life."

According to Attorney Beerly, Mrs. Akeley is in New York, as is her husband, temporarily.

Just Back from Africa.

Akeley returned from Africa March 14 together with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley, and their 6 year old daughter Alice of Chicago. As a result of this expedition, five huge gorilla skins and a mass of valuable data were added to the collection of the American Museum of Natural History.

In addition to his achievements as a hunter, Akeley is noted as the inventor of the cement gun and the Akeley camera, and as a sculptor. During the war Akeley was a consulting engineer in the engineering department of the army, and later as a special assistant in the concrete department of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

2 BOYS DROWN IN SCHOOL TANK AS SIX LOOK ON

While six companions looked helplessly on, Charles Boardman, 11 years old, 2426 Gladys avenue, and Francis Walsh, 8 years old, 1154 North Wells street, drowned in a 60,000 gallon filtering tank yesterday at St. Mary's Training school, Des Plaines.

The eight boys had removed the trap door of the roof over the tank, and the Boardman and Walsh boys dived in. They were unable to swim, and went down.

Mrs. Rose Boardman, 2426 Gladys avenue, is the mother of one of the boys, and Coleman Walsh, 1154 North Wells street, is father of the other.

RAIL RATE CUT $400,000,000 BY U. S. BOARD

Trade Impetus Seen in Big Slash.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Trade experts roughly calculate that about $400,000,000 a year, on the basis of 1921 traffic, is knocked off the rail transportation bill of America by yesterday's order at Washington, making a horizontal cut of 10 per cent in freight rates. Merchants, manufacturers and bankers regard it as a sure accelerator. The saving in carrying tolls is expected to increase buying which, in turn, will stimulate industry and diminish unemployment.

The farmer alone benefits to the tune of about $127,000,000 a year from the new freight rate cuts, according to estimates of the American Farm Bureau federation experts. This is on goods the farmer buys normally.

Products Not Affected.

Rates on agricultural products are not affected, the order reaffirming the reduction of 10.5 per cent in the western hay and grain rates last fall and the cut of 10 per cent made voluntarily by the roads on agricultural products, Jan. 1.

Estimates of how much has been lopped off the freight bill that is unloaded on the consumer are rather catch-as-catch-can, but they offer a measure. In 1921, the freight revenue of the railroads was $3,907,000,000. Ten per cent off this would be approximately $400,000,000 saved. Agricultural experts contend that the farmer pays 55 per cent of the freight bill of the country, which would make his share of the saving about $220,000,000. He already has benefited to the extent of $93,000,000 a year from the cuts on goods he produces, leaving about $127,000,000 as his possible stake in yesterday's reduction order. It ought to better the buying power in the agricultural districts, which for a month or so has given signs of loosening up, and when the farmer buys the city man works more regularly. The cut in hay and grain freight rates some six months ago was followed by immediate betterment of farm prices for grain. The estimated savings are on the basis of 1921 and, it is pointed out, they will grow as business expands.

Burst Ahead Predicted.

Manufacturers and merchandisers all echoed one sentence: "It will stimulate business." John M. Glenn of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, who was impresario for the Gov. Allen-Gov. Miller debate on the St. Lawrence seaway project, said the manufacturers in his organization all believe the freight cuts will at once speed up markets, demand and trade.

"The order ought to start business moving in the Chicago area at a lively clip," said Mr. Glenn.

Experts of the Association of Commerce pointed out that the cuts bring Chicago much closer to markets where the falling off in trade has been most marked; that is, markets to which the freight rate is such a factor that customers have stopped buying because of the cost of transportation. In its argument during the rate hearing, the association set forth that the shrinkage of Chicago's business has been greater according to distance from the customer, because the factor of the rate increases with the distance, keeps on going up. One typical Illinois business found shrinkage of its business in the Rocky mountain territory was two to four times the rate of shrinkage in Illinois; on the Pacific slope about three times; in the Gulf states three to four times. Measured in dollars, the 10 per cent cut in rates to these remoter markets is greatest, and its benefits are expected to be high.

Rail Executives Surprised.

Railroad executives were not particularly happy over the ruling. Some of them could hardly believe the news, especially in view of the tidings from Washington in the morning prints that President Harding was not sanguine of rate cuts. Others took the ground that the loss from reduced freight revenue would be more than offset by increased traffic.

C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, said: "The increased movement of basic commodities, particularly building and other construction materials, which began to take definite form about sixty days ago, proves that an increase in freight rates was not the controlling factor in causing business depression.

"While I feel it would have been better for the country if reductions had not been made until continued increased earnings had put the railroads in funds sufficient to permit of bringing the transportation plant to a higher state of efficiency, I believe that business is once more on the road to normalcy and that, so far as the Illinois Central system is concerned, the loss resulting from the decrease ordered by the commission will be offset by earnings from the increased movement of traffic and opportunity for further reductions in expenses which will follow the decision of the railroad labor board in dealing with wage questions before it."

Decision Expected Shortly.

The labor board is likely to have a decision on the pending wage question in the near future, according to members, but the finding will be based solely on evidence presented in the hearings.

One question over which there is wide dispute is how much of the new freight cuts already has been unloaded on the railroad employés in wage reductions. On the basis of freight business in 1921, a 10 per cent rate cut would mean roughly $400,000,000. The publication of the Association of Railway Executives says that in 1921 the railroads saved about $800,000,000 in labor costs as compared to 1920. Of this, about $500,000,000 was accomplished by reduction in the number of men employed. It has been estimated by the bureau of railway economics that a saving of about $300,000,000 a year is now effective by railroad labor board orders to date.

EARNINGS CUT TO 5.75%

Washington, D. C., May 24.—Railroad freight rates will be reduced on July 1 by amounts equal to 10 per cent of their present levels under a decision of the interstate commerce commission announced today. Practically all classes and commodities of traffic are affected by the decision which marked the conclusion of the investigation begun last autumn by the commission, on its own initiative into the reasonableness of existing freight levels.

CHARLES C. McCHORD.

Agricultural products in all sections of the country outside of New England, live stock and western grain and grain products are the chief commodities excluded from the reduction.

Passenger Rates Not Cut.

Passenger charges and Pullman fares are also left unchanged by today's decision.

With its decision on rates the commission announced also its determination of 5.75 per cent as the reasonable annual return which carriers in the future will be entitled to earn on their actual capital investment. This compares with 6 per cent, the reasonable return level fixed under the transportation act for the period expiring March 1.

As stated in technical language to the roads, the commission said that after July 1 it would hold unreasonable rates "including more than the following percentages of increase over the rates in effect immediately prior to Aug. 26, 1920," and set up the territorial schedules as follows:

"In the eastern group, also between points in Illinois territory, and between Illinois territory and the eastern group, 26 per cent, instead of the 40 per cent authorized in the decision last cited (increased rates of 1920).

"In the western group and between the western group and Illinois territory, 21.5 per cent, instead of the 35 per cent so authorized.

Southern Group in Half.

"In the southern and mountain Pacific groups, 12.5 per cent, instead of the 25 per cent so authorized.

"On interterritorial traffic, except as otherwise provided herein, 20 per cent, instead of the 33 1-3 per cent so authorized."

In discussing 5.75 per cent as a fair return standard, the commission also observed that the federal corporation income taxes are subtracted from earnings before profits are figured, and that the figure it set "would be approximately the equivalent of a fair return of 6 per cent," out of which the federal income tax was payable.

LETTER BARES WARD'S SECRET, ATTORNEY SAYS

BY JAMES WHITTAKER.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—An anonymous letter found by District Attorney Weeks of White Plains on his desk today has revealed to that official the secret by which Walter S. Ward, confessed slayer of pauper Clarence Peters, was placed in the power of blackmailers. The contents of the letter were not imparted to newspaper men.

But Weeks affirmed that they clearly indicate the channels through which Peters and any other blackmailers who may have been associated with Peters, approached the secret for the keeping of which Ward was willing to pay $30,000, anxious to pay an additional $75,000, and forced to kill.

Having read this letter, to which he attributes capital importance, Weeks announced he will press the prosecution of Ward in spite of what any other official or officials in the Westchester county administration and political machine may do.

Prosecutor Spurns Ward's Story.

"In the most emphatic manner," said Weeks. "I proclaim that I am not satisfied with Ward's story of the killing. There are many points in it which do not sound just right. He must prove every statement that he has made—and the proof will be public property. Do not think we have swallowed his story hook, line and sinker, because we haven't. If our investigation reveals its falsity he will be treated as any other prisoner."

Weeks has further considered the possibility that Ward, who would forfeit only the $10,000 bail in which he is held if he made such a move, may attempt to leave New York state. For this Weeks is forearmed.

"There is not the least danger of his escape," he said. "We have seen to that. Any attempt to run or hide would result in his immediate arrest."

The letter which has so completely reversed the Westchester county attorney's attitude toward the Peters killing case was seen but not read by reporters. It is, of course, unsigned, but appears to be in the handwriting of a man.

Double Motive of Letter.

The theory is entertained that it has been written and dispatched by a blackmailer, associate or friend of Peters, in an attempt to besmirch and to give Peters a posthumous revenge.

It came by special-delivery, the postmarking indicating it was posted at 10 o'clock this morning at Times Square. It was directed simply to "The District Attorney, Court House, White Plains." In the upper left hand corner are typewritten the legends "private" and "rush."

The message itself is written on two ordinary penny postcards and a scrap of brown manila paper. The two cards have been covered on both sides with a fine and seemingly cultured handwriting. Even the engraved stamp marks are covered with pen marks. Then, as if the supply of this unusual stationery had given out, the concluding phrases of the letter are written on the scrap of manila.

Will Protect the Writer.

The letter ends with the subscripture, "Desp'y." Underneath this word the manila has been carefully torn away. Attorney Weeks deducts from this fact that the writer first signed his name and then, changing his mind, tore the identifying signature away.

Weeks is led to believe by the tenor of the letter that the writer is anxious to speak to Weeks face to face. Weeks is no less anxious to speak to him and requested newspapermen to mention the fact that the writer need have no fears in coming forward. Weeks will not subject him to arrest or humiliation.

Ward Quits as Police Head.

The conjunction of these circumstances indicates that Ward was preparing some sort of police action against Peters before he killed him and leaves more remote than ever the hope of an explanation by Ward that a powerful chief of a powerful police force, and a powerful lieutenant in the powerful Westchester political machine, should have suffered an instant from the demands of so unprotected an individual as Peters.

Ward today was dislodged from his post as police commissioner of New Rochelle after a tense under cover fight to keep his job which had been waged ever since the news of his confession became public. Corporation Counsel Charles A. Van Anken of New Rochelle announced tonight that he had been notified that Ward's resignation is in the mails.

Earlier in the day the bitter fight on Ward as commissioner had come into the open when Van Anken was obliged by political opponents of Ward to make a statement.

Accusations of corruptness, both political and monetary, are frequent.

MRS. OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Rumors that have been circulated on Broadway to the effect that Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, widow of the grand opera impresario, has decided to make another matrimonial venture were confirmed today by Mrs. Hammerstein herself. She said that the bridegroom-to-be was Prince Oleg V. Radomar, cousin of the King of Italy and a veteran of the world war. The prince is at present in Smyrna, where he has a position with the Standard Oil company. He is Mrs. Hammerstein's junior by a number of years, being under 25.

WORLD BANKERS OPEN CLINIC ON AILING EUROPE

Morgan Submits Plan for German Loan.

PARIS, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—Four tentative solutions of the international loan problem for the settlement of the economic situation in Europe, with particular reference to Germany, were presented today at the meeting of the bankers' committee, of which J. P. Morgan is the American representative. The spirit of the meeting was described by some of those who took part as indicating that something can be done.

The solutions were submitted respectively by Mr. Morgan, who offered what he termed the "American plan"; Sir Robert Kindersley, one of the governors of the Bank of England; Charles Sargent, former French undersecretary of finance and president of the Banque de l'Union Parisienne, and Dr. G. Vissering, president of the Netherlands bank. No hint was given as to what these plans are.

Morgan Rides in Ancient Taxi.

The two sessions of the committee today were held in the Hotel Astoria, the home of the reparations commission.

It is generally agreed that Germany must have a loan of at least $1,000,000,000.

There was extraordinary public interest shown in Mr. Morgan. While the other members of the committee came and departed in handsome automobiles, the American representative used a taxicab driven by one of the veterans of the Marne, that looked as though it might fall to pieces.

Germany Adopts Compulsory Loan.

BERLIN, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—The reichsrat, or imperial council, today adopted the compulsory bill which recently passed the reichstag, with certain important amendments.

The government draft provided that individuals should subscribe 2 per cent of the first 250,000 marks, subject to levy under the terms of the bill. This was amended by the reichsrat to 1 per cent of the first 100,000 marks and 2 per cent for the next 150,000 marks. The minimum amount of capital exempt from subscribing to the loan is 100,000 marks.

There are persistent rumors here of a cabinet crisis owing to Dr. Joseph Wirth, the chancellor, having declined to indorse the proposals made to the reparations commission in Paris by Andreas Hermes, minister of finance, especially the proposal to impose new taxation to cover the increase in Germany's floating debt.

SENATORS REACH BONUS DEADLOCK IN COMMITTEE

Harding Won't Move to Help Either.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Republican members of the senate finance committee have practically reached an impasse on the soldiers' bonus bill.

Half of the membership favors the Smoot plan for paid up insurance policies for the veterans, and half of them favor the McCumber plan for certificates to be issued to the veterans on which they can borrow money as in the case of the house bill. This developed at a meeting of Republican members today, when Senator McLean [Conn.] swung over to the Smoot plan.

In view of this situation, Chairman McCumber [N. D.], it was said today, had determined to call in the Democratic members to aid in drafting the bonus bill, and a meeting of the full committee probably will be held Friday or Saturday.

From Democratic sources it was learned that the members are inclined to the McCumber plan. That being the case, it is expected that the bill as finally drafted and reported to the senate will in many respects resemble the house bill. The land features of the house bill, however, will be eliminated or considerably altered.

Senator McCumber for a time expected to hear from the President in regard to the bonus matter. But it now appears that the President intends to leave it entirely to the senators to struggle with this bonus tangle.

Senator Watson [Ind.], a Republican member of the finance committee who has taken an active part in the bonus matter, is expected to return to Washington in time for the meeting Friday or Saturday.

CITY PROSECUTOR IS SUBPŒNAED IN SCHOOL INQUIRY

Involved in Coal Deals, Quiz Indicates.

SAMUEL HAMILTON.

From a series of developments in the school scandal yesterday, coming in rapid succession, these stood out:

State's Attorney Crowe's investigation reached into the city hall when a forthwith subpoena was issued for City Prosecutor Louis Piquett in connection with coal purchases by the board of education.

Thompson members of the board refused to face an army of 500 school teachers who had come to attend the board's regular meeting, and because—just as two weeks ago—a quorum could not be obtained, the meeting was adjourned.

Women Ask Mayor Back Crowe.

A delegation of club women waited upon Mayor Thompson and State's Attorney Crowe, pledging coöperation to Mr. Crowe and urging the mayor to do likewise.

Charles J. Forsberg, business manager of the board of education, was warned by Assistant State's Attorney Samuel M. Hamilton that he would be held responsible for advertising for bids in school board transactions requiring such procedure.

The city prosecutor, summoned at the personal direction of Mr. Crowe, was closeted for more than two hours with Assistant State's Attorney Ernest S. Hodges. Both were reticent as to what transpired.

It became known, however, that Mr. Piquett was asked to explain why he was given a check for several hundred dollars by James C. Michaels, president of the Chest Creek Coal company, which has sold large quantities of fuel to the board of education. Mr. Michaels, with others, recently was named in indictments charging short weight graft.

Legal Services His Plea.

According to reports, Mr. Piquett's explanation was that the money was in payment for legal services he had rendered Mr. Michaels' brother. He will be questioned again today, it was said.

Board of education records seized by the state's attorney several weeks ago have been returned, it was announced last night, but still are in charge of expert accountants retained by Mr. Crowe. This set at rest fears that teachers' salaries would be held up.

Trustees Hart Hanson and J. Lewis Coath were the only members to attend the board meeting, which Louis Wilk, secretary, called to order on the stroke of 3 o'clock. They are leading the fight against the Davis-Severinghaus boss rule. Trustee Francis Croarkin appeared thirty minutes later. The meeting, however, had lasted one minute.

What Women Asked.

The delegation of women, headed by Mrs. Henry W. Cheney, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, and Mrs. William S. Hefferen, chairman of education for the Women's City club, asked the mayor, in substance, that he insist that star chamber sessions of the board of education be abolished, leaving all meetings open to the public; that he coöperate with the state's attorney in seeing that "all persons responsible for present intolerable conditions are brought to justice and, finally, that his appointment of members of the board be men and women of such recognized efficiency and integrity that they will inspire public confidence."

Bither Asks Early Trial.

William A. Bither, Lundin-Thompson attorney for the board of education, against whom the grand jury Tuesday returned five indictments charging conspiracy with H. W. Kaup in connection with the sale of school board property, furnished the required bond of $11,000. This was put up by O. W. [illegible], who scheduled the Southern building, St. Clair and Ohio streets, at $85,000.

Attorney Bither indicated he desires an early trial. The date probably will be set next Monday.

MILLER PAYS TO STATE $1,035,508, 16 MOS.' INTEREST

State Treasurer E. E. Miller announced at Waukegan yesterday that the amount of interest he has collected on public funds during his sixteen months in office and turned over to the state totals $1,035,508.

Should he maintain this rate for the remaining eight months of his term he will have paid to the state during his incumbency $1,553,262 in interest.

Gov. Small for the last two year term he was state treasurer turned over $450,010 as the total interest he collected. For his full two years' term as treasurer Fred E. Sterling paid in $996,122 in interest collected.

According to Mr. Miller his average monthly balance on deposit has been $1,000,000 less than Sterling's, which has been computed at $24,500,000.

PARIS BOILS ON HOTTEST DAY IN MAY IN 116 YEARS

PARIS, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—Paris today experienced the hottest May day in 116 years, the thermometer hitting 94.1 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade at 3:45 this afternoon. This city was one of many to experience a heat wave that began in western Europe five days ago.

Melting Snow in Avalanche.

GENEVA, May 24.—The heat wave in the Alps region has broken a ninety year record for the month of May, the thermometer today registering 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Snow and glaciers are melting rapidly and the Rhine and Rhone rivers are rising.

An avalanche released by the heat destroyed an Alpine clubhouse.

A Sensation in London.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—The fourth day of the torrid heat wave is getting London's goat, as the city never before experienced such an ordeal. The newspapers display stories of the death of three persons by sunstroke under big headlines as an unheard of catastrophe.

'TAKE A CHANCE,' PARK BARKERS TELL CHILDREN

Thus Goes Pa's Coin at Mayor's Party.

MRS. JOSEPH T. BOWEN.

Operators of fish ponds, devil's bowling alleys, wheels of fortune and other games of chance continued to reap a harvest of dimes and nickels from the Riverview park school children guests of Mayor Thompson yesterday even as the mayor, after receiving a letter of censure from a woman's organization, defended his free holidays for children.

Until a drenching rain drove thousands of pupils from the park, boys and girls ranging in age from 8 to 16, flocked around the "come on" men with their alluring offers of watches, bracelets, dolls, blankets, candy, perfume, and in some cases, gold coins. Even in the rain, children crowded around the barkers.

Few of Them Win.

Most of the youthful followers of the painted horses in the "Kentucky Derby," the rubber fish in the fish ponds and the mysterious red numbered balls did not win. Some of them did. All of them learned a bit about gambling and many of them induced their mothers to take a chance with father's money.

Following the publication of a letter sent out by the Woman's City club Monday by Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, president, in which Mayor Thompson was censured for taking children from their studies and providing for them undesirable forms of amusement, THE TRIBUNE yesterday sent a reporter to look over the mayor's favorite stamping ground for converting children to his standard.

Many are Unchaperoned.

The reporter learned that thousands of children attend the park every week day as guests of Mayor Thompson, that many of them are unchaperoned and that until the last few days hundreds of them have been allowed to frequent the park until 10 o'clock at night. The children are given carfare to and from the picnic grounds, free admission and two return tickets good for two more free trips to the park in July and August. Parents and teachers caring for children are also given tickets and in cases where parents are unable to come, free tickets are sent to them.

Mothers interviewed at the park protested against the policy of allowing children to visit the park alone.

Mayor Thompson in defending his policy refused to comment on charges that gambling was permitted in the park.

The Mayor's Answer.

"Yes, I got Mrs. Bowen's letter from the City club," he said. "She is not for anything. Of the letter I have received from her, all have been attacking something.

"My answer to her is that during the first year of my holidays for the school children at Riverview 250,000 copies of the constitution were put in the children's hands. The second year 287,000 histories of the life of George Washington were given out. And last year 518,000 brief histories of the life of Abraham Lincoln were given to the children. The increased attendance shows that the parents are satisfied."

Hylan Wouldn't Take Job of Governor 'for Anything'

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Mayor John F. Hylan announced tonight that he wouldn't be governor of New York "for anything." In a speech in Richmond, Mayor Hylan said he wouldn't accept the governorship if they gave him a certificate of election at once and tomorrow handed him his fare to Albany. He added that with a hostile legislature on his hands, his work on behalf of the people would be ended if he went to Albany. It was only the "interests" that wanted him to run, he said, in order to get him out of the city hall.

WOMAN 'CHLOROFORM BURGLAR' ENTERS PLEA OF GUILTY TO CHARGE

LUCILLE HANLEY.

Lucille Hanley, known to police as the "chloroform burglar," yesterday pleaded guilty to one of ten charges of burglary which are being held against her. Judge John R. Caverly, before whom she appeared, told her that the severity of her sentence would be determined largely on whether or not she made restitution of property she had stolen.

Chief among the loot was a wedding ring belonging to Mrs. Mabel Muth, 1505 East 64th street, to which she told the judge, she attached great sentimental value. Frank Hanley, husband of Lucille, was sentenced recently to from one to ten years in Joliet for burglary. His wife, who was codefendant on the charge, was acquitted, but was held on the other charges.

BULGARS UPSET EUROPE SCHEME BY JOINING REDS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 24.—The about face of the agrarian government of Bulgaria regarding bolshevism since Premier Stamboulisky conferred with M. Tchitcherin at Genoa, together with the recent communist outbreak, indicates Bulgaria has joined hands with Russia, Germany, and Turkey as a means of best serving the interests of the country.

The inclusion of Bulgaria in the Russo-German policy to counteract the balance of power of the allies and the little entente adds new complications to the near east embroglio. Owing to Russian support, it is felt that Roumania would not be willing to risk an attack from the Bessarabian frontier by attempting to overthrow the Reds in Bulgaria.

Also it is said that Roumania does not care to expose itself to the danger of dismemberment by a revolution in the Dobrudja, as well as trouble in the no less indigestible territory of Transylvania.

The Thracian question has assumed a new complexion with the Bulgarians, who have always favored the Macedonian revolutionary committee and have assisted the Turks against the Greeks. Even Constantinople is affected, as the straits are menaced from both sides by nations opposed to the allies.

A year ago M. Stamboulisky was a violent enemy of the bolshevists. The pressure of the allies to collect an indemnity equal to $100 per capita, as well as the hope of escaping the penalties of defeat and the restitution of lost territory, obviously influenced the new attitude.

BOMB AND SHOOT WORKERS; 2 MORE DIE IN BELFAST

Protestants Forced to Flee Homes.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BELFAST, May 24.—One person was killed and twelve seriously wounded, when street cars bearing workers to their homes were fired upon and bombed this evening. Sharp rioting followed.

A Protestant workman returning home was shot dead.

New reports on the clashes which attended the general roundup of Sinn Fein leaders in Ulster poured in today. Frank O'Kelly, an American, who fought with the Yanks in France, was among those arrested near Londerry. Two members of a party which ambushed constables near Ballymena were killed during a hot battle.

Presenting Ulster's budget to the northern parliament this afternoon, Mr. Pollock estimated that the cost of the special police to keep order would be £2,500,000 (roughly $11,000,000), of which £1,000,000 ($4,400,000) would be provided by the British government.

Protestant Families Flee.

LONDONDERRY, May 24.—Numerous Protestant families which have left their homes in the Carrigans district, Free State territory, have arrived here and in other parts of the northern area.

Plans New Peace Parley.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—Another peace meeting between Great Britain and Ireland is likely to be held in London following the discussions between Prime Minister Lloyd George and the delegates of the provisional government of Ireland which will begin tomorrow.

No secret is made of the fact that Mr. Lloyd George takes the gravest view of the present situation.

Big Bill." And from under the heading he quoted:

"Ald. Albert J. Fisher said the meeting of the Peoples' Council was obstructive in its nature, and therefore was treasonable. It was treasonable to allow it to be held."

Security League Charges.

The third article on which the suit is based was the publication of a resolution of a committee of the National Security league, which, Mr. Jackson said, "was a body, a certain class of citizens, we claim, made up of a class antagonistic to the mayor." In this resolution it is stated that the mayor was "guilty of palpable omission of duty and malfeasance in the discharge of the duties of his office," for permitting the meeting of the Peoples' council. The resolution as further read to the jury states:

"From the beginning of the war between our country and Germany, the mayor has expressed no patriotic word of support of his country that has come to our notice. In our opinion, he is a disloyal citizen. In all this he has altogether misrepresented the sentiment of the loyal people of his own city and state. In our opinion, in his words and actions since the beginning of the war, he has adhered to the enemies of his country, giving them aid and comfort, which the constitution of the United States declares to be treason."

Mr. Jackson continued:

"These are the articles. Those are the libelous charges on which we base our suit on behalf of the Mayor.

GIVES MAYOR'S HISTORY

"During the course of the trial we will, of course, show you who Mayor Thompson is, and show you that he was born in Chicago, and has lived here all his life, practically, with the exception of a short time when he was out west, that he has been off and on in public life since back in 1900, at which time I believe he was elected alderman from the Second ward of Chicago, and later being elected a county commissioner of Cook county, and then practically retired from office holding until 1915, at which time he was first elected Mayor of the City of Chicago; that after that election sometime, he was elected Republican national committeeman from Illinois, and later, in 1919, he was renominated by the Republican party, and reelected Mayor of Chicago, and is now acting as mayor of this city.

Charges Against Tribune.

"We shall show to you in this case that THE TRIBUNE, from the very outbreak—no, not from the outbreak, but from the time that the United States was drawn into the war, practically, pursued a policy of publications about the mayor—these publications being all similar to, and very much the same as the articles complained of.

"Our contention will be that it was part of a design on the part of THE TRIBUNE to try, for political reasons, during war time, to create the opinion throughout Chicago and the state of Illinois that Mayor Thompson was disloyal and a traitor to his country, for the purpose, in war time, of thereby weakening his hold on the public, and thereby attempting to destroy him politically.

Talks of Politics.

"I am not going to undertake to argue anything about this point at this time, but I would like to call your attention to the further fact that in 1917 it was beginning to appear, probably early in 1917, that a certain gentleman, a member of the family who owned and controlled THE TRIBUNE, belonged to a certain political faction here in Chicago, a faction of the Republican party, that that faction of the Republican party was opposed to Mayor Thompson's branch of the party; that that faction of the Republican party naturally desired that the mayor be as weak politically as possible; that a brother of this Medill McCormick was an editor of THE TRIBUNE, that a cousin of his, Joe Medill Patterson, was another editor of THE TRIBUNE, and that the stock of THE TRIBUNE was under the control of his mother, the mother and the aunt of Medill McCormick, and that THE TRIBUNE, naturally, because of those affiliations, was anxious for the success of that branch of the Republican party, and therefore the weakening of the mayor and his branch of the party; and that they pursued this course of endeavoring to make it appear that the mayor was disloyal, because that would be the most effective weapon, in the history of wartime, that could possibly be invented for use against a man in public life.

RECALLS JOFFRE VISIT

"THE TRIBUNE has set up in its plea certain facts pertaining to a visit of Gen. or Marshal Joffre, the French marshal, to Chicago, technically being a visit of what was known as the French mission, in May, 1917.

"If THE TRIBUNE introduces evidence—and presumably they will—on that matter we expect to show that Mayor Thompson did everything that the mayor of Chicago ought to do, not only with reference to inviting the French mission to Chicago, but in entertaining them while here. That as the question of the visit of the French mission to Chicago was broached he caused the matter to be investigated and communicated the results of his investigation to the city council at the first opportunity offered for so doing.

Committee of 100 Named.

"That in compliance with his communication the city council adopted a resolution inviting the French mission to Chicago. That the mayor immediately appointed a committee of 100 citizens to entertain the French mission when it arrived in Chicago, and that the mayor, and under his direction the corporation counsel, Mr. Ettelson, of the city of Chicago devoted the greater part of their time for a week to making arrangements for the entertainment of the distinguished guests. That upon the arrival of the French mission in Chicago the mayor met them at the depot, conducted them to their hotel, and attended them personally throughout the greater part of their stay in Chicago. He attended a banquet given in their honor, and I believe spoke a few words there. He appeared at the principal meeting of the visit in the Auditorium, and I believe he made an address of welcome to the French mission.

"And we expect to show that THE TRIBUNE knew all of these facts, but, in spite of them, untruthfully and maliciously thereafter continued to charge that the mayor refused to invite the French mission to Chicago, and that he was discourteous to them, and that if THE TRIBUNE did not actually know those facts they could very easily have ascertained them with their organization for gathering news.

ON THE PEACE MEETING

"One of the further charges that THE TRIBUNE made against the mayor, both in the libelous article and in its plea of justification filed in this suit, is that he permitted a meeting of the People's council for democracy and terms of peace to be held in Chicago on the 2d day of September, 1917.

"We expect to show that the meeting which was held was a meeting of peaceable, law abiding citizens, and that there was not the slightest ground for the belief that the meeting would be anything but a peaceable and law abiding meeting.

"We will show that so far as the people composing the People's council is concerned, that the mayor, so far as he knows, was acquainted with none of them, knew comparatively little about them, and was only interested in performing the duties as he understood them, of his office as mayor.

"We expect to show that when that meeting was held—now, I want to state here clearly, so that you will understand about this meeting,—on Saturday, the first day of September, I believe it was, these people attempted to hold a meeting on the west side.

Police Told to Act.

"It will appear, I believe, that through a long distance call, or in some other way, an order was given to the chief of police of Chicago by the governor of the State of Illinois to stop that meeting, and that the police went out there and directed these people that they should not hold the meeting, and that the people dispersed and did not hold the meeting. These people then on Sunday did assemble. And it appears that they held a meeting on Sunday, the second of September.

"The charge is, that those people were pro-Germans, propagandists, trying to obstruct this war; it will appear that Mayor Thompson knew of no pro-German proclivities, activities or sentiments of the People's council, or any of its members, and, as a matter of fact, no pro-German activities occurred, nor were there any pro-German sentiments expressed by them; that the only thing that Mayor Thompson was interested in was, in the performance of his duties, in carrying out his oath of office, and this is exactly what he did in the matter of the meeting of the People's council, exactly, I say, bear that in mind. If THE TRIBUNE tries to justify the charges relative to the meeting of the People's council, we will show that there was no disorder on the part of that body.

"In spite of the agitation on the part of THE TRIBUNE that it was calculated and intended to produce disorder, there was nothing disorderly done or said at the meeting and no intimation that there would be; that there was nothing treasonable done at the meeting and no intimation that anything treasonable would be done at the meeting; that the meeting was a quiet, orderly meeting of quiet, respectable, lawabiding citizens, men and women seeking to do what they most intensely believed was for the best interests of the United States.

Tells of Sending Troops.

"It will appear in this case that when Gov. Lowden sent troops to Chicago he did so without the slightest legitimate cause—I say, 'legitimate cause'—and if Mayor Thompson had followed the hysterical and illegal action of the governor he would have violated his oath of office to uphold the constitution of the United States and of the state of Illinois.

"And we shall go farther and show that not only did Mayor Thompson coöperate fully with the federal government in handling this meeting but the police were instructed to, and did, in fact, coöperate at all times with the department of justice and those who represented the federal government—were so instructed by Mayor Thompson.

Names Meeting's Speakers.

"It will further appear that it had been announced that John D. Works—and the mayor knew this—that John D. Works, a former United States senator from the state of California; William E. Mason, a former United States senator from Illinois, and at the time congressman at large from tht state of Illinois; a gentleman by the name of Job Hodges, I think it was, from Los Angeles—mayor of Los Angeles; and Rabbi Magnus, the rabbi, Jewish rabbi of the largest synagogue in New York City, were announced to be the speakers at this meeting, and, as a matter of fact, were the speakers at this meeting.

"We shall show that the mayor's chief aim in all this was to protect and defend those constitutional guarantees which, in time of war and stress are always placed in jeopardy—guarantees which it has taken hundreds of years to acquire.

Says Mayor Aided U. S.

"We expect to show that Mayor Thompson coöperated with the federal government promptly in every manner where requested, and did many things that were not required of him throughout the war; that Chicago, in spite of its cosmopolitan and mixed population was reputed to be the most orderly large city in the United States during the war.

"We expect to show that the police department coöperated in all matters, including various "slacker" drives.

"The chief of police, acting with the full knowledge of the mayor, and under his orders, conferred constantly, and, in fact, practically daily with the principal representatives of the department of justice of the United States.

Denies Opposition to Draft.

"We will show that Mayor Thompson was not opposed to the draft act, but that he was opposed to drafting men simply for service in foreign service, and that he never, at any time after the passage of the draft act, did or said anything that could be construed in any manner as obstructing the operation of the draft act.

"We expect to show with reference to a number of other matters contained in the plea of justification, that when THE TRIBUNE published words of the mayor, words that he spoke, they endeavored at all times to color them by lifting them from the rest of his remarks, and, by means of headlines, and in other ways, endeavored to give them a vicious and unpatriotic meaning, when, if left with their surrounding words, there was nothing vicious or unpatriotic about them, and, further, that THE TRIBUNE, while accusing the mayor of this disloyalty, as a matter of fact, by the treatment of his words did the very harm, if any harm was done, that they claim the mayor was doing, while, if they had simply reported the facts and circumstances about the mayor's remarks and actions no harm could possibly have come from them.

Charges Propaganda.

"Our position is that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE deliberately, maliciously, for their political purposes, with the intention of giving the mayor a reputation for disloyalty when an election was coming on, deliberately, maliciously and falsely published these charges against him, and that these charges were part of what might be called a propaganda against the mayor; and, when the time comes to put in the facts to defend against any charges which may be—any attempts that may be made to prove here, we will then put in the evidence which may appear to be necessary, after THE TRIBUNE has put in its evidence."

The complete jury to try the case is as follows:

CHARLES LEHR, 3938 West 22d street, barber.

POTTER K. WALDON, 4348 West Van Buren street, traffic agent, Chicago and Alton railroad.

DOMINIC C. BERNERO, 1520 North Western avenue, wood worker.

CHARLES F. WITTE, 320 North Laramie avenue, stock clerk, Wheeling Corrugating company.

MARTIN McCREERY, 3941 Pierce avenue, head waiter, Illinois Athletic club.

EDMUND A. CUSHING, 2913 Lyman street, employé Chicago Junction railroad.

FRANK DAMROW, 2957 Wisner avenue, electrical engineer.

WILLIAM L. BLOOD, 1912 Lunt avenue, insurance broker.

F. LEROY NELSON, 4433 South Kostner avenue, musician.

CHARLES W. ARMBRUSTER, Barrington, Ill., farmer.

The jury was permitted its freedom between court sessions wtih strict injunctions from the court.

DARK FOR DARCK

MRS. EDNA C. DARCK.

"While she was telling me of her 'affairs' with my husband in various hotels in Kankakee and Chicago, he came in, and right before my eyes began to make love to her," declared Mrs. Edna Chadburne Darck yesterday, testifying before Judge Thomas Lynch in her suit for divorce from Charles Schiller Darck, $15,000 a year sales manager for the Ridpath Publishing company. Judge Lynch indicated that he would grant the divorce.

"I knew that this other woman, named Jean, only told me those things to make me so jealous that I would leave Mr. Darck, but when he came in and did what he did, I decided that I could not keep my self-respect and continue as his wife."

Mrs. Darck asserted she married Darck, who lives at the Sheridan Plaza hotel and has been divorced on three previous occasions, on April 19, 1919.

NEITHER HYLAN NOR HEARST IS TAMMANY PICK

Franklin Roosevelt Choice for Governor.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

ARTICLE II.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Franklin Roosevelt for governor; Al Smith for United States senator.

That's the ticket that appears to find most favor among the big chieftains of Tammany Hall. While William J. Conners is beating the tomtoms for Hearst for governor, while Hearst is booming Hylan and Hylan is booming Hearst, Charles F. Murphy and his lieutenants are biding their time and making plans to leave both Hearst and Hylan out in the cold.

I spent this afternoon at Tammany hall and learned a lot of interesting things about the attitude of this ancient political and modern feudal organization toward questions agitating the Democrats of the Empire state. It was a quiet day at the hall, Boss Murphy being detained at his villa by crop planting and the leaders drifting in only to pass the time of day.

Murphy Denies Favoring Hearst.

Murphy departed for a period of rustication after denying the assertions of Hearst boomers that he had boarded the Hearst band wagon for governor and President. He said he had not talked with Hearst or any Hearst representative or with any other candidates or their representatives.

"It's too early to talk of candidates," observed the pragmatic Murphy. "The convention which will nominate the ticket does not meet until September."

One of Mr. Murphy's chief lieutenants exhibited great indignation at the disturbance of the peace of the hall by premature political discussion. He said nobody was talking politics now except Hearst and Conners, who had got the newspapers all worked up over nothing at all.

Neither Hearst nor Hylan will be nominated for governor if Tammany can prevent, but Murphy is too wise to declare war on the publisher.

Conners Told to Go Ahead.

When Conners sounded him out some time ago in behalf of Hearst, the boss is reported to have told him softly to go ahead and see what strength he could develop up state for his candidate, and then call again, it being Mr. Murphy's private opinion, I was informed, that Mr. Conners would not be very successful beyond the Harlem river. Mr. Murphy, who was once portrayed in prison stripes by Mr. Hearst, does not love the publisher, but he is not going out of his way to offend him, and he gives every indication of enjoying his present position of being courted by Mr. Hearst.

There are other Tammany chiefs who are not so politic, notably Tom Foley, for twenty years leader of the First assembly district, who fumes at the mention of Hearst, asserting he will resign from the Hall if Hearst is nominated for any office. Foley supported Hearst for mayor in 1905 and for governor in 1906, but he broke with him forever in 1908. In that year Foley defeated Hearst's candidate, Ihmsen, for sheriff, but he never forgave the abuse of Hearst's papers.

Smith Leads in Popularity.

Then there is former Gov. Al Smith, undoubtedly the most popular Democrat in New York, who almost beat Gov. Miller in 1920, despite the Harding landslide, and Hearst's opposition. Notwithstanding the vilification of Smith by the Hearst organs, the Hearst managers this year have been trying to wheedle the popular Al into running for senator and thereby helping to pull Hearst through for governor. Whereupon Smith blew up and proclaimed that he would not run for any office on the same ticket with Hearst.

Al Smith is the man Tammany would like to nominate for governor. He is the only Democrat the Hall thinks could defeat Miller. But the governorship is the last place Smith wants to run for this year. He is receiving a "princely salary," in the words of one of the Tammany chiefs, as an officer of the United States Trucking corporation, "making big money for the first time in his life." To be governor again he would have to relinquish this profitable business, for the governorship takes all a man's time.

He could be United States senator, however, I was informed, without giving up his business.

Upstater for Governor.

The candidate for governor should come from upstate. Now, there is Martin Glynn; excellent governor he made, says Tammany, but he won't do because he is a Catholic like Smith. Two Catholics on the ticket would never do. It must be a Protestant from upstate for governor.

Mayor Lunn of Schenectady, and Peter G. Ten Eyck of Albany, are mentioned as possibilities, but the man who finds most favor at the hall is Franklin Roosevelt, who resigned as assistant secretary of the navy to run for vice president with Cox.

"A good man with a great name," said my Tammany authority. "We couldn't do better."

Numerous Democratic leaders and organs, like the World, are greatly wrought up over visions of Murphy forcing the nomination of Hearst by those methods which gave the publisher the nomination in 1906 when Tom Grady "did the dirtiest day's work of my life," by throwing out anti-Hearst delegates.

"Wrong dope," says a Tammany leader. "It won't be anti-Hearst delegates thrown out this time."

COOPER ASSAILS GOMPERS' LABOR STAND ON BEER

Milwaukee, Wis., May 24.—Resurrection of the legalized liquor traffic is the real purpose back of the agitation for light wines and beer, Congressman John G. Cooper of Ohio told the Wisconsin law enforcement convention here tonight.

Mr. Cooper, a member of the American Federation of Labor, criticized a statement he attributed to Samuel Gompers, that the organization was in favor of light wines and beer.

"It is far from the fact when any one states that organized labor as a whole favors the return of wine and beer," he asserted. "I do not challenge the right of Mr. Gompers to express his own views in favor of the repeal of the prohibition law, but I do challenge the right of any one to speak for the thousands of law-abiding working men and women who joined hands with others to banish this un-American institution from this fair land of ours and say that these men and women are advocating the return of the liquor traffic, which is prohibited under the constitution.

"Organized labor," he said, "has enough to do to take care of itself without undertaking to do the work of the distillers and the brewers, who are hoping to profit by the agitation they are starting."

Paul A. Westburg was yesterday unanimously elected president of the Rotary club of Chicago.

COUNCIL DENIES U. S. AID AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS

Prohibition Is Termed a Tragic Joke.

While Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, in a speech in Milwaukee yesterday was lauding prohibition as a "complete success," the Chicago city council flatly refused all coöperation in enforcing the Volstead act, and two of its members, in sizzling speeches, declared that "prohibition is a tragic joke."

The Chicago aldermen, with only four negative votes, passed a resolution by Ald. Anton J. Cermak, leader of the council demi-wets, condemning the establishment of a branch of the Municipal court in the Transportation building to aid the government in disposing of its liquor cases.

Flat Failure.

"I voted for prohibition and I'm here today to tell you that it has been a flat failure," Ald. Govier shouted. "Bootlegging joints, selling poison abound in the Ninth ward. Prohibition is a tragic joke in Chicago. It's time to call a halt."

Ald. Cermak declared that "the tide of sentiment against the Volstead act" is steadily rising and that after the next congressional elections a modification of the law may be expected. "Prohibition doesn't prohibit, it poisons," he declared.

"Among Us, Taking Notes."

He looked up to see the Rev. John Henry Williamson, who to date has not told the public how he earns the $10,000 a year which Mayor Thompson pays him to enforce the laws, taking notes rapidly in a seat behind Mayor Thompson on the council rostrum.

"Let the enforcer take notes," Cermak said. "Let him preach against me next Sunday. I'll be here to answer him. All I want is a chance to give the people of Chicago an opportunity to vote on the success of prohibition."

The notebook politician kept busy scratching off his notes.

DRY AND OTHERWISE

F. SCOTT McBRIDE.

Commissioner Haynes at Milwaukee declared that prohibition was "successful beyond expectations," and that the "gilded saloon" is a thing of the past. While he was talking, two squads of dry agents were out raiding saloons here, ten other squads were "buying drinks" for "evidence," and J. H. Barnhart, legal adviser to Charles A. Gregory, local prohibition director, was said to be preparing seventy-five injunctions to be demanded against saloons.

At the Illinois Anti-Saloon league trustees meeting yesterday Bishop Thomas Nicholson, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America, declared "bootleggers are practically paying the expense of law enforcement in fines."

Thirty Wet Societies Unite.

F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Illinois league, warned that thirty wet organizations are fighting prohibition, the chief of them the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

"They have headquarters in Washington, D. C.," he said, and claim that they have 1,000,000 voting affiliated members. Their program," he warned, "is as follows: [1] To get the Volstead act repealed; [2] to permit every state to pass its own enforcement act, and [3] then to remove the prohibition amendment from the constitution."

Hub Stommel Arrested.

Hub H. Stommel, who for forty years operated a saloon across from the city hall, was arrested yesterday on a charge of transporting liquor. Stommel was said to have been carrying gallon jugs of liquor from the Kenilworth pharmacy, Kenilworth avenue and Madison street, Oak Park.

The saloon of Jacob Frank, 501 North Clark street, was raided and some beer and whisky seized.

POPE PIUS SAYS SOCIETY HAS EXILED JESUS

ROME, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—Improvised into a huge outdoor audience room, the court of Belvidere at the Vatican today was the scene of solemn adoration by the Eucharistic congress to Pope Pius. Pilgrims from every quarter of the globe gathered to pay homage to the pope and adore the Eucharist. The address of homage was delivered by Cardinal Vannutelli.

Pope Pius arrived from the papal apartments in the papal carriage, through the Court of St. Damaso. On an immense platform on the west side of the Court of Belvidere, sat cardinals, prelates and members of the pontiff's court. The throne at the back of the platform, was reached by four red carpeted steps. Red and gold velvet panels hung behind the gold throne. Upon these were two priceless antique tapestries, depicting "The Last Supper."

Pontiff in White.

The pontiff was dressed in a white cassock. Over his shoulders hung a red robe and a white girdle encircled his waist. Prelates wore purple. The presence of the Swiss guards, and intermingling Palatine Noble guards and giant papal gendarmes, in white and blue, gave the scene great splendor.

Cardinal Vannutelli occupied a chair apart from the others at the pope's feet. In his address he expressed the confidence and faith of the church in the holy father. During an ovation to the pontiff there were loud cries of "long live the pope" from the 10,000 pilgrims, among whom were 300 Americans.

Peace Through Sacred Heart.

Pope Pius, dealing with peace in his address, said:

"The kindness and compassion from the Eucharistic heart of Jesus alone will bring pacification, the first condition indispensable in social reconstruction. This pacification must commence with the return in society of Jesus Christ, who is the only real essence in reconstruction. It is the pride and haughtiness of humanity that has banished, relegated, and exiled Jesus from society. Thus it is that Christ is deserted; thus that peace deserts humanity. The sacrament of the Eucharist and the solemn recognition and solemn adoration of this, the most divine of divine things, is the remedy."

There's nothing like it!

A long time ago, maybe, a salesman wedged your foot into a shoe a couple of sizes too small; and every salesman after that looked into the old shoe and sold you another pair the same size.

Then one day you happened into a place where, instead of a salesman, you were greeted by a "fitter" who quickly and accurately calculated the proper size, analyzed your needs from every angle, and had you slip your foot into a size and shape that seemed to have been built just for your foot—and soon after, you lost that tired feeling and all your corns; and your shoes held their shape and stayed good-looking for a long time.

If you haven't had this experience, it's yours for the asking.

To Make Your Garden Grow

Begin in earnest bedding of plants in the permanent border and flower plots. Decoration Day is the great bedding day in this locality. Put in Coleus, Canna, Geranium and tuberous-rooted Begonia.

Spray Roses with arsenate of lead for rose moth, or, if mildew shows up, dust with sulphur or spray with sulphide of potassium. Use liquid manure to enrich the soil around rose bushes. Bone meal applied as a mulch in top dressing is excellent.

Prune early flowering shrubs immediately after they have finished flowering.

In the vegetable garden set out Pepper, Egg Plant, Brussels Sprouts and Tomato.

Get your tomato stakes and trellis ready. Tie up plants with heavy, soft hemp twine or, better, raffia, to avoid bruising stems.

As seedlings come up in the vegetable garden keep ahead of weeds by light cultivation between rows. Hill up beans and peas as they get above the ground.

As soon as plants are well up thin out the weaklings. The work is best done when the soil is slightly moist. Keep away from beans if the leaves are wet.

$575,000 EXPERT FACES CHARGE OF COURT CONTEMPT

Subpœna Is Ignored, So He's Ordered In.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

JUDGE GEORGE F. RUSH.

Arthur S. Merigold, one of the city's real estate experts, who collected more than $575,000 in a little more than a year, was ordered yesterday by Judge George Fred Rush to appear personally tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court. Mr. Merigold was subpoenaed to appear last Tuesday. He failed to show up.

He was wanted in the suit of Ald. Schwartz, Woodhull and Guernsey against certain city officials to prevent expenditures of provisional appropriations. The lawyers for the aldermen, Louis E. Hart and Lawrence A. Cohen, attempted to serve subpoenas upon all five of the experts, but Hart told the court that the other four had business out of town as soon as Merigold had been served.

Must Produce Records.

It was a subpoena doces tecum which was served and it ordered Merigold to produce in court "all account books, check books, canceled cheques, receipts and other books and records showing services performed by you for the city of Chicago or for the board of local improvements during the years of 1920 and 1921.".

It also asked the expert to produce his records "showing payments, if any, made by you out of the moneys received by you as compensation for services rendered" in the improvement of Ashland and Western avenues, Robey, and South Water streets. In addition Merigold was ordered to produce "all maps, plans, plats, blueprints and other documents or records in your possession, showing the nature, character and extent of the work performed by you during the years 1920 and 1921 with reference to said improvements above listed."

Friendly John Pinch Hits.

In place of Merigold, his lawyer, John C. Farwell, showed up in court, but he said that he did not represent Merigold, only appearing as the friend of the court.

The friend of the court first contended that the subpoena was not properly served, but Attorneys Hart and Cohen convinced the judge that "the clerk of the court duly issued the subpoena and that it was duly served upon said Arthur S. Merigold." Then the friend of the court contended that the subjoena was defective. And later the friend of the court insisted that Hart and Cohen must show that the Merigold records are of real utility in the pending suit.

"But the subpoena was double barreled," argued Attorney Hart. "Mr. Merigold was subpoenaed to appear personally as well as to produce his records."

Hart and Cohen asked that an attachment be issued for Merigold, but Judge Rush decided that he would enter a rule upon Merigold to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

John McInerney, attorney for Frank H. Mesce, a building expert, and Matthias Concannon, attorney for Austin J. Lynch, another expert, watched the proceedings from inside the railing.

White Australia Policy Called Prosperity's Road

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BRISBANE, May 24.—Premier Hughes, in an address today, said the prosperity of Queensland depended on the White Australia policy. America became rich quickly through colored labor, he explained, and Australia could do the same, but by polluting the national life stream "we would make our glory a contemptuous thing that the peoples of the earth would spit on."

CURTIS LOANS TO CUDAHY CO. TOLD IN SMALL TRIAL

$3,000,000 in Notes Goes Into the Record.

BY PARKE BROWN.

JUDGE C. C. EDWARDS.

Waukegan, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—The day's proceedings in the trial of Gov. Len Small again consisted entirely of the identification and introduction into evidence of sheaves of documents in connection with deals between the packers and the Curtis interests. Only three new witnesses and two who had been partly examined yesterday were called to the stand.

The "newest" testimony was that showing that the late State Senator E. C. Curtis had invested about $3,000,000 in the notes of the Cudahy Packing company. The prosecution contends this was state money placed in his hands under a pretense that it was deposited in the "Grant Park bank." All told, this money went into loans and renewals amounting to $5,000,000. Earlier testimony had shown that Senator Curtis had bought more than $52,000,000 worth of similar notes issued by Armour & Co. and Swift & Co.

Tells of First Deal.

According to the testimony Curtis bought his first Cudahy note from F. S. Moseley & Co., Chicago brokers, and when it was about to expire took it to the Cudahy offices with a suggestion that it be renewed "directly," and that thereafter he did business with the company on that basis, without the expense of middlemen. Witnesses who testified concerning this transaction and later ones were John Edward Wagner, treasurer, and Frank I. Clark, assistant treasurer of the Cudahy company, and J. M. Banahan, office manager for Moseley & Co.

At the request of the defense, Mrs. Clara D. Wilbur, former draft teller for the Fort Dearborn National bank, was recalled and cross-examined about the purchase last August of a $74,000 cashier's check in exchange for three certificates of deposit of the Rockford National bank of Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling's home town. The importance of this matter was not disclosed.

The witness on the stand at adjournment time was H. A. Rice, former assistant auditor of the Fort Dearborn National bank, who was examined several hours yesterday.

Questioned by James H. Wilkerson, assistant attorney general, he traced deposits, made by Senator Curtis which were credited directly to the account of Treasurer Small without mention of the "Grant Park bank." The defense protested vigorously and at length against this testimony.

Jurors Enter Protest.

The jury, which has been confined as a unit for the last two weeks, furnished the only enlivening incident of the day. The jurors protested to Judge Claire C. Edwards on not being allowed to be out after 9 o'clock at night and declaring they wanted more time away from the courthouse. They said the two bailiffs, John Whalen and George Edwards, are so advanced in years that long walks tire them and they do not like to stay away from their sleeping quarters after 9 p. m.

Judge Edwards began efforts to arrange with counsel for the selection by agreement for a third bailiff who will serve as "relief" for the other two.

GIRL IN CONVENT SHOT BY WOMAN FATHER JILTED

Pueblo, Colo., May 24.—[Special.]—Determining to hurt the man she loved by inflicting mortal injury on the daughter he idolized, Josefina Liberto, 21, today went to the Loretto academy, a convent where Consuelo Baca, 19, was a student, and shot the younger woman through the head.

She then tried to kill herself, but the pistol failed to operate, and she was taken into custody.

According to her statement to the police, Miss Liberto went to Dr. J. F. Baca six months ago for medical treatment. She says the physician, who is wealthy, told her his home life was unhappy, and succeeded in gaining her affection.

Trusting in his announced plan to divorce Mrs. Baca and marry her, Miss Liberto says their romance continued until a few days ago, when the physician went to Raton, N. M.

Today Mrs. Baca called on her and showed her letters that the doctor had written from Raton in which he called the young woman a "poisonous snake."

When Mrs. Baca, who had been ill, had left, Miss Liberto said she went to a store, purchased a small caliber pistol, called a taxicab and drove to the Loretto academy.

Questioned by the mother superior, she intimated that she had a message for the girl concerning her mother's health. She was permitted to go upstairs to Miss Baca's room.

In a few moments the convent authorities heard a shot and rushing in found Miss Liberto holding a revolver in hand and Miss Baca stretched on the floor, a bullet wound in her face.

When the police arrived, Miss Liberto asked them to send the following message to Dr. Baca at Raton:

"I have hurt you as you have hurt me. (Signed) Josie."

FLYERS HOP OFF IN ATTEMPT TO CIRCLE WORLD

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—Slipping a message expressing the best wishes from King George in his boot—his pockets already were overcrowded with documents, letters and papers—Maj. Wilbur Blake vaulted into his seat behind his pilot, shouted "contact," the propeller whirled and the globe encircling air flight was under way. The start was made at 3:05 this afternoon.

A big crowd assembled at the Croydon aerodrome to see the start of the 30,000 mile air flight which is expected to last 120 days—Maj. Blake hopes to arrive back in London on Sept. 14.

Owing to the delay in starting, the flyers only reached Paris instead of Lyons, as originally scheduled by Capt. Normal MacMillen, the pilot.

Mrs. Blake stood pale and anxious, clutching her two little children by the hands as the flight started, but her worriment changed to a smile as cheers greeted the big biplane as it circled over the field for altitude before darting to the east.

A DH-9 machine, capable of 115 miles an hour, will be used for the first leg of the journey, as far as India, where a spare machine will be waiting.

"If I am behind my schedule in reaching the Atlantic coast of America I will cross the ocean via the Azores and Portugal," said Maj. Blake. "Otherwise I will cross via Labrador, Greenland and Iceland. I should arrive at Chicago during the end of August or the first days of September."

Lieut. Col. L. E. Broome, the third member of the party, said if time permitted the flyers will attempt to explore Iceland and Greenland.

MARRYIN' PARSON IS VINDICATED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Des Moines, Ia., May 24.—[Special.]—The Rev. John McElmoyle, D. D., of Elkton, Mo., known as the "marrying parson" because he married 1,400 couples in one year, and the Rev. J. E. Stuart of Colorado, charged with selling mining stock on which he promised large returns that did not materialize, caused a lively discussion in the Presbyterian general assembly today.

The case of Dr. McElmoyle was the subject of a long debate at both the morning and the afternoon sessions, while the decision in the case of the Rev. Mr. Stuart was announced by the Rev. William Chalmers Covert of Chicago, chairman of the committee on judiciary, as having been settled in the minister's favor. The judicial committee decided that Dr. McElmoyle has done nothing to injure his ministerial standing.

An appeal from the First Presbyterian Italian church of Detroit against the decision of the Detroit Presbytery in dissolving the pastoral relation between the pastor and the church was denied.

The assembly refused to set apart the Sunday nearest Armistice day as "Fathers and Sons'" day. It was urged that there were already too many special days in the church.

Scores of Royal Guards Wounded in Rome Battle

ROME, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—Scores of royal guards and Fascisti were wounded tonight in a street battle in the crowded San Lorenzo quarter of the city.

CONSTIPATION CAN BE BLAMED FOR DIABETES AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE!

And, constipation is responsible for most cases of rheumatism, hardening of the arteries, brain fag, sluggishness, headaches and many other organic disturbances! Constipation hastens old age; in fact, authorities tell you THAT 90% OF ALL HUMAN ILLNESS IS DIRECTLY TRACEABLE TO CONSTIPATION!

With knowledge like that can you stand by and see yourself slipping physically; see your loved ones fall, as the prey of a preventable condition? Do not minimize the dangers of constipation because you are only "slightly" troubled.

Inactivity of the eliminative passage creates toxic conditions which penetrate the intestinal walls, poisoning the blood and affecting the organs.

BRAN—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled—is nature's own positive and permanent relief from constipation. It is the most wonderful corrective food known. Bran is not a "remedy," but a "roughage" that through its mineral salts and ability to absorb water—giving bulk and moisture—assists in perfect elimination. We guarantee that if Kellogg's Bran is eaten regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases with every meal—that the sufferer will be relieved permanently! Bran is wonderful for children, for the aged, for every one!

Kellogg's Bran is delicious, its nutlike flavor greatly adding to the enjoyment of eating cereals over which it has been sprinkled. Kellogg's Bran makes the tastiest of bakery batches, such as gems, raisin bread, muffins, macaroons, etc. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran.

DEMORALIZING THE SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The Woman's City club, through Mrs. Louise De Koven Bowen, president, has protested to President Davis of the board of education against the inveiglement of school children to Riverview park by Mayor Thompson. The women have investigated the conditions at the park and say they are unfit for children.

Two of the most unpleasant charges are:

"That there are twenty-six games of chance—in reality, gambling devices—which are constantly attracting children, in operation."

"That among the penny arcades there are at least a dozen or fifteen not fit to be seen by children and there are two such arcades which are positively filthy and indecent."

Thompson's kindergarten of politics, which reaches into the cradle and the schoolroom, has used the school system to invite the children of the city to this place. Signs and advertisements in newspapers call the attention of the children to the outings, for which they can get free tickets. They are instructed to ask their teachers and school principals about it, to find out what days are set aside for them, and to get their tickets.

The demoralization of the children begins in the school, which exists as a character builder and is thus made to operate as the agent of a moral injury. The protesting women find that some of the parents think it is obligatory for them to send their children out to the park. The use of the school teachers and principals has made it appear as if it were a part of the school routine.

As late as 10 o'clock Monday night parents in the Hull house neighborhood were hunting for their children. They had been sent on that day's outing and had not returned home at that hour.

Thompson generally outreaches any other mayor the city ever had. Others have kept their hands off the childhood of the city, and even he, if he were going to conscript the children, might have selected a park beyond reproach, instead of one where permitted games of chance are operated in violation of law and where filthy pictures can be seen by any child who has a penny.

In the vicious circle the park is allowed to offer amusements which the law is supposed to prohibit, it supplies the mayor with free tickets which he distributes to the school children, with the aid of the school teachers, and the children are raised to like such amusements and to like a government which permits them.

Most of our politicians, however lax, have believed that even if politics could overrun the school board it ought to keep away from the school children. Thompson's exploitation of them is shameful politics, and the demoralization to which that exploitation may expose them is worse.

The city tries to provide healthy recreation and amusement for the children. It is now giving a week to the stimulation of fine qualities of boyhood. Thompson's contribution to the child welfare plan is a political scheme enticing them to a park where games of chance and indecent pictures are permitted.

The mothers of the city will resent this, and they can, by their protests, stop it. Even the board of education may be forced by such a protest to stop the use of the schools which now encourage the outrage.

DISCOUNTING UNFRIENDLY CRITICISM OF U. S.

A Paris dispatch concerning the opening of the chamber of deputies quotes Andre Tardieu, former high commissioner to the United States, as blaming America for the present economic troubles of Europe. Most American readers will consider that a very unjust and unfriendly statement, and, since it comes from a Frenchman of some prominence, will interpret it as an attack upon the United States by the French government. It will be analyzed and criticized in this country as reflecting the French national attitude and as jeopardizing the friendship existing between the two nations.

Such a reaction to Tardieu's indictment of the United States would be distinctly unfair. It is both dangerous and interesting, because it grows out of lack of understanding of the internal political situation of France, and that lack of understanding to a greater or lesser extent applies to the American conception of all foreign problems. The fact that foreign countries suffer from an equal lack of undertanding of American internal politics is no less important.

The fact is that Tardieu does not speak for the French government or the French people. He is a leader of the opposition. His political expressions in the chamber of deputies are in the nature of attacks upon the internal policies of the French government, not upon the United States. His reference to this country is merely for French domestic political purposes.

A similar situation is likely to develop at any time in any foreign country. For instance, if a member of the minority party in Japan should make a speech denouncing militarism, he could not safely be interpreted as reflecting the sentiment of Japan or the Japanese government. If a Bavarian monarchist should denounce the German republic, he could not be interpreted as indicating that the kaiser is to be restored immediately to the throne.

Americans cannot safely make such interpretations of foreign expression any more than foreigners would be justified in assuming that Senator La Follette or Senator France or Senator Borah express the sentiment of America when they speak on recognition of soviet Russia or the limitation of armaments. Prominent men in many foreign governments are as much in the habit of disagreeing with the party in control as are free thinking Americans. We may consider their views as indicating a trend which may some time gain control, but their expressions of opinions should not be allowed to bring about any direct strain on international relations.

NO COAL SHORTAGE NOW—BUT LATER?

J. G. Bradley, president of the National Coal association, warns the public against profiteering coal brokers who are trying to obtain a profit by creating fears of a coal shortage among consumers and then selling supplies at an advanced price. That is a proper warning, but it doesn't by any means go to the heart of the present troubles.

The very fact that such a warning is thought necessary indicates a panicky trend among consumers. The fact that Secretary Hoover last week took steps to stabilize prices of coal from nonunion mines, and has called 1,500 operators into conference to complete that work, is further evidence that at least an apparent shortage is feared. To be sure, no real shortage exists at present. Nonunion production is saving pre-strike reserves from serious depletion. There is no cause for panic and no legitimate reason for advancing prices. But that condition will not continue indefinitely. Sooner or later, with the union mines virtually all closed, there will be a shortage and very high prices.

It would seem the part of wisdom, therefore, to spend some of the thought and effort now being devoted to keeping prices down on the much more important task of settling the strike on a basis which will not only put prices down but keep them down, and prevent the development of a situation which is now cited as a bogy put forward by profiteers to create demand for their coal at high rates.

It matters comparatively little whether the real crisis comes next month or next December, if it comes without preparedness. The fact that the chief trouble now is imaginary, and that real trouble is not likely to develop before autumn, merely gives us better opportunity to prepare for such trouble and avoid it.

Let Mr. Bradley, Mr. Hoover, and the others interested in saving the public now from being exploited through propaganda put some of their thought and effort upon a settlement of the strike, which will save the public later from being exploited through actual conditions.

PHYSICIANS ARE NOT BOOTLEGGERS.

The house of delegates of the American Medical association, meeting in St. Louis, passed a recommendation to petition congress to lighten the restrictions on the medicinal use of alcohol. They also ask the government to supply bonded whisky at retail in 8, 16, and 32 ounce sealed packages.

If an honest doctor prescribes whisky for a patient it is because he thinks the patient needs it. If so, he is entitled to decide how much the patient needs and not to be told by law that the requirement is not more than a pint every ten days. Physicians differ as to the value of alcohol as medicine. They differ in many particulars of practice. The community licenses them to practice medicine after a determination of their qualifications. The community does tell them how they shall write prescriptions.

If a physician dishonestly writes whisky prescriptions he is in that operation a bootlegger and is an element against the enforcement of prohibition just as any other bootlegger or rum runner is. The direct sale of liquor by government agencies on physician's prescriptions is theoretically good. How it would work we do not know. The government has not kept its prohibition activities free from fraud and dishonesty by a long shot.

What would happen if federal agents had the right to sell liquor under certain conditions, such as proposed, we do not know. It might be plenty. The provincial government of Quebec retails spirits and the people of the province get their hard liquors from the government venders. So far as we know the business has been conducted cleanly but Quebec liquor is not worth ten times its actual value.

Whisky in the United States has an unnatural value which is one of the most generally corrupting influences the country ever knew.

Editorial of the Day

TAX ON EDUCATION.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

Senator Underwood may have stretched the point a little when he argued the other day that in boosting the duty on ink the majority was putting a penalty on education. There are features of the bill, however, that will certainly penalize the public in its effort "to secure knowledge, education and the advantages that grow of educational development."

The duties on books of foreign authorship and on various types of scientific apparatus used almost exclusively by colleges and technical schools constitute a direct tax on education and on educational institutions. As far as the duty on the former is concerned there can be no thought of protecting a domestic industry. An American chemist who wishes to keep in touch with chemical developments in Germany cannot very well confine his reading to publications of American authorship. He must go directly to the foreign producer and in so doing the government proposes that he pay one-fourth more than he would pay were such publications on the free list.

In the case of laboratory and other scientific apparatus the case for free trade in the interest of education is equally clear. Where American producers find it advantageous to engage in the production of this type of material they usually produce it under favorable conditions and at costs that enable them to sell it throughout the world. There is no good reason why foreign producers should not enjoy the same advantage and potential American purchasers the lower prices that placing it on the free list would entail. Protecting it will never develop a significant domestic industry or create much of a home market for any other American commodities. The revenue to be derived from such importations must be negligible.

THE ALTERNATIVE.

After trying unsuccessfully to open the pantry door, one small boy turned to the other and said. "It's no use, Tommy, not one of those keys will fit."

"All right, then," said the other resignedly, "all we can do is wait until mother comes home and ask her for something for being good boys."—Boston Transcript.

THOSE DAYS.

Le Mousquetaire: Do you remember April, March, four years ago; were you by chance off Verdun, at Haudiomont, Somme Dieue, Hurs, Manheulles, or Bonzee, when the traveling circus raided? Afterward that camion caravan skirting Paris, then Belleau; mad days, Triangle Farm, the bloody Angle, Bouresches, Lucy le Bocage, Champillon, the square woods. And then our rest and rumors of parade in Paris that 14th July; and orders came and so we thought of sweet laughing girlish faces, good food, clean linen, rare wines, all that rare façade of life interesting that limns Paris—and on that 17th-18th, after that mad hike, were you in the savage weary tribe that braved the Heinie lead off Tigny and at Verzy, too? And did you follow on to Marbache, St. Mihiel, that rare and futile trek to Suippes and back to Ridge Mont Blanc? Those last days, past Exermont, Landres St. George; the river, that last night—the corps commander wanted another star 'twas said, and we went over—then eleven-eleven. The 17th November and on to the Rhine, and then we squatted down to wait. Then you missed the war, Mousquetaire, but as you say—the forgetfulness of a nation; still it is better so, we only understand.

YOU CAME.

You came to me the other night,
At close of winter's day,
You came and to my frozen heart
Brought Love and warmth and May.

You came, though I had thought no more
A smile should light for me
The road that leads the way of Hope,
Where only Love may be.

For I had journeyed long alone
Adown the Way of Sighs,
Until you came and brought to me
The glory of your eyes.

You came, and to my life you brought
Your handclasp firm and true,
Your golden hair with sunbeams lit,
Your eyes of Heaven's own blue.

But better than your beauty, Dear,
Far better than you know,
Is knowing that your Friendship, Dear,
Is mine for weal or woe.

I would that I could tell you, Dear,
One-half of what it means,
To know that in yourself I've found
The recompense of dreams.

And so, tonight, I sit and dream,
Nor care what pain may be,
For my whole day is Happiness,
Because you came to me.

OH, BEAUTIFUL! QUICK, ANOTHER VERSE!

Dear R. H. L.: I have never been gifted like B. L. T. and yourself and the rest with poetical thoughts and fancies—but the other night, while I was observing the stars and so on, a little thought came to me—out of the everywhere into the here, if you know what I mean, and of course, self praise doesn't go a great ways, but really it seemed rather good to me:

Look how the floor of heaven
Is thick inlaid with patines of bright gold.
There's not the smallest orb which thou beholdst
But in his motion like an angel sings
Still quiring to the young eyed cherubims
Such harmony is in immortal souls,
But while this muddy vesture of decay
Doth grossly close it in, we cannot hear it.

Honest now, isn't it pretty good, and you see it sorto brings in radio and a moral and everything, only of course there isn't any rhyme, but nowadays that doesn't matter much. I'm trying to think of another verse, but if you think it is good enough for your column, won't you please print this one? I should so love to see it in print.

OH! MY GAWD!

R. H. L.: Honest, we didn't know whether to kiss it or kill it. It came into a loop restaurant to get its lunch. Its hair parted in the middle and plastered back—à la Rodolf Valentino. It wore a dark blue suit, double breasted light tan vest, and spats of the same color. Bell-bottom trousers, pink shirt, collar half inch high, and an invisible knot in the tie. Finger nails highly polished, and Oh! Gurls!! it ordered tea and a chocolate éclair for lunch.

You kissed me—and we laughed at love,

FOR BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

No subject is more frequently inquired about in the mail bag of this office than the one which is the subject of this paper.

Bright's disease is not a killing disease in the sense that some diseases are. It is a disease which one can live with, or in spite of, whichever way you want to put it, for a long time, provided one learns the art and, having learned it, practices it.

All these facts are understood by a great many people. Many of them have the idea that the art of living with Bright's disease is a matter of regulating the diet. That understanding is about 50 per cent fact and 50 per cent fiction.

Here is a page from the book of facts:

In any case of Bright's disease accompanied by dropsy the diet should be salt free. In dropsy an excess of water is held in the tissues. Salt in the tissues holds it there. If the diet contains a minimum amount of salt it will be easier to get the surplus water out of the tissues.

But a salt free diet cannot be long continued, for more reasons than one. Therefore, after a period of salt free diet the menu should be changed to one low in salt.

In acute Bright's disease it is proper to set a period of low diet—almost starvation diet—say one limited to fruit juices and water.

One is: Put four ounces of raisins in a pint of water. Stew for twenty minutes; add enough water to make one pint.

Or sugar water: Kellogg's formula is to dissolve two ounces of malt sugar in a pint of water.

The water used with fruit juice should be plain water or, at most, a carbonated water low in mineral matter.

After a few days of this it is allowable to pass to a diet of milk and water.

Although sugar and water, fruit juice and water, and even milk and water are easily digested and furnish a fair allowance of calories, they are not complete foods, and a diet of this kind cannot be continued for more than a few weeks.

Presently the patient becomes pale as well as weak.

At this stage foods containing iron are needed. Among the best of these are spinach, all other forms of greens, whole wheat bread, cereals. There must be plenty of vegetables and fruit and a fair allowance of milk, a fair allowance of fats, and especially cream and butter are advisable.

And, finally, the patient with chronic Bright's disease, slowly progressing and without much tendency to dropsy or disturbance of vision, is very much disposed to go too far in his dieting. As a rule he is pale because his food does not contain enough iron. If he watches his diet closely he probably eats less meat than he needs. He can eat a small daily allowance of meat provided he obeys certain laws.

He should avoid constipation.

He should not eat meat extracts, bouillon, meat soups, very highly seasoned meats, high cheeses, sweetbreads, kidney or liver, or condiments of any kind.

It is doubtful if he should drink coffee or tea in any quantity. He has no business eating cranberries or pie plant or sorrel.

The best meat is boiled meat and soup stock meat.

Above all, he should avoid heavy meals—gourmandizing.

Says Kellogg: "Many a Christmas dinner or Thanksgiving feast has been the introduction to a tragedy."

DANGERS IN IODINE.

R. E. R. writes: "Would you advise the use of iodine internally as a disinfectant? If so, in what doses in milk and water?

"How would you advise use of urotropin for same purpose—in capsules or in liquid form, and what doses?"

REPLY:

I do not think you will get anywhere taking either iodine or urotropin internally as a general disinfectant.

The rule is that disinfectants are more poisonous to people than they are to bacteria.

If taken internally, in doses sufficient to kill bacteria within a man, they will first kill a man.

There is a limited field for the use of iodine and urotropin internally, but it is not good judgment to use them unless a physician directs.

CLAM JUICE BENEFITS.

Miss S. D. writes: "Please tell me what Little Neck clam juice from east coast clams is good for, if beneficial? If so, should the juice be hot or cold?"

REPLY:

It is used as a filler, a flavored water, an appetizer, as is the case with other strained soups.

It contains some mineral salts and a little food values of other kinds.

OBEY LAW ON MEASLES.

M. S. writes: "Must a child recovering from measles stay indoors from the day the rash appears until it leaves?"

REPLY:

Yes. Most laws as to measles specify that the patient must stay in for a certain number of days after the appearance of the eruption.

This is long enough to carry beyond the disappearance of the eruption. Obey the law.

BEACH BATHS BETTER.

Henry writes: "Which are better, the baths at the beach during July and August or Turkish bath?"

REPLY:

Baths at the beach during July and August. Turkish baths meet a different need.

SEE THE OWNER.

Chicago, May 19.—[Friend of the People.]—I wish to call your attention to the alley and vacant lot in the 6900 block of Cornell avenue. All kinds of rubbish and refuse is dumped here despite the many warnings of the health department. Also the garbage and ash wagons neglect this vicinity. Just today the ash wagon went by and scooped up a shovel full of cans and left about a wagon load lying there. There are heaps of paper around the lot, too.

J. L. W.

The alley complained of was cleaned a week ago. The paper mentioned is considerable distance from the alley on vacant property. Complainant's garbage can was empty and the vicinity was clean. The vacant lot must be cleaned up by the owner.

LONG TERMED BEQUEST.

Chicago, May 22.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Under the terms of the will under which I am a beneficiary I can receive only enough money from the estate for my "education and support" until I am 30 years of age, when the inheritance reverts to me. The trustee is a Pittsburgh, Pa., trust company. They cannot advance money to me to establish a home, but suggest an order from Orphans' court to secure such money as I deem necessary.

Is it necessary that I retain an attorney to apply to the Orphans' court, or what procedure should I go through to get the order?

J. C.

We advise you to employ an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LEASE RENEWED.

Chicago, May 20.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I am a tenant of a flat whose lease expired May, 1922. The landlord collected the rent for the month of May at the old rate of rental and gave me receipt for same. 1. Does this receipt automatically renew my lease for the ensuing year?

Up until a week ago I had received no notice to vacate or of increase in rent. 2. Can the landlord increase my rent after having collected rent for the first month in the new lease year at last year's rental?

Last week the landlord gave me a verbal notice of increase in rent or sixty days' notice to vacate. 3. Am I liable to suit if I fail to comply with his notice to vacate? 4. Or have I ground enough to contest suit with my May's rent receipt?

G. W. J.

1. Yes, in absence of rebutting circumstances.
2. In general, no.
3. Of course, it is within his power to sue you.
4. Yes.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

GET SOME FOR US, TOO.

Chicago, May 22.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Please tell me who will collect a small amount of money for me. The amount is about $10, and it is too small to hire a lawyer's services for. I understand that there is a bureau which will handle it free for me.

E. C. H.

If your own time is worth substantially less than a lawyer's time it might be worth your while to handle your own case in the Municipal court. Apply to the clerk of that court for assistance in drawing papers.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TOO MUCH MONEY.

Chicago, May 19.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I had telegraphed to me a sum of money from another state and the operator sending the telegram made an error and I received more money than was intended for me. Can I be compelled to return the amount which was overpayment?

M. S.

It seems probable that you can be compelled to pay it back.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MUST HAVE SCREENS.

Chicago, May 24.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—We recently moved into this apartment and paid six months' rent in advance. We asked the owner to please put in screens, as there are none at the windows, and he told us he didn't think he could afford it. Can we compel him to furnish them?

J. A. J.

He should provide them. Report facts to the health department in the city hall.

PROSPERITY BY INCREASING WAGES.

Chicago, May 20.—Several articles written by Secretary Davis have appeared in THE TRIBUNE in which the present wage problem was discussed. Mr. Davis is a capable man and deserves the honor that this nation has given him.

However, there is one point he makes that is at least interesting to analyze. He says that a general increase in wages would promote prosperity for all. "The better wages paid, the stronger is the buying public, not in one industry alone, but in them all." Now let's dig under the surface a moment and see what we can find.

Money in itself is nothing of value, it is merely a convenient method that civilization has developed for exchanging goods and services. It matters little whether one receives at the end of the day five or ten pieces of this paper which we call money. It is when this money is exchanged for food, clothing, and shelter that its value to us is determined.

Mr. Davis says that if wage earners received higher pay it would mean general prosperity for all. To attain higher prosperity for the wage earners it must mean that they will receive not necessarily more money but a greater buying power. Let's say that tomorrow all of our employers told us that our wages had been increased. According to Mr. Davis this would mean prosperity. Now let's see. Is the shoe manufacturer going to pay this increase in wages out of his profits? No. Why not? Because he can't and survive. If there were an unusually large profit in manufacturing shoes more capital would be attracted to it and more factories built, which means competition for the available business and as a result profits to the manufacturer forced down to the minimum. So, as the shoe manufacturer can receive only a fair return for his investment and risk, he cannot pay this increase in wages out of his own pocket but must raise the price of his shoes accordingly. The consumers then really pay this increase in wages. The wage earners received an increase in money but prices increased correspondingly, so they are right where they started.

Let us not fool ourselves and be like the horse that chases the bunch of grass that is suspended in front of him. There is no short cut to prosperity. The path that leads to the higher standard of living is greater efficiency in production. As we increase our usefulness to our fellow men to that extent will our returns increase.

OUR AUTHORITY WAS THE ENCYCLOPEDIA AMERICANA—SEE "FERTILIZER."

Washington, D. C., May 20.—My attention has been called to your editorial of May 18, in which you make the following statement: "The same bill, in the case of potash, for instance, would levy a high duty to protect something which costs ten times as much to produce here as it does abroad."

The reputation of THE TRIBUNE for accuracy is so well known that I realize, of course, that you would not make a statement of this kind knowingly, since it is a very long way from the facts. The American Trona corporation is again operating its plant at Searles Lake, Cal., and is offering potash to American consumers at the present German price, which is actually lower than the pre-war price in 1913. The German syndicate is making an active effort to destroy the American industry, and is able to do this through the operation of the continually falling mark in American exchange. While the Trona corporation cannot sell potash at this rate and make money, its margin of loss is small enough and it sees in the future possibilities of improved processes for reducing costs, provided the tariff bill passes and it can keep its plant in operation, so that the corporation considered it good business to start the plant and accept the present relatively small loss in potash sales.

Nebraska producers are offering potash at the German price, plus the 50 cents a unit which the tariff bill, if passed, would give us. This latter is also true of the United States Industrial Chemical company of Baltimore, which is also a large producer.

WHAT IF EVERY MAN SHOULD BELIEVE HIMSELF SUPERIOR TO THE NATION!

Chicago, May 23.—With all due respect to the author, the latter part of the Decatur quotation at the head of the editorial column of THE TRIBUNE is productive of no good but capable of much harm. If that idea is right for the United States it is right for every other nation and thus a constant breeder of wars and international discord. If a nation is wrong, isn't it better to right the wrong than to go to war in support of it? It may be the only logical position for a nation to take when it's wrongdoing has brought it to the point of national peril, as was the case of Germany, but it should never be advocated under any other circumstances. If the newspapers of Germany were flaunting the same sentiment at the head of their editorial columns, would THE TRIBUNE approve?

"G. O. P. SWEEPS UP DEBRIS AFTER DEMOCRAT ORGY"

Reforms and Savings Told by Senator Watson.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—Efficient and wise management of the nation's affairs, both domestic and international, and substantial results in relieving "the evils of eight years of Democratic misrule" were claimed of the Harding administration in an address here today by Senator Watson, Republican [Ind.], before the Indiana Republican state convention.

Praising the record of the Harding administration, Albert J. Beveridge, candidate for the senate, declared: "We Indiana Republicans, united, with solid ranks, begin our harmonious advance toward a common victory in November."

Chief among the principles on which he will run against Samuel M. Ralston, Democrat, Mr. Beveridge enumerated:

Restoration of American business to full strength and vigor; continuation of reductions in federal expenses; revision of taxation in harmony with economic laws, and legislation for inexpensive and ample transportation and just shipping rates.

Gives Harding's Views.

Senator Watson's address was of especial importance because of the fact he had conferred with President Harding just before leaving the capital, and his address was regarded as an expression of the administration's attitude.

Senator Watson praised the executive, legislative, and diplomatic record of the present administration and flayed the recent Democratic administrations as "debt incurring, deficit creating, bond issuing, surplus scattering, factory closing, industry paralyzing, prosperity destroying, social upheaving, and cataclysm producing."

"We are not responsible for all this waste," he declared. "We did not produce all this wreckage. We did not incur these debts."

Not to Blame for Orgy.

"We have not piled up this mountain of obligations, and those gentlemen who are responsible for all this riotous orgy of extravagance and all this upsetting of industry and unsettling of financial conditions now stand and jeer at us because in fourteen months we have not overcome all the evil they produced in eight years.

"Reduction of taxes and appropriations, reorganization of the shipping board, agricultural relief, the tariff bill, and diplomacy of the present administration were emphasized by the senator."

President Harding's call for the arms conference, he declared, was "the largest step toward international peace with justice the world has known," and the whole world, he said, applauded the results. The four power treaty, the senator said, brought assurances for peace.

QUEEN LIKES US

Queen Marie of Roumania, who may forego her coronation this fall in order to visit the United States. She has said she wants to see our "big hearted president, enterprising men, and practical women."

[Pacific and Atlantic Photo.]

In domestic affairs, Senator Watson said, the Harding administration stood for "full freedom in business and a recognition of the larger right of the individual to control and operate his own business affairs."

Scorn for Wilson.

"The 'new freedom' preached by Woodrow Wilson was a grotesque travesty on the very name," he added, "while the enfranchisement of business under Harding is an accomplished fact.

"Notwithstanding the near approach to collapse of the monetary system of nearly every country in Europe, "we have balanced our budget, we are living within our income, we have issued no bonds and sold no treasury certificates, we have paid off $1,000,000,000 of the public debt, we have reduced taxation by $825,000,000 the first year and $525,000,000 more the second year, we have curtailed governmental expenses $1,600,000,000 and are today financially solvent and commercially sound and on the upgrade toward a normal resumption of American prosperity."

The Fordney emergency tariff law, the senator asserted, had "saved the wool and sheep industry, had been of immense value to the dairy interests, and to the great benefit of the farmer."

No New Taxes from Bonus.

"Soldier bonus legislation is assured before the close of the present session," according to Senator Watson, who declared it would "involve no additional taxation, and finally will be paid by the use of bonds of our debtor nations."

Reduction in railroad rates and wages must come, Senator Watson said, together with financial maintenance of the carriers, but he declared that railroad wages should not and would not return to pre-war levels.

Upon beholding the grand canyon of the Yellowstone, earth's greatest painting in colors, Rudyard Kipling wrote:

"All that I can say is that without warning or preparation I looked into a gulf, 1,700 feet deep, with eagles and fish-hawks circling far below. And the sides of that gulf were one wild welter of color—crimson, emerald, cobalt, ochre, amber, honey splashed with port wine, snow-white, vermilion, lemon and silver-grey in wide washes.

"The sides did not fall sheer, but were graven by time and water and air into monstrous heads of kings, dead chiefs—men and women of the old time".

COAL COST WILL DROP AS FREIGHT RATES GO DOWN

That's Prediction of the National Leader.

Immediate reduction in the price for strike mined coal as the result of the lowering of freight rates by the interstate commerce commission was predicted yesterday by J. G. Bradley, president of the National Coal association, as local wholesalers denied that Chicago coal dealers are profiteering.

They had reference to a statement made Monday by Bradley, in which he asserted there would be sufficient coal to last until Christmas and that coal prices are being jumped by "unscrupulous brokers," who are persuading a panicky public to buy coal at high prices when no real shortage exists.

Statement Called Unfair.

Chicago retailers also issued a statement yesterday declaring that Bradley's statement, insofar as it affected the 12 per cent of the coal consumed by the public, was unfair. L. W. Ferguson, president of the Chicago Coal Merchants' association, said:

"I am speaking for the reliable, well known retailers in Chicago when I say that Mr. Bradley's statement about there being sufficient coal to last until Christmas if the nonunion mines continue to operate is probably true insofar as the 85 per cent of the supply which is used by railroads and big buyers, but wrong as far as the retailer, who uses but 12 per cent of the coal, is concerned.

"I have talked to a half dozen big retailers today and they are of the opinion that the people should put in at least a portion of their coal now at present prices, which are fair considering the present mine prices, and take a chance about the rest of coal needed until the strike is over."

Dealers Lose, He Says.

M. E. Keig, vice president of the Consumers company, said that Mr. Bradley's statement was misleading in that it led the public to believe there is plenty of coal for the retail trade and that retailers who advised the public to buy are talking of a shortage which did not exist.

"The average coal dealer is losing money and lots of it because little coal is being sold. In our company, where we usually sell hundreds of tons daily from certain yards, now the demand calls for only twenty or thirty tons."

In his statement, Charles L. Deering, president of the Chicago Wholesale Coal Shippers' association, declared that Bradley's statement did not apply to this territory and particularly to Chicago. "Prices in Chicago have been uniformly under prices asked at the mines," he said.

Ward Off Panic.

"The wholesalers, and I am speaking only of the reputable and high class wholesalers, are doing everything possible to ward off a buying panic.

'CAMERA EYE' TO TELL STORY OF NEW YORK NEWS

A managing editor who has in three years seen his newspaper grow from nothing to more than half a million circulation daily ought to have a good story to tell. Merton E. Burke, managing editor of New York's picture paper, the Daily News, has come here to tell that story to Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern university this evening at 8 o'clock in Harris hall on the Evanston campus. His lecture—"The Lure of Newspaperdom—Pictures"—will be illustrated with moving pictures and slides. A hundred of them will show how the New York Daily News uses strange cameras, how it illustrates stories with wash drawings when no photos are available, why it makes photo diagrams and maps, and how its photographers and artists work on the firing line of news.

It will be a tale of journalistic adventures, and it is open to the public.

Pearly teeth—combat the film tonight

There is a way to prettier teeth, and millions of people have found it.

It consists in removing the dingy film. You see the results everywhere—on teeth you envy, maybe. And those glistening teeth are often one's premier attraction.

This offers you a ten-day test, to show how whiter, cleaner, safer teeth may also come to you and yours.

Film clouds the teeth

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. It forms the basis of dingy coats.

The tooth brush used in old ways does not end it, so nearly everyone has suffered from that film.

It is the film-coats that discolor, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

Now you may combat it

Dental science has long been seeking a daily film combatant. Now two effective methods have been found. Able authorities have proved them by many careful tests. Leading dentists, nearly all the world over, now advise their daily use.

A new-day tooth paste has been perfected, to comply with five modern requirements. These two film-combating methods are embodied in it. This is the dentifrice called Pepsodent which you are urged to test.

Multiplies two forces

Pepsodent brings two other effects which authorities now desire.

The saliva contains two great tooth-protecting forces. One is a starch digestant, to digest starch deposits on teeth. The other is alkali, to neutralize mouth acids, which attack the teeth.

These forces usually need frequent stimulation. Certain foods will stimulate them, but most people fail to eat these regularly.

Pepsodent, with every use, multiplies those tooth-protecting forces in the mouth. It largely increases the starch digestant and the alkalis. Thus night and morning it gives these natural forces a multiplied effect.

That alone marks tremendous progress toward better tooth protection.

Watch the changes

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube, then watch the delightful results. You will see at once that Pepsodent does what has not before been done.

Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. The mouth, left in alkaline condition, also feels refreshing.

You will want these effects continued when you know how much they mean. Go get the free tube and see. Cut out the coupon now.

NATIONS STUDY POISON GASES IN SPITE OF TREATY

Research Work Pushed by Britain and France.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Nations of the world, no less than seven of them, have sought information from the United States on the manufacture of poison gas since the armament conference here drafted a treaty to outlaw chemical warfare. Information to this effect was verified today at the war department.

Of the seven nations eager for all possible news of developments relating to poison gas, one, Great Britain, is a party to the Washington conference treaty. The other six have not subscribed to the treaty, it is reported, and have no intention of doing so.

Chemical warfare experts of the British army make no secret of the fact that the British government intends to continue full speed ahead its research work in connection with the use of gas in warfare, notwithstanding the treaty, which already has been ratified by the United States senate.

France Pursues Experiments.

France, experts here declare, is pursuing its experiments with gas, and is especially developing the technique of the use of gas in connection with airplanes, in anticipation of attack from Germany.

The latest development which causes surprise here is the marked tendency on the part of the smaller nations of Europe to interest themselves in chemical warfare, in the hope that this science will tend to equalize their military strength.

U. S. Only Ratified Treaty.

Attention is called to the fact that, though some months have elapsed since the arms conference, none of the principal powers participating has yet ratified the treaties, with the exception of the United States, and none of the powers except the United States has ratified the gas treaty. Thus, while the United States has accepted the treaty in good faith, other nations, according to army experts, have taken no official action.

PLAYING HOOKY ON TARIFF STIRS REPUBLICAN IRE

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Republican leaders, aroused over the absenteeism of Republican senators while they are trying to speed up action on the tariff bill and eleven hour sessions of the senate daily, have called a conference of the Republican membership of the senate, set for tomorrow.

At the meeting they will lay down the law to the Republicans who have been dodging roll calls, attending baseball games, and spending the time at ease in their offices, instead of remaining in the senate, or at least within easy hiding distance, while the tariff debate has been under way.

It is expected that drastic resolutions requiring the Republicans to be constantly on the job will be adopted at the meeting. The tariff bill has been before the senate for debate for about five weeks, and scarcely a beginning has been made in its consideration. The big fights are still to come, over hides, wool, dyestuffs, and the American valuation plan.

Today a three cornered contest over duties on graphite developed. Senator Nicholson (Colo.) Republican, led an unsuccessful fight to increase the rates over those in the McCumber bill. Senator Townsend (Mich.), also a Republican, sought to have graphite restored to the free list. Senator Frelinghuysen (N. J.), and other Republicans, supported the moderate duty approved by the finance committee. The senate approved the committee rates after rejecting several amendments, proposing increases.

Senator Heflin (Ala.), Democrat, in whose state graphite is produced, joined with the western Republicans in seeking high duties. Senator Jones (N. M.), another Democrat who usually votes against protective duties, also lined up in favor of the proposed increased rates.

Graphite is produced in Colorado and Montant as well as in the south.

ILLINOIS WOMEN TO RESTORE FINE ARTS STRUCTURE

Springfield, Ill., May 24—[By the Associated Press.]—Restoration of the Columbian Exposition Fine Arts building in Jackson park, Chicago, said by artists to be the third finest building, architecturally in the world, as a memorial to the women's movement, was proposed to the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, this morning by Mrs. Albion Headburg of Chicago.

"It will become the art center of America," Mrs. Headburg said after she had outlined the plan to restore the building as a women's civic center in Chicago, and locate in it an industrial art school and a municipal theater for ex-service men.

"We women will and can save this building for Illinois," she added. "Nothing else, we might possibly do would be so fine a service."

Six thousand club women of the second district have already started restoration of one wing of the building, she said, and within the next week a campaign for public support will be inaugurated. Applause which greeted Mrs. Headburg's address, and a subsequent resolution pledging support of the federation, indicated that the organization will give its approval. The resolution will be voted on tomorrow.

Nominations for the election of officers which will be held tomorrow, produced only one candidate for first vice president, Mrs. E. B. Griffin of Grant Park, who was nominated for reelection. For corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. M. Howells of Hillsboro and Mrs. A. E. Kaltenbrun of Chicago were nominated. Mrs. Henry W. Hardy of Chicago was nominated for treasurer.

Three proposed candidates for office in the federation this afternoon refused to run. Mrs. John G. Mason of Chicago and Mrs. William Hart of Benton, candidates for general federation directors, withdrew their names, leaving no candidates. Mrs. George Plummer of Chicago, indorsed by nearly every club in the state for second vice president, also refused to run.

The federation banquet was held tonight. Mrs. E. T. Johnson of Chicago and Mrs. G. T. Palmer of Springfield delivered addresses.

President Harding Talks to Our Princess Pat and Horace Wade

BY PATRICIA DOUGHERTY.
(Our Princess Pat)

Chicago Evening American Staff Correspondent.
Copyright, 1922, by The Evening American Publishing Company, Reproduction Prohibited.

NEW YORK, May 24.—I know one person I'm going to bring along when I make my threatened visit to the King of England—and I'll bet we're asked down for the week end before we've left the Royal Palace.

PRINCESS PAT.

And it won't be my name that will be responsible.

For now in my tea time talk I can look patronizingly at my vis-a-vis and say casually, "Yes, you see Mr. Harding was showing us the new way he drives off and he turned to me and said: 'You must have a game of golf with me before you leave Washington, Princess.' But of course we were leaving, and, besides, I loathe the game."

But the fact of the matter is, it wasn't I at all who was the important personage in my party when we called on the President, and between you and me and with a view to impressing no one with my friendship with Mr. Harding, it was quite a breathless moment when I said, after a wonderful hour in the Executive Mansion:

"This has been a great event in my life, Mr. President."

(Trying the while to dissuade Laddie Boy from licking ALL the powder off my face.)

HORACE.

Great Day for President

"And it is a great event in mine," he said simply as he pulled that lively pup off my lap and took him on his own.

And I turned my back on a long line of Democratic ancestors and became a violent Republican—for this administration at least.

And I suppose this is as good a point as any other in the story to introduce the reason why a perfectly strange young woman with no noteworthy achievement behind her should be hobnobbing with Mr. President and Laddie Boy in their beautiful offices in Washington.

And the reason is a freckle-faced 13-year-old boy who can't train a pompadour and likes pastry and ice cream both for dessert and thinks heaven means Coney Island with a lot of money in his jeans.

HORACE TALKS TO HARDING.

His name is Horace Wade, and if you get on the subject (which he sincerely hopes you won't), he'll produce from some unexpected place a copy of "In the Shadow of the Great Peril" and present it to you with the author's compliments.

He is the infant prodigy of journalism and I'll confess I was a little jealous of him when he first came on to write for The American—I had come to consider (modestly) that I occupied that place in local journalistic circles.

But you couldn't possibly harbor any harsh thoughts against Horace after you've known him a bit and grown to love his grin and his enthusiasm and his contempt for people who get "all broken up over themselves," as he calls conceited folks.

But to get back to Washington—

"I got your autographed photograph," Horace said to the President, after we had ordered Laddie Boy off the President's chair and Horace was sitting in it, very unconcerned.

I had an anxious moment—I knew secretaries and their ability at forging signatures on photographs to be mailed far-off admirers and I tried desperately to think of something to say that would save my young charge from possible heartbreak if his idol showed signs of having feet of clay or a secretary with a knack.

But not Mr. President.

And it was there my politics began to change.

"Oh, yes," the kindly eyes smiled down at him. "I was wondering about that. 'Fraid you'd moved, maybe, because I didn't hear from you since. So you got it, did you? How did you like it?"

"Oh, it was all right," my young American said, with a tolerant air. "I've seen better pictures of you, though."

And the President chucked him under the chin and laughed.

And Horace went on and asked the questions he had decided upon—and wrote down the answers with his brand new gold pencil his mother had given him to use. Personally, I think Horace would have preferred using one of the dozen stubs he carries in every pocket.

CALL ON JUDGE GARY.

And if you think that Horace made a hit at the White House you should have been with us when we called on Judge Elbert H. Gary in his magnificent offices of the United States Steel Corporation.

He was in conference when we arrived—and they're still telling this—with the president of the United States Steel Corporation and the president of the States Steel Products and when he heard Horace's high pitched voice in the outer office the great steel man came out.

"Come in," he said, taking his "young visitor" by the hand. "These gentlemen can wait."

And wait was exactly what Messrs. Presidents did while Judge Gary talked over the possibilities of a career in the "steel industry"—as Horace called it—and gave his interviewer a formula for success.

"Mrs. Gary is reading your book right now," he said, when the photographer had "shot" a picture. "She stayed awake reading it in bed last night, as a matter of fact. Got interested, you know, and couldn't put it down. You must come out and visit her. She'd like to see her favorite author."

And Horace accepted politely and moved on to the next question which had to do, I believe, with the necessity for higher education as an aid to wealth and prominence.

TALKS TO HYLAN, TOO.

If Horace's style is juvenile I freely confess my stories are baby prattle.

And the same ease with which Horace handles presidents and magnates was in his manner when he discussed the traction system of New York and Chicago.

Here again he scored by making the Cuban ambassador and fifteen aids wait outside and the police band play "The Star-Spangled Banner" twice while he and the mayor talked as man to man about the people's rights.

But perhaps the climax came when he boarded the Aquitania to interview our chief, William Randolph Hearst.

The Duncan sisters, actresses, bound for England, came up and called him a "cunning little boy" and asked him if he liked school, and did he love his teacher. A Chicago society woman cooed over him and said wasn't it grand he could write and everything.

His patience held out rather well until it became noticeable that he was the cynosure of all eyes, as the newspapers have it.

It was twenty minutes before sailing time and still Mr. Hearst had not yet come. In the jam that crowded the top deck I lost him. And after a frantic search in lifeboats and on ladies' laps I found him and I liked him better than I did before.

He had lost his carfare to William Hearst, the 14-year-old son of his chief, and was "shooting" him for his soda money.

Just as I was about to drag him bodily back to the business of the day the sound of scurrying feet came from around the corner of the deck and John, the 11-year-old brother of the winner, stuck his head around from where he was on guard and whispered hoarsely:

"Cheese it, Horace, the boss."

And Mr. Hearst appeared and was duly interviewed by a very dignified business-like young man who wanted to know about the bonus bill and what makes a good newspaper.

And there are a great many other things—to tell—the game we saw—half from Babe Ruth's bench and the last, victorious half, from George Sisler's who is Horace's idol—but they must wait.

Because Horace wants to see New York from the Woolworth tower and I'd be afraid to refuse.

We might run into St. Peter or somebody up there and he'd ask us out to dinner, seeing Horace is such a nice kid.

(Horace Wade is going to write a series on his trip. Read these articles in Evening American daily, starting Monday.)

U. S. SPIRITUAL IN 10 YEARS IS DOYLE'S BELIEF

Spook Departments in Papers Predicted.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle stopped fighting for universal spiritism long enough last night to be feted by Chicago spiritists.

"I am more accustomed to fighting than to being feted," admitted the English investigator of spiritism, speaking last night at a reception given him and Lady Doyle by Chicago spiritists at the West Side Masonic temple, 12 South Oakley boulevard. "I think fighting is more worth while, but I am glad to have an hour or two away from it."

A spiritist speaking the same language with fellow spiritists, Sir Arthur's informal address was in the nature of a family speech directed against the common enemies, "prejudice and ignorance."

Field for Ghost Editors.

Ten years of hard work and then a peak of success was predicted by the speaker, who declared that within ten years' time the American press will be devoting columns to intimate data on spooks, and that departments devoted to the latest news of the occult will take their place with departments on radio, fashion, and music.

The church, too, will have changed its viewpoint with regard to spiritism, he maintained. "The clergy will have to mix the psychic with theology in their sermons if they want to have their pews filled. You can see that even now by the way empty pews are filled when a clergyman announces a sermon on spiritualism," he said.

"By a gradual process of infiltration," he prophesied, "the fighting spiritualists will wear away the layer of prejudice and ignorance which surrounds the brain of the scoffing individual, until finally we spiritists will be victors without realizing that there has been a fight. And we will forget all the people who have kicked us."

Fair Play from Press.

Congratulating Chicago on its activities in spiritism, the English lecturer admitted that he had been afraid to enter America because of the keen sense of humor of the American public.

"But I now have nothing but the greatest appreciation for the fair play of the American press in their treatment of me and my work."

Defeated politicians make good pioneer spiritists, Conan Doyle believes, and cites himself as an example. "Everything I ever did, from my somewhat tumultuous youth, through my days of adventurous travel up to the two times I stood for parliament, was really giving me training for being a spiritualist."

Doyle gives his second lecture tomorrow night at Orchestra hall.

SUCCESSOR TO JUDSON IS STILL ON FUTURE BOOK

U. of C. Official Denies Overtures.

DR. H. P. JUDSON.
[Und. & Und. Photo.]

Unless "unforeseen circumstances" arise, Dr. Harry Pratt Judson will continue as president of the University of Chicago, at least until July 1, 1923, and no successor to him has yet been considered.

This was the definite statement yesterday of Dr. Thomas W. Goodspeed, secretary to the trustees of the university, and it was confirmed by Mrs. Judson. Dr. Judson himself was in New York attending a meeting of the Rockefeller foundation.

Reports spread yesterday that Raymond B. Fosdick, New York lawyer, had been approached concerning his becoming a possible successor to Dr. Judson. His brother, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, professor of practical theology at Union Theological Seminary, also was mentioned as a possibility. The reports stated the choice lay between the brothers.

But Dr. Goodspeed denied this, stating that no one definitely was under consideration as yet. Attorney Fosdick said that no overtures concerning the post had been made to him. Concerning a rumor that the matter would come up at the convocation on June 13, Dr. Goodspeed said:

"That is not true. Dr. Judson's resignation will not come up for consideration until July 1 next year, and it may be that even then he may be asked by the trustees to continue."

Mrs. Judson also denied emphatically that the spring convocation will take up the matter.

CABINET QUITS IN AUSTRIA WHEN CREDITS ARE CUT

VIENNA, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Austrian cabinet headed by Johann Schober, chancellor, resigned today, owing to parliament having reduced credits asked for by the government.

Morgan May Offer Loan.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

VIENNA, May 24.—Chancellor Schober of Austria has received a telegram from the Austrian embassy at London confirming an announcement that the Morgan group of bankers is sending experts to Vienna to study conditions for a loan of £8,000,000 (roughly, $35,200,000) or £10,000,000 ($44,000,000).

Huge Freighter, Stuck in Bridge, Blocks Traffic

Traffic on North State street was blocked for more than half an hour last night when the George W. Clyde, a 280-foot freight boat from Philadelphia, was caught in the current while passing through the open bridge. Its stern endangered the City of Holland, a passenger boat owned by the Graham & Morton line, which was docked just east of the bridge. The freighter was finally veered off and the bridge closed.

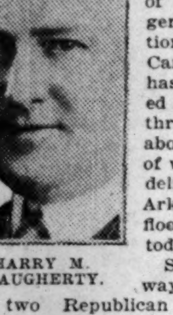
CARAWAY DEFIES DAUGHERTY; SAYS HE PREVARICATED

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—A challenge to Attorney General Daugherty, daring him to bring about a senate investigation to determine the truth of the attorney general's assertion that Senator Caraway [Ark.] has been actuated by a desire to throw a screen about men guilty of war frauds was delivered by the Arkansan on the floor of the senate today.



HARRY M. DAUGHERTY.

Senator Caraway pointed out that two Republican members of the house, Johnson [S. D.] and Woodruff [Mich.], had been responsible for the first resolution, introduced in the house, asking for an investigation of the department of justice, and not he.

He charged that Mr. Daugherty had set agents of the department to spy on Johnson and Woodruff, to try to "get something on them."

"Let the attorney general take the position that the motive inspiring me is the shielding of war frauds, and let him find out about it," Senator Caraway said.

"I now defy him to ask the senate to pass a resolution for an investigation. If he does not do it, he stands convicted before the public as the man who has entered into a corrupt agreement to defraud the government, although he is the attorney general; and if his party will not let him be investigated his party must take the responsibility for not doing it. He said certain things were true. I say when he said it that he uttered a willful and malicious falsehood."

Mr. Caraway said that Representatives Woodruff and Johnson were both former service men, and added: "I cannot think that they were actuated by any desire to shield men who stayed at home and robbed their government while they went out prepared to shed their blood in defense of it."

Senator Norris [Neb.] said today that if the house does not speedily pass the Woodruff resolution providing for a congressional investigation of war fraud charges, a similiar resolution would be introduced in the senate from the Republican side.

Be a New Man
in this wonderful environment
This Summer

By an Easterner

THIS is addressed to men who need a vacation that will recreate—and that means all men. You particularly, if you are over-worked and tired.

Too many think of costs in money instead of costs in health.

There's a place to go—at a reasonable cost, by train—which has the same enchantment, the same lure as "a trip abroad."

It provides a wonderful, delightful new environment in which you lose, and thereby find yourself, remade.

So Different

You'll find a wonderland of summer there—the world's greatest playground, where every summer sport is at its best, and where everything is different, fresh and new.

Where you can motor for 4,000 miles on boulevards like city streets, visit a peak by trolley, camp, swim, fish, play golf, climb mountains, visit the missions, sail, explore canyons, rest in a wilderness, or go to the theatre. Have breakfast on a desert and dinner at a famous restaurant in a great city the same day if you wish. Travel as you will by motor, train or trolley. See for a hundred miles from a golf tee. Breathe an ozone that makes you feel actually "like a boy again."

I Was Amazed

I—an easterner—also once thought there was no place so ideal until I went to Southern California for the summer. I thought it would be warm, but, in a three months' stay—during July, August and September—slept under blankets ninety nights. Was amazed to see the U. S. Weather Bureau figures (printed here)—a 44-year record.

I went to Southern California first on the advice of a physician and found this new land that could really re-make men.

And I've returned each summer for six summers straight, to keep myself re-made.

Now tens of thousands do the same thing. There are no longer any "seasons" there.

"A Find"

If your need is the same as mine was, you will get the same results, and be glad you followed these suggestions.

Take the entire family—re-make them, too. Women and children also gain greatly by this complete change of scene and interest.

I consider Southern California "a find" as a vacation land. I think you too will so consider it.

Special low-rate, round trip fares now in effect—No more War Tax.

Ask any railroad ticket agent for further information, or mail coupon below. Go this summer while you may. Make reservations now.

Temperature The average mean temperature in Southern California for the past 44 years (U. S. Weather Bureau records) is as follows: June, 66—July, 70—August, 71—September, 69.

The same records show that a great city in the center of this section has on the average only one day in June, two days in July, three in August and three in September when the thermometer touches or exceeds 90 degrees.

The air is usually dry, so higher temperatures are comfortable here that would be uncomfortable in the East where humidity emphasizes heat.

Southern California averages 309 days of sunshine. Summer is the rainless season so you can plan on perfect weather for your fun.

STATE WINS IN TILT TO KEEP "BIG 3" JAILED

Fight to Bail Finally Decided Today.

CHARLES ERBSTEIN

In a spirited three hours' battle in Superior court yesterday the state was victor — temporarily, at least — in a fight to prevent freedom on bail of Timothy ["Big Tim"] Murphy and Fred ["Frenchy"] Mader. Judge Harry B. Miller deferred decision until 10 a. m. today.

Meanwhile Federal Judge Francis E. Baker declined to consider a motion to cut Murphy's penitentiary sentence on a charge of robbing the mails from six years to two.

The hearing before Judge Miller, based on supplemental habeas corpus petitions filed by Attorneys Charles E. Erbstein and Francis W. Walker, followed new indictments by the state grand jury of Murphy, Mader, Cornelius N. ["Con"] Shea and others for the murder of Acting Lieut. Terrence Lyons on May 10.

Crowe Leads Fight.

Judge Miller overruled a motion by Special Proecutor Godman to quash the supplemental writ in view of the new indictments. The court granted Mr. Godman thirty minutes in which to study the writ before final argument.

After the recess State's Attorney Crowe appeared to personally contest the right of the defendants to bail. In a heated argument he charged that the proceedings were "irregular," that all such hearings should be before Chief Justice Scanlan of the Criminal court. He frankly admitted that the state had asked continuance Tuesday on the original writ in order that the proceedings might be transferred from Judge Miller to the chief justice.

"These defendants have no right to go about seeking a forum of their own liking," declared Mr. Crowe. "I consider this court's attitude in this matter to be against the interests of the people."

Judge Denies Prejudice.

"I take exception to the personal inference of the state's attorney," retorted Judge Miller. "I deny most strenuously that this court is prejudiced either way."

Attorney Walker interrupted to say that the prosecutor "hadn't a particle of evidence and knows it." Mr. Walker charged the state with subterfuge, with ignoring the statutes, and with prejudice. He said the city is "in the midst of a judicial and mass hysteria in which private individuals and civic organizations appear to take the place of public officials."

"They have nothing whatever against Murphy and Mader except me," shouted Mr. Walker. "Judge Scanlan's remarks indicate he thinks he has the power to suspend the right of habeas corpus, to declare a state of war. That's why we shunned his court."

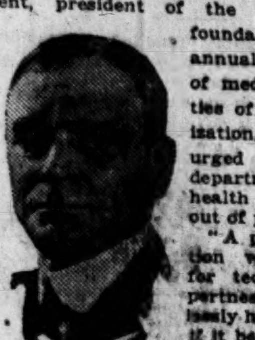
Cites Aaron Burr Case.

Mr. Godman cited a number of decisions, including the famous treason case against Aaron Burr, to prove the court's jurisdiction extended only as to the grade of offenses committed. He said the indictments themselves stood as "proof to the evidence and the presumption to be great" as to the guilt of the defendants.

Judge Miller announced he wanted time to consider just how far he should go into the evidence before making a decision, and announced a continuance to this morning. He ordered that all witnesses, including John Miller, who has made some confessions in the case, be present.

Shea's fight for freedom on bail will open today, Attorney John Enright announced.

URGES RIDDING HEALTH BOARDS OF ALL POLITICS



GEORGE E. VINCENT.

New York, May 24.—George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller foundation, in his annual summary of medical activities of the organization, today urged that public departments of health be taken out of politics.

"A public function which calls for technical expertness is hopelessly handicapped if it be treated as the spoils of a political boss or of a victorious party machine," he asserted.

"To no public service does this more strikingly apply than to a department of health. The moment efforts are made to influence appointments, promotions, salaries, policies, law enforcement, by individual pressure for political or party ends the demoralization of the work begins. The degree to which such things are possible is an index to the intelligence, spirit and character of any community."

Mr. Vincent declared the safeguarding of the health of the people a community task and responsibility, a proper and important subject for public attention and discussion.

BATTLE BEGINS TO STOP BREAK IN MEDIC BODY

St. Louis, May 24.—An organized fight to prevent the separation of the scientific sections of the American Medical association, in convention here, from the house of delegates or the legislative body was started today in the sixteen sectional meetings of the association with the introduction of a resolution protesting any such action.

The introduction of a resolution in the house of delegates yesterday to amend the bylaws in such a manner as to eliminate from the house of delegate such representation as the scientific branches now have precipitated the fight which is expected to fully develop in the meeting of the legislative branch tomorrow.

Virtually every phase of medical science was discussed at today's session, the first day on which sectional meetings were held. Speakers emphasized the necessity of strict application of sanitary and hygienic principles, particularly in rural districts.

Dr. Abraham Zingher of New York recommended that diphtheria immunization be given children before they reach school age, stating fully 80 to 85 per cent of deaths from diphtheria occur in children under 5 years old.

"Children from native American stock have been found the most susceptible to diphtheria," Dr. Zingher stated, "and the children of Italian extraction the least."

The thyroid, one of those ductless glands that the medical profession is said to be on the threshold of mastering, plays a part in one's leanness or obesity, Dr. L. E. Barker of Johns Hopkins university explained.

"The thyroid," said Dr. Barker, "has much to do with the rapidity of chemical changes in the body. If its activity is too little, the chemical changes take place too slowly and the body becomes fat. If there is too much activity, the chemical changes are too rapid, the burning up process is too intense, and the person so affected eats a lot and grows thin."

My dear Mr. Gillette:

I have used your razor for so many years with such satisfaction that I did not know it was possible to improve upon it until I tried your new improved Gillette, and I want to congratulate you upon the improvement for it surely makes shaving a pleasure.

I don't know whether it is the additional weight or the different arrangement but, satisfactory as was the old razor -- I should say razors for I own several of them of different models -- the new one is so superior that I would not part with it, unless I knew where to get another exactly like it.

With appreciation, I beg to remain

BATTERED SOX HOME TO BATTLE ST. LOUIS TODAY

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

KEN WILLIAMS.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Having been raked fore and aft while visiting in eastern parts, the White Sox will be "at home" this afternoon and endeavor to make a fresh start that will get them somewhere in the world as well as in the league standing.

Eleven defeats against three wins on the recent journey was the most disastrous wallop a south side team has suffered in many years, but it is a long way to the finish and Bill Gleason still has hopes. Bill always was an optimist.

Browns Here Today.

The St. Louis Browns with Ken Williams will provide the opposition today, the game being a playoff of a postponement from the opening series of the season.

Ferdie Schupp, the ex-Giant southpaw, will oppose Lee Fohl's pennant seekers, and as Williams does not favor this variety of pitching he is not likely to add to his string of one dozen homers. The remote fences at the south side park also have a demoralizing effect on home run hitters.

Short Stay at Home.

The Browns will tarry here for four games, after which the Sox again hit the trail for visits to Cleveland and St. Louis. This trip will be followed by the eastern teams appearing on the south side, the Yanks with Babe Ruth being the first to show.

GRIFFS WIN, 5-3, AS YANKS FAIL TO HIT IN PINCHES

New York, May 24.—Inability to hit with men on bases cost the Yankees a game with the Senators today, 5 to 3. Walter Johnson had the better of Sam Jones, who was hit hard. Rice and Meusel hit home runs, but Ruth again failed to connect safely in five trips to the plate. Score:

Woods and Waters

By BOB BECKER

SOME HINTS ON CAMP BEDDING.

MANY a camping or canoe trip is spoiled by not taking along the correct kind of bedding. Your health and comfort depend on the kind of bed you have to occupy every night, and every time you hear a fellow talking about never taking anything along but a blanket or two to sleep in and bragging about how he likes to rough it and can stand to sleep on the ground any place, you can check him off as a greenhorn who has slept mighty few if any nights outdoors.

That sort of roughing is bad enough when in a pinch you have to do it. But it is punishment, folly, and usually results in loss of sleep and not infrequently illness. A man can go through any kind of hardships by day and thrive under them provided he gets a sound, comfortable night's rest. To get a good rest he must have a decent sleeping outfit, and hence this selecting a portable bed is mighty important.

An air mattress is great stuff in warm or moderate weather but like sleeping on a chunk of ice in cold weather, as it steals your heat. For a fishing trip in the summer you can't beat 'em for comfort.

In the final analysis this matter of getting outfitted depends on two things, a study of your own needs and ease at night and how much weight you can put into your sleeping outfit. At any rate a fellow has to remember that while on a camping trip a third of his time is spent in bed, so a soft one and comfortable one is just as essential as at home.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

PAMPERING STRAWBERRY BED FIRST SUMMER IS VITAL.

MANAGING the strawberry patch during the first summer is simple, but the few needs that must be looked after are vitally important. It is just as necessary to cultivate strawberry plants as it is cabbage and beans.

Cultivating strawberries begins as soon as the plants are transplanted and is kept up until fall. Much more precaution is needed in cultivating strawberries than is necessary in stirring the soil around vegetables. Hoe or cultivate close enough to the plant to kill all the weeds and keep the surface broken after each rain, but always avoid going deep enough to cut the roots. Strawberry plants have a mass of roots that develop near the surface and are easily injured if the cultivator, shovel, or hoe is allowed to go too deep.

Runners will soon begin to ramble over the ground between the rows, forming a solid mass if not cut back. Where the matted row system is desired, keep the runners trimmed back so the rows will be about eighteen or twenty inches wide.

It is a real task to trim the runners and keep the row in shape if the work is not started early. If the plants have grown normally they will spread all between the rows by the last of July. Start cutting back the runners as soon as they are ten inches long and keep it up.

Keen, Stueland, Freeman and Osborne appeared on the slab and there wasn't any spoofing at any stage. A left handed plow boy, entitled Curtis Williams, kidded the Cubs along for eight innings, employing a slow ball and one a trifle slower.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

THAT FLY AND FLEA.

DEAR HARV: I am writing about this here fly and flea dusted off in The Wake recently. It has been a long time since I heard it, but it was handed down by my great-great-grandfather, so I have no hesitation in vouching for its correctness, as follows:

A fly and a flea in a flue
Were imprisoned, now what could they do?
The fly said, "Let's flee,"
The flea said, "Let's fly."
So they flew through a flaw in the flue."

W. C. R.

I would like to revise the fly and flea version as follows:

A fly and a flea saw a flaw in a flue,
Said the flea to fly, "How do do."

Said the fly to the flea, "Let us two Fly through the flaw in the flue."

M. J. G.

In my scrapbook it's thus:

A fly and a flea in a flue
Were imprisoned, so what could they do?
"Let us flee," said the fly.
"Let us fly," said the flea.
So they flew through a flaw in the flue.

We had just prepared to stay,
We had settled for the summer
In a most successful way.
And just as things were straightened,
And we found a steady hold,
We learned we had to pack and move
Because the house was sold.

EXPECT BURMAN TO HAMMER BODY IN MANDELL BOUT

When Sammy Mandell, promising Rockford boxer, steps into the ring at Aurora Monday night to trade punches with the experienced Joe Burman of the west side for ten rounds, he will be called on to stop a vicious body attack, a pounding which may weaken him as the fight wears on.

Burman returned yesterday from New York, where he won a decision over Bud Dempsey Monday night. While he was preparing for his workout at the Arcade Joe let go the information he will play for Sammy's midsection throughout the bout. He also told Matchmaker Jim Mullen to secure a competent referee, because he does not want Mandell to jump into one of his body punches and then claim the fight on a foul.

Contenders in Training.

Burman took a light workout yesterday. He will start boxing today. He showed no marks of the Dempsey fight and asserted he did not extend himself.

Mandell put in a strenuous day. He boxed with Buck O'Brien and Jack Blackburne and went through the usual routine of gymnasium work. Mandell and Burman will have little trouble to make 121 pounds, the figure they must scale at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. They will continue to work at the Arcade for the remainder of the week.

To date eleven coaches have been ordered to take the fans to Aurora on the specials over the Aurora and Elgin electric. The specials will leave the Wells street terminal at 7:10 and 7:25 p. m., daylight saving time. There is a brisk demand for tickets at 129 North Dearborn street and 153 North Clark street.

Two Bouts at Fort Tuesday.

Gene Watson and Teddy Murphy, local 128 pounders, are hard at work for their ten round clash at Fort Sheridan Tuesday night. Murphy is training at the Arcade, while Watson is doing his work at the Kimrock gymnasium in the McCormick building. In all thirty-six rounds of boxing will be staged. The matches have been arranged by Harry Gilmore Jr., and the show will be staged under auspices of the Gen. George Crook post of the American Legion.

According to Dick Curley, manager of Mike Dundee, Rock Island featherweight, who meets Pete Mistel in Cicero Tuesday night, a large crowd will see the show of four contests.

Charley White, local lightweight, will leave tonight for Pittsburgh, where he is scheduled to box ten rounds with Johnny Ray Saturday.

Joe Welling, well known to local fistic fans, will be in town today to finish training for his ten round contest with Mel Coogan at Indianapolis Monday night. Joe will leave for the Hoosier city Sunday.

Frankie Kennard, the south side lightweight under the management of Ben [illegible], has been matched to meet Young [illegible] at Kankakee, June 5.

Sports Through Edgren's Eyes

TED "KID" LEWIS

THE quick and easy victory of Georges Carpentier over Ted (Kid) Lewis was predicted in this column. Nearly two years ago I saw Lewis beaten easily by O'Dowd—who couldn't have laid a glove on the swift English boxer when Lewis was good — and knew that Lewis was through. The fact that Lewis has recently been knocking out a lot of opponents in England and was regarded there as a marvel in his class signified nothing.

For some reason or other English boxing and English boxers are, as a rule, far below American standards.

There have been a few exceptions, of course. Ted Lewis was a champion a few years ago. He started his career in England, but was developed in Australian and American rings. Jem Driscoll was as great a featherweight as any I've ever seen, with one exception—the incomparable Terry McGovern. Driscoll was better than Abe Attel. He always fought. Attel usually stalled.

That ends the list. Not another really great fighter has come out of England in the last twenty-five years. Pedlar Palmer was a hero at home and a joke when he met McGovern. Jabez White was knocked out by Jimmy Britt in California. Jack Palmer came over and was licked by Jack Twin Sullivan. Clever Bombardier Wells was knocked out by Al Palzer.

Benny Leonard's signing on for a welterweight bout with Welter Champion Jack Britton at the beginning of June shows that Leonard is at last going after the title in a heavier class. If the bout is to be held in New Jersey it will be twelve rounds without a decision. If in New York, it will be fifteen rounds with a decision—a championship affair.

Jack Britton has held the welter title a long time and has shown no sign of losing his cunning. Britton started when Packey McFarland, Leach Cross, Tommy Murphy, and that old bunch were becoming known, and he outlasted the lot. Leonard is naturally growing a little, and it may be hard for him to hang on to the lightweight title and make the lightweight limit much longer. He could do nicely with the welter championship.

That's Leonard's end of the argument.

Britton's is that he has exhausted the list of welter rivals and that as Leonard is a welterweight, except when he starves himself, and a very popular boxer, Leonard is welcome to anything he can get. Britton is one of the most confident fighters in the world. He doesn't think Benny Leonard will give him a rough minute, and as for boxing skill, he's willing to match his own against Leonard's any time.

NDERSON LONE YANKEE BIDDER IN BRITISH GOLF

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 24.—John G. Anderson, crack Siwaney [New York] golfer, was left today lone American bidder for the British amateur championship here.

HAROLD HILTON. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

During the day he defeated, 3 and 2 and 1 up, respectively, in second and third rounds, G. C. Whigham of Prestwick and R. Humphries of Stourbridge, well known British amateur. At the same time Edward Van Vleck of Garden City [New York] club, the other American contender, was put out of the running by J. Wilson of Prestwick, 2 and 1, in the third round.

In the morning play, Van Vleck had defeated Reginald Foster of Porters Park, 4 and 2.

American Plays Brilliantly.

Anderson played brilliantly. His approach and putting excelled. In his match with Whigham, with several bunkers on the route, he won four of five holes at the start, the fifth being halved. He was 3 up at the turn and at the tenth hole laid a mashie shot from a hollow fifty yards to within a few inches of the pin.

At the sixteenth Whigham was bunkered beyond the green, losing the hole and giving Anderson the match.

Anderson's score: Going out, 40; coming in (7 holes), 30.

Anderson's match with Humphries, won on the last green, was replete with exciting situations. His English adversary, an extremely long driver, frequently outdrove the American forty yards.

Putt Mess Nearly Fatal.

Accurately played irons, steady approaching and putting saved the New Yorker, whose only lapses occurred on the seventh and sixteenth greens, where he missed two putts of less than two feet, one of which nearly was fatal.

Van Vleck beat Foster in his morning match, 4 and 2, after turning all square. His score going out was 39 and coming in, for the seven holes, 29.

In Van Vleck's disastrous match with Wilson, the American squared at the thirteenth hole, where he sank a putt eight yards when 2 down. Loss of the sixteenth and seventeenth, however, brought defeat.

A large gallery was attracted to the masterful play of 53 year old Harold Hilton, four times British champion, who, despite his age, entered the tourney and to date has played golf equal to the best of his long career. His accurately placed shots and deadly putting featured.

Wethered Looks Like Champion.

Now in the fourth round, Roger Wethered, looking like a champion, continues to drive superbly. His iron shots always holed high. In today's play he mowed down two sterling golfers, Hodgson, 2 up, and Pease, 2 and 1. At the eighteenth hole, measuring 279 yards, he was past the pin with a tee shot.

Willie Hunter, present champion, won nine successive holes against Denys Scott, winning 8 to 7, while Capt. Larter beat two opponents today, each 5 and 4, by straight driving.

2 EX-WOMEN GOLF CHAMPS IN FIGHT FOR N. Y. TITLE

New York, May 24.—Alexa Stirling, Mrs. H. A. Jackson, Mrs. Thomas Hucknall, and Mrs. N. K. Toerge will be finalists in the metropolitan women's golf championship over the Convent golf links in Morris county, New Jersey, having won their matches in the second round today.

Miss Stirling and Mrs. Jackson, former national champions, and Mrs. Hucknall won with ease, but Mrs. Toerge was forced to the seventeenth green before she defeated Miss Florence Leow, 3 up and 1.

Miss Stirling defeated Mrs. F. E. Dubois, 5 and 3; Mrs. Jackson defeated Mrs. W. McGowan, 8 and 6, and Mrs. Hucknall won from Mrs. I. Brown of the Knickerbocker club, 9 and 8.

Mrs. Dubois won only the ninth hole from the former Atlanta girl, and it seemed that Miss Stirling would have broken the course record if she had been forced all the way, for she went out in 41.

OBJECTS TO TERM OF "OFFICIAL GOLF BALL"

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—A question of far reaching legal importance, and one affecting all golf players, golf clubs, and ball manufacturers in the United States, was raised today by Attorney James Francis Burke, general counsel for the United States Golf association, who filed petitions signed by President J. Frederic Byers with both the commissioner of patents and the federal trade commission to nullify claims and practices on the part of the Allied Golf company of Chicago in claiming the right to use the term "official golf ball" and the exclusive right to stamp the numerals "162" thereon.

The petitions declare it is incumbent upon the United States Golf association, as trustee for the golfing public, to protect its rulings against being commercialized or converted to the exclusive use or benefit of any individual or corporation, and furthermore, to encourage open competition in the sale of all balls, clubs, and other materials used in the game.

U. S. G. A. Adopts Rule.

On July 20, 1920, after a joint conference with the Royal and Ancient committee, in Scotland, the United States Golf association adopted a rule limiting the weight and diameter of the ball permitted in tournaments to 1.62 ounces and 1.62 inches, respectively.

The petitions declare that after this rule was published broadcast the Allied company secured a patent office registration for the exclusive use of the numerals "162" on all golf balls, and furthermore, inclosed those manufactured by it in a wrapper stamped "official golf ball," and in addition to this, has publicly advertised that all persons infringing upon the claims would be subjected to actions for damages.

Afraid of Monopoly.

The petitions declare that if these claims were permitted to stand it would create a monopoly in the manufacture and sale of golf balls and work great injustice to the United States Golf association in giving the impression that its rules could be converted to selfish purposes, and generally work a great injustice to the golfing public.

The petitions ask the federal trade commission to terminate the practice, and the commissioner of patents is asked to cancel the registration.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

Nessersmith defeated O'Brien [55], 75 to 41, in the pocket billiard tournament at Foley's. McCallum [50] plays Rourke [50] and McCallum [50] plays Hoppe [45] in tonight's games.

JOCK HUTCHISON left yesterday on the Twentieth Century limited and will sail from New York today on the S. S. Scythia for Liverpool. Jock said that the report relating to a Scottish club having furnished his expenses was incorrect and that this had been done by members of the Glen View club. Jim Barnes, who does not expect to compete in the Glen Eagles event, will leave New York on Tuesday..

◆

Midlothian members will compete on Decoration day for the Charles Ettinger trophy and the F. A. Ingalls trophy. The first will be played for in a four ball event at thirty-six holes, the maximum handicap being 18. The Ingalls cup event is for choice score, eighteen of thirty-six holes, with full handicaps. There will be a driving event for men and a putting contest for women.

The Western Advertising Golfers' association has adopted the handicapping system of the Chicago District Golf association. Heretofore the allowances have been from four to six strokes lower than the club handicaps of each member. As it is compulsory for a member to be associated with a private club, all of them will receive C. D. G. A. ratings at these clubs. The next tournament of the association will be held June 6, an early date having been selected so as not to interfere with the Milwaukee convention or the national advertising championship at Cooperstown, N. Y., next month.

C. W. Booth, Ben Wood, Dr. Woolsey of St. Louis, and R. C. Biddle won the low net foursome prize in the Midlothian Derby with a score of 66. R. E. Daly, G. Munger, George Hendricks of Springfield, Ill., and L. D. Kellogg of Exmoor were second with 68.

C. W. Booth, who won the Derby, and Irving T. Hartz, tied at 75 for choice low net, the prize reverting to Hartz. R. L. Whitton and J. H. Dunn tied for second at 78. G. Hendricks won the low net for guests with 72. C. F. Murray of Evanston being second with 74.

GEORGE LITTLE NAMED SUCCESSOR TO YOST

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 24.—[Special.]—The man to succeed Fielding H. Yost as coach of the Michigan football eleven has been named. George Little, athletic director and coach of Miami university, has been selected by the board in control of athletics at Michigan to be assistant director of intercollegiate athletics at Michigan and to act as assistant football coach. He will assume his new duties in the fall, although he will be in Ann Arbor this summer to teach in the summer school for coaches.

Coach Yost will not give over the reins of the Wolverine football eleven until he is satisfied that Little can fill the bill and it is certain that "Hurry Up" will be on the job again this fall.

21 Years at Michigan.

At the end of next season, however, or possibly in the fall of 1923, Yost, who has coached the Michigan eleven for twenty-one years, will give up active coaching and pay close attention to his duties as director of intercollegiate athletics.

Whether Yost will abdicate at the end of the next season depends on the showing made by Little, but it is rumored in athletic circles that Yost has great respect for the new Michigan coach and wishes to get out of the active harness.

Will Retire When Ready.

"I'll not retire from active coaching until I get ready," Coach Yost said today, "and I certainly will not retire until I can be satisfied that the Michigan eleven is guided by a coach for whom I can be responsible and still not have the responsibility of coaching myself."

COUNCIL WANTS MORVICH SHOWN HERE AT PAGEANT

On motion of Ald. Joseph O. Kostner the city council yesterday requested Ben Block, owner of Morvich, winner of the Kentucky Derby, to exhibit the famous racer at the Pageant of Progress exposition next August.

"Horse racing should be encouraged," Ald. Kostner said. "Why should Chicagoans have to go to Kentucky to see a derby or to Wisconsin to see a boxing bout?"

LARNED-HACKETT MOVE TO FINALS IN NET DOUBLES

New York, May 24.—William A. Larned, seven times winner of the national singles championship, and Harold H. Hackett, former national title holder in the doubles, won their way into the final round of the Metropolitan doubles tennis tournament for veterans today by defeating Theodore R. Pell and Vernon S. Prentice, 6—1, 4—6, 6—3.

In the finals Saturday Larned and Hackett will meet the winner of tomorrow's semi-final match between Samuel Hardy and William A. Campbell and William J. Gallon and Thomas Sturges.

BIG TEN NET STARS START PLAY TODAY

Big Ten tennis activities will come to a climax today, tomorrow, and Saturday, when the conference meet will be held at the University of Chicago courts.

ART FRANKENSTEIN. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The drawings for the first round of singles matches will be held this morning at 9 o'clock and play will begin one hour later, continuing through the remaining three days of the week. Play in the doubles matches will be started tomorrow morning and will proceed simultaneously with the singles, with the finals Saturday afternoon.

Keen Competition Indicated.

Likely teams in both singles and doubles contests give the affair a preliminary appearance of being one of the most closely matched conference meets in several years, three men being considered nearly equal in the singles events, and four doubles teams being given equal favor.

Capt. Art Frankenstein of Chicago is looked upon as one of the final contenders in the singles, while Norton of Minnesota and Merkel of Michigan also have excellent chances of copping the glory. Frankenstein has met and defeated Norton in a previous match, but has never pitted his skill against the Michigan hope.

Teams Closely Matched.

In the doubles the finals probably will lie between "Lonnie" Stagg and Frankenstein of Chicago, Merkel and Reindel of Michigan, Gotsferson and Treadwell of Wisconsin, and Buttrick and Brown, the Illini representatives.

The Michigan pair play high class tennis and if they do not cop the finals should be runners-up in the contest. Evans and Gates will compose the other Chicago team booked to compete in the meet.

"Y" athletes won all places in three events, the broad jump, pole vault and shot put.

125 OF FASTEST BIKE RIDERS IN AMERICA SET FOR GRIND ON TUESDAY

WITH the work of the handicap committee completed last night, 125 of the fastest bicycle riders in the United States were numbered among the list of starters in the 100 mile Milwaukee to Chicago handicap race next Tuesday, while twenty entries were refused by the committee on account of the young ages of the riders. This is the largest number of contestants that ever competed in a 100 mile race in this section.

The race starts at Washington park, Milwaukee, at 6 a. m., and finishing at Campbell and North avenue, Chicago, between 10:30 and 11 a. m.

◆

Riders are entered as far south as Jacksonville, Fla.; as far east as New York, and from many cities within 200 miles of Milwaukee and Chicago.

At the city council meeting yesterday, a committee of twenty-five aldermen was appointed to receive the executive committee of Milwaukee. The mayors of Racine, Kenosha, and Waukegan have offered their support, while 150 of their motorcycle men will accompany the riders over the course.

The West North Avenue Business Men's association will give all visiting officials luncheon, besides awarding a player piano to the winner.

The following clubs of Chicago have entered their crack riders: Alverno A. A., Calerton A. C., Opal A. A., Belgian-American C. C., Franklin Skating and A. C., Rogers Park Wheelmen, Pierce Cycle club, Norwegian-American A. A., American Wheelmen, Edgewater Cycle club, Norge Ski club, Everly circles, Brighton Park Wheelmen, Ogden Park, Twenty-fourth Ward William Hale Thompson club, Merry Gardens. The oldest rider is 48 years old. The old timers are coming back. Farmer Blum and several others have entered.

AMERICA'S BEST IN PREP SPORTS WAIT STAGG MEET

Final entries for the world's greatest prep interscholastic, to be held tomorrow and Saturday at the University of Chicago, bring the totals for the track and field meet to over 1,000 men, representing 150 high schools of twenty-eight states. This includes nineteen academies which are sending teams ranging in number from two to forty-six men.

BILL RIGGS.

At a meeting of the student committee in charge of the interscholastic final preparations for the successful carrying out of the carnival plans, including housing and entertainment of the unprecedented number of athletes, were made. Important among the numerous entertainment features arranged are two banquets at which the tracksters are to be guests and a special performance of "Anybody's Girl," the annual Black Friars musical comedy. Trips and sightseeing tours are also scheduled for the prep students during their stay here.

Academy Activities.

In the academy section the biggest representation is being made by the individual institutions. St. John's Military school, Delafield, Wis., has entered a strong team of twenty contestants, while among other star bidders for first honors in the academy competition are Culver, Lake Forest, Staunton, and Kemper.

St. Albans, Sycamore, Ill., is sending two likely lads in G. Welch, who does the 220 in under :23 and the 440 in :53, and Bill Riggs, a half-miler, who performs the distance in 2:00.

Stagg field was a veritable carnival of strength yesterday afternoon when teams which have arrived early were working out.

Colored Sprinter Looks Good.

Ed Shaw, a colored youth from Moravia, Cal., showed stuff that is likely to bring him in first in the 440 yard dash, a distance which he scampers in :50½. Huntington Beach, Cal., lads also were limbering and stretched their legs at good speed, Bill Kerr doing the mile in 4:38.

The preliminaries will begin tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, and on Saturday the men who survive the stiff qualifying tests will compete in the big events. Gold watches will be awarded to winners of first places, while takers of seconds and thirds will be rewarded with gold and silver medals.

TEXAN'S PLUCK WINS HIM STAY AT HOTEL HERE

Jim Draper, who hoboed a thousand miles to run a hundred yards, has made a host of friends through his pluck in making the long trip from Texas to contest in the interscholastic meet at Stagg field today and tomorrow.

The article which appeared in THE TRIBUNE yesterday won him a bed and meals during his stay in Chicago. J. E. Alexander, assistant manager of the Cooper-Carleton hotel, which is a rendezvous of baseball players and other athletes, saw the article, and made the offer.

Mr. Draper will be on the job this morning, Mr. Alexander. He thanks you for your kindness.

NATIONAL PARKS TO GIVE TOURISTS NEWS BY RADIO

U. S. Plans Vast System of Receiving Stations.

BY CHARLES SLOAN.

Plans are now said to be under way in Washington for the installation of a gigantic governmental system of radiophone receiving stations in all the country's large national parks.

The furnishing of news, market reports and concerts to the great host of tourists who annually migrate to the parks is the primary object of the scheme, it is declared.

Radio transmission stations now in the parks will coöperate in the work, according to Stephen T. Mather, national park director.

"Heretofore tourists have been more or less cut off from the world when they enter the park systems," Mr. Mather declares. "The radiophone has grown to the point where it can be of great use in keeping these tourists in touch with current events. I know of several instances where tourists did not learn of news happenings of national importance until several weeks had passed.

"This can be remedied by installations of radio receivers at strategic points all through the system. They could be cared for by a mobile force—the expense involved would be little in comparison with the return."

Experiments are to be tried in several parks immediately, Mr. Mather said. Permanent installations should be begun by the end of the coming summer.

Middle west radio fans—1,568 of them—have loyally responded to the call for a radio census. But 1,568 surely can't be the total number of radio receivers in our territory. New York boasts of more than 40,000 in the city alone. Has your neighbor a radiophone? Drop a postal card to the Radio Editor of THE TRIBUNE and give that neighbor's name and address.

More than a dozen Nebraska merchants have recently been victimized by a "radio slicker" who sold them exclusive rights to distribution of a radio receiver which didn't exist. The "slicker" got cash in advance for the territory, of course.

George H. Jaspert, the "man behind" station KYW, announces that the new aerial towers are up and that the range of the station is soon to be increased greatly. With the new aerials and the new studio in operation, better programs are expected to be listed.

The Boy choir of the New First Congregational church heads the program for tonight. It follows:

Four Out of Every Five

Four people out of every five who pass the age of forty, and thousands younger, are marked by Pyorrhea for its victims.

Does that include you?

Startling as these figures are, they are accurate statistics which your dentist will verify.

When Pyorrhea comes, it does its deadly work quickly. It loosens the gums until they recede from the teeth, which drop out or must be pulled.

It forms sinister pus pockets at the roots of the teeth. Germs breed in these pockets, then swarm throughout the system.

Ill health often follows and serious sickness.

Don't sit idly by and wait for Pyorrhea's coming. At the first danger sign, tender or bleeding gums, consult your dentist and begin using Forhan's For the Gums.

If used consistently, and used in time, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea or check its deadly course. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S.

Use Forhan's as a dentifrice every day. Brush your teeth with it regularly. It keeps the teeth and gums in a clean, healthy condition.

Don't put off buying Forhan's until tomorrow. Remember—four out of five wait too long. 35c and 60c tubes at your druggist's.

The Woman He Forgot

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

Blue Ribbon Fiction

SYNOPSIS.

Nora Clayton, beautiful and young, although the mother of a nineteen year old son, returns to England after an exile of seventeen years when she learns her son, Bill, is in love with Lady Helen Margenty, a woman years older than he. Nora's real name is Eileen Thorpe. She was married when extremely young to Lucien Thorpe, whom she loved devotedly, although he was blind. Lucien was tricked by Lady Helen, who loved him, and by Capt. Fairchild, who loved Nora, into believing his young wife had betrayed him. With her two year old child he cast her out of his home. Shortly after she and the child were in a railway accident, and she allowed her husband and friends to believe they had been killed.

The day she reaches England Nora meets her husband, who is no longer blind, at the home of her friend, Fanny Flute. Lucien does not recognize her. He and Bill are friends.

Nora and her son quarrel about Helen, whom he has already married, but Helen, who knows her allowance from her divorced husband would cease if the marriage were known, forces Bill to keep it a secret, even from his mother. Lucien discovers it and tells Helen he knows.

Lucien becomes a frequent visitor at Nora's flat in London. She is not yet ready to forgive him and to tell him who she is, but she finds she is happy to be near him. She has lost her lovely voice, by means of which she supported her child and herself in Italy, and is compelled to find other means of earning a living. Through an advertisement she secures a position as manager of a music publishing company, which is owned by Peter Margenty, Helen's ex-husband. Bill is distressed when he hears the news, and insists upon leaving Oxford and going to work. Lucien takes him into his business.

Bill becomes disillusioned by Helen's lack of principle and they quarrel. He goes to Jamaica on business and meets Marion Flute, in whom he becomes interested. He returns to find Helen is no longer receiving money from Margenty and is planning to go on the stage. Helen learns from Margenty that she is still his wife, that their divorce was not legal.

When Lucien begs Nora to marry him she tells him that she was with his wife at the time of the wreck in Italy, and that Bill is his son, confided to her care by Eileen. Lady Helen is found dead and Bill is suspected of having murdered her.

INSTALLMENT XLVI.

NORA IN LUCIEN'S HOME.

Her eyelids drooped wearily and the fever seemed to be consuming her. There was a dull pain in her head and chest, and once or twice she coughed. She completely lacked the will to move. It was better just sitting here inactive; a respite from the bitter agony of knowledge. Presently she would feel more able to face things.

So she drifted, not into sleep, but into a state of coma or unconsciousness, and came to herself again with the crackle of a newly lighted fire in her ears, and with Sam Dawlish beside her, holding a glass of water to her lips. In the background was the figure of a woman in crisp hospital attire. But the nurse disappeared almost immediately, and Nora was not quite sure whether she had actually been there, or had merely been imagined.

"You must get off this wet coat," Sam was saying in a coaxing voice.

She let him help her out of it after she had slipped Bill's letter into her blouse.

"What is the matter with Lucien?" Nora asked. Possibly Sam did not notice the faint contempt in her voice.

"It's his eyes again," he said gently. "Gone back on him. Shock. We've had two specialists this morning, and they say if he don't keep to a darkened room and not worry there isn't a blessed chance for him."

And then Sam went on to say how he had sat up for Lucien until nearly dawn, and, getting restless, had finally gone down to the street door, and seen his beloved friend coming slowly along in the early light, tapping the curb with his stick, as in the old days. He told it simply, using few words, but making a strong picture of that tragedy.

"The police have read this," Nora quavered.

"Blind again. Somehow I can't help wishing that he'd never got his sight in the first place," said the devoted little man. "Because he won't keep to his bed, nor to the darkened room. And as for not worrying—well, you might as well ask for a slice of the moon. All he can think about is what might happen to Bill, and he's going to fight it out, and don't care a hang if he never gets his sight back again. We're keeping him quiet just for the moment because I said I'd sent for you. He promised to stay where he is until you came. I didn't tell him you were here already."

It seemed to Nora that a red hot iron was being pressed against her chest, but her spirit rose above the pain of it. She had caught something much worse than an ordinary cold that morning, something that might be death itself.

"We must look after him," she said huskily. "You'll help me, Sam."

Sam's straggly beard quivered, which was a signal of emotion. He did not need to assure her that he would help to the last ditch; nor had she put it as a question.

"Here's a letter I had this morning. It's from Bill, and you'll see that somebody has already opened it. I haven't had the courage myself. Will you read it, Sam? And then tell what sort of—of news it contains."

Strange that it should be Sam Dawlish and not Lucien who did this service for her! Lucien was blind again; lying there in that darkened room, suffering, she could guess, what mental torture. She was impatient to go to him, agonized by Sam's deliberation as he polished his glasses and tore open the envelope.

She dared not look while he held the letter close to his nearsighted eyes, his lips moving a little as he read it to himself.

"There's nothing unusual in this—nothing to suggest that the boy had anything unpleasant up his sleeve," Sam said finally, pushing back his glasses and smiling benevolently at Nora. "Seems that he's worried about something—that's all. Read it for yourself. 'Twon't bite you."

It was pitiful to see the sheet of paper shake in her hand. She had finally to rest it against the arm of her chair.

"Beloved Mater: I didn't like to tell you this afternoon, because I knew you'd ask all sorts of questions, some of which I honestly could not answer, but the point is I've not felt any too well ever since I got back from Jamaica. Mr. Thorpe intimated the other day that a holiday was due me, and, by jove! I'm going to take it now. Just a week or perhaps ten days all by myself in the wilds of somewhere—Cornwall or Devonshire. I'll drop you a line when I get there.

"Please don't think me ungrateful, or that I mean to worry you. I know at times I've seemed to be a perfect beast. But, mater dear, I'm a little bit bothered about a personal problem that I've got to thrash out by myself. No one can help me. At least you can't. If you could I'd ask you like a shot.

"Will you make my apologies to Mr. Thorpe? He's been so jolly decent, and I think he'll understand and keep my job for me. I simply got to the point this afternoon where if I didn't cut off somewhere by myself I'd be qualifying for admission to Bedlam.

"Take care of yourself. Cheerio, and best love. BILL."

"The police have read this," Nora quavered.

"Well, I don't see what they can make out of it," Sam maintained stoutly. "Not against him, that is. We know now what was worrying him, being married to that—that lady. And having to keep it quiet. And of course there was another girl he'd become fond of. We used to hear a lot about Miss Flute when he first got back from Jamaica."

"But, Sam, isn't it—doesn't it seem that the police can put a dreadful construction on this? Perhaps they'll even find him."

"I hope not," Sam replied gloomily. And then he voiced Nora's secret fear: "If he did kill her I'll never believe he started out with any such idea. You know what revolvers are. They go off in the queerest fashion sometimes."

Nora rose, hoping that she would be able to cross the room without betraying the fact that everything about her was reeling drunkenly.

"I must go in to Lucien now. Will you come with me, Sam?"

"Yes, I'd better," he agreed. "You're looking so ill. I hope he won't be too difficult, but Lucien isn't easy to deal with once he's made up his mind."

Sam's hand guided and steadied her into the pitch black bedroom. Thick dark material had been nailed over the windows, and the nurse was distinguishable only because of her uniform. She was sitting patiently, and the room was in silence when Sam and Nora entered.

"I think he's asleep," she whispered.

"O, no, I'm not," came promptly from the bed. "Who is that?"

"Me, old chap—and Mrs. Clayton," Sam replied. "You'll take it quietly, won't you? There's news of Bill. His mother had a letter."

Sam went on in a matter of fact way. He possessed a rather marvelous memory, and was able to repeat if not actually word for word, nearly so, the entire contents of Bill's letter.

The stricken man reached out a hand. Nora knew that movement of old, and her heart contracted with sharp pain. He wanted to find her. She laid her little burning palm against his. So they had spoken mutely to each other in the days of long ago, when love and longing and the pity of Lucien's blindness smote them in those dark hours he sometimes suffered. She had been there, loving him tenderly, suffering with and for him. It all came back to her in this anguished moment, and love filled her sad heart again. She would have told him then and there; whispered close to his ear, "Lucien, take me into your arms. I am your wife, Eileen. Don't you know me?" But there was the nurse and Sam Dawlish to remember, and also the specialists' warning that shock or agitation of any kind must be kept from Lucien if he was to have the slightest chance of regaining his precious sight.

"Is that you, Nora?" he whispered in a wondering tone.

"Yes, my dear," she replied, her voice low and husky—so unlike Eileen's, yet with cadence that often tormented his memory.

"Just for a moment I thought you were some one else. I must be a bit light headed this morning. I promised those fool doctors I'd stay here until you came. But I can't stand it, you know. It's sheer stupidity. They can bandage my eyes, and old Sam here hasn't forgotten, I'm sure, that for many years he wore a chain to his collar and dog-led me around in great style."

INSULL AGAIN NAMES POLACCO OPERA LEADER

Director Is Heir to Garden's Duties.

A statement bearing out yesterday's article in THE TRIBUNE regarding the status of Giorgio Polacco in the Civic Opera Association of Chicago was issued late yesterday afternoon by Samuel Insull, president of the organization. It reads:

"Grand opera in Chicago the coming season will be under the direction of a committee of management, the members of which are as follows:

"Chairman, Samuel Insull; vice chairman, Stanley Field; business manager, C. A. Shaw; first conductor and musical director, Giorgio Polacco; technical director, Harry W. Beatty; auditor, Jesse D. Scheinman.

All Sides Represented.

"This committee, as forecast in my statement of April 24, 1922, following the announcement of the resignation of Mary Garden as general director of the Chicago Opera company, represents the business, musical, technical, and money spending sides of opera.

"The intention of my previous statement was, and the intention of this statement is, to assure Chicago people who have so generously contributed to the guarantee fund that Chicago civic opera will be entirely under the direction and management of Chicago people, acting as a committee, and not under any one individual."

The above followed an earlier statement in which an attempt at a hair splitting definition of Polacco's duties was essayed in the following paragraph:

"No one person will 'direct opera' and no one person 'takes the place left vacant by Mary Garden,' as stated again this morning in one of the newspapers."

Follows Garden.

As far as Mr. Polacco is concerned, the statement leaves matters quite as they were. The opera company's announcement of the day before stated that he was in Europe on the search for talent for the company next season, which is exactly what Miss Garden was doing last year. When he returns to the city his title of "first conductor and musical director" indicates that he will have an important position in the councils of the company as to the artistic and musical elements of the operas to be brought out. This was also Miss Garden's duty during her incumbency as general director.

Finally Mr. Polacco will conduct many of the principal performances next season. Miss Garden appeared as leading artist in many of the principal performances during the season just closed. There was a business management during Miss Garden's régime as general director; there will be a business management during the term of Mr. Polacco's appointment as first conductor and musical director. Never at any time did THE TRIBUNE aver that the opera company would be under the direction and management of one individual; it pointed out what is now admtted, that Mr. Polacco wll be musical director the coming season.

WIFE INSULTED; HUSBAND FIRES AT MEN; HITS BOY

As the result of what the police of the Austin station claim was a feud, Harry Zueehar, 11 years old, is in St. Mary's hospital with a bullet wound below his heart, the victim of a stray bullet. The boy was hit while on the back porch of his home on the third floor at 1101 North Central Park avenue. The bullet was fired by Salvatore Mercurio, 1050 North Trumbull avenue, from the street, some distance away.

HENRY ZUEEHAR.

Mercurio, in his story to the police, stated that his wife and other women in the neighborhood had been insulted by Harry Cooper, 1037 Drake avenue, and some other men, and when they threatened him he gave chase and they jumped into a machine and fled. He fired several shots to make them halt, and one struck the Zueehar boy.

Police sent to arrest Cooper found him in his home intoxicated and with a revolver in his hand. He and Mercurio and Joe Ouatrochi, a neighbor of the latter, were locked up pending the outcome of young Zueehar's injuries.

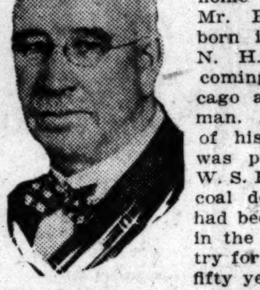
WALTER S. BOGLE, ONCE LEADER IN POLITICS, DEAD

Served on Park Board Under Altgeld.

Walter Scott Bogle, 510 Roscoe street, a prominent figure in Democratic politics two decades ago, died suddenly at his home yesterday. Mr. Bogle was born in Dover, N. H., in 1852, coming to Chicago as a young man. At the time of his death he was president of W. S. Bogle & Co., coal dealers, and had been a leader in the fuel industry for more than fifty years.



WALTER SCOTT BOGLE.

During the administration of President Cleveland Mr. Bogle was president of the Iroquois club and also chairman of the county Democratic committee. At one time he was a member of the west park board, an appointee of Gov. Altgeld.

GIRL VICTIMS OF VANDALS SAY COP ADDED TO WOES

Sergt. Charles Anderson of the Deering street police faces suspension and charges before the trial board, if a story told last night by the Misses Mary and Ellen Walsh, 2703 Eleanor street, is substantiated, Chief Fitzmorris declared last night.

Burglars Tuesday entered the home of the Misses Walsh, took two savings banks containing $20 and phonograph records, then smashed nearly every article of furniture in the home.

"We notified Deering street police by telephone," said Miss Mary Walsh. "Three hours later Sergt. Anderson arrived to demand 'what all this row's about.' Handed our one clew, a bank book made out to Stephen Urbanski, 4212 South Campbell avenue, he said: 'It won't do you any good to pinch the burglars. They would get out of it somehow and might come back.

TAXI CO. HIRES GUNMEN, SAYS AN EX-DIRECTOR

Suit Alleges Plot to Ruin Checker.

Wholesale charges of fraud and mismanagement in connection with operation of the Checker Taxi company are included in a petition for an injunction and an accounting filed in the Circuit court yesterday by David Ostran, 920 North Ridgeway avenue, against the officers and directors of the corporation.

In the petition Ostran, himself a director, charges high handed methods have been used by Clifford Gordon, president; Philip Thomas, secretary, and William Bruxter, treasurer, who, aided by several directors, constitute a clique in complete control of the business.

Gordon, according to the petition, "has employed twelve persons, commonly described as 'gunmen,' who are known as 'superintendents,' to intimidate the stockholders" and otherwise enforce the dictates of the clique.

Meetings Secret, Charge.

Meetings of the group, Ostran asserts, are held secretly in the Briggs house, and stockholders or directors not in sympathy are excluded.

The petition, filed by Attorneys Richberg, Ickes, Davies, and Lord, charges that the group, aided by James Sterling, recently elected a director to succeed Ostran, who was ejected because of his protests, "intends to impair the assets of the corporation, ruin its credit and standing, so that a rival corporation may obtain control of the Checker Taxi company at a low price."

According to Ostran, Gordon and his associates have agreed to accept a large sum of money from unknown bidders if they are successful in ruining the company.

Company Charter in Danger.

The management and conduct of the Checker Taxi company recently has been the subject of much litigation before Judge Jacob Hopkins, in whose court Attorney General Edward Brundage has filed quo warranto proceedings, seeking revocation of the company's charter. The attorney general's action is based on alleged false statements made to the secretary of state and alleged general misuse of the charter.

Judge Hopkins is expected to rule in this case in a few days, and in event of an adverse ruling the company will be forced to suspend operations.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The water ballet, "Magic Pipes," given by the West Side Y. W. C. A., 101 South Ashland avenue, was announced in THE TRIBUNE yesterday as having taken place Tuesday night. The ballet was first given last night, and will also be presented May 25, 26, and 27.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 each for questions which are accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send in your name and address with your questions to "The Inquiring Reporter, Chicago Tribune." No questions will be returned. For today's question Miss Zona Goulet, 1283 Early-av., Chicago, was awarded $5.

The Question.

What do you think of an American prize fighter wearing a monocle?

Where Asked.

On the Michigan avenue bridge.

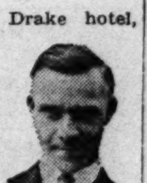
The Answers.

Harry Rudnick, 4107 West Congress street, insurance agent—I think it would be pure snobbery or frivolity for any American citizen to wear a monocle. Jack Dempsey is a prominent American figure, and this affectation is out of place for a man of his standing. Probably he wants to bring an air of England over here.

Mrs. Betty Brownlee, 538 Roscoe street—I know who you mean; you mean Jack Dempsey. Well, it's not a bit like him. I hope he doesn't wear it when he fights Harry Wills. And, besides, maybe Bebe Daniels won't like him to wear it.

Harold Prangley, 4829 Winthrop avenue, business man—I would say he would be doing an injustice to himself by wearing one. A prize fighter should not wear a monocle; he should be too masculine for that. The nobility throughout Europe wear them, but American born men should not do so, because it is not proper.

Miss Etta Greenstein, 605 North Michigan avenue, stenographer—I think it would be the height of inconsistency. He is certainly out of place in a prize ring. He ought to be where he belongs, and that it at a tea dance. I'd like to see it smashed. I don't like to see an effeminate man.



Raymond L. Kintz, Drake hotel, clerk—I don't know, I don't think much of it. When you are in Rome it is all right to do as the Romans do. I don't know what you would call a man that would pose before the public's eye or the camera's eye in America wearing one of those things. It almost looks like a publicity stunt. DUNNING "CURE" DEPICTS SLAYING AS PLACID DEED

Smiled Into Aunt's Eyes First, Mahaney Says.

Thomas Mahaney, released as cured from the state hospital for the insane at Dunning ten months ago, last night confessed that he murdered his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Williamson, in her home at 7930 Maryland avenue. Mahaney was arrested in the Deering police district as a moron early this month and released because women who had been attacked could not make definite identification of him.

Wierd Recital of Crime.

Although released from Dunning as completely cured, police say Mahaney undoubtedly is insane. His story of the murder of his aunt, which he demonstrated cooly, is the weird, blood chilling tale of an irrational person.

Mahaney, his clothing still spotted with the blood of his murdered aunt, calmly gave a detailed account of the tragic afternoon when he committed murder with the appalling nonchalance of a maniac, the while his paralytic mother sat in an adjoining room.

"I did it. I did it!" he cried in sentences almost devoid of pause, to Chief of Detectives Hughes. "But she wanted to kill my mother. My aunt came into the bathroom where I was shaving. She said my mother would be better off dead. Then the thought came to me that I could kill my aunt and there wouldn't be any more trouble.

Smiles at Feeble Struggle.

"So I put my arm around her waist as though I was going to hug her. I think she knew she was going to die . . . she took hold of the hand in which I held the razor . . . she wasn't very strong and I just smiled. . . . I drew her real close to me and bent her backward. . . . We were standing in the bathroom doorway, but after I killed her I laid her down in the hallway. My mother is nearly blind; she couldn't see us. There wasn't any noise; my mother couldn't hear anything.

"I washed the blood off the razor and walked out of the house. I went to Gary to get a job."

PREDICTS VAST GAINS AT U. OF I. IN NEXT DECADE

"The University of Illinois will be the greatest university in the United States within another decade," the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, chaplain of Catholic students at the university, said last night in speaking to Catholic alumni of the university at the Morrison hotel.

DR. JOHN A. O'BRIEN.

The meeting was held in the interests of the $1,000,000 campaign for a new Catholic foundation at the university as an expansion of the present foundation which was established by the Knights of Columbus.

The Rev. Dr. O'Brien said Catholic students at the University of Illinois increased 100 per cent in three years.

The present attendance is 750, which, he said, would increase to 2,000 or more before the expiration of ten years.

CROWE AID QUITS WHEN IDENTIFIED AS HOLDUP MAN

Resignation of Attorney Frederick R. Huber, clerk in the tax department of the state's attorney's office, was announced yesterday following his identification as one of three men alleged to have held up and robbed George Miller, 212 Locust street, of $445 on the night of May 11.

State's Attorney Crowe, while announcing he did not wish to pass on the guilt or innocence of Mr. Huber, said he had assigned Assistant State's Attorney Edgar R. Jonas thoroughly to sift the circumstances surrounding the charge.

Huber, along with Walter Wentz, reported to be a clerk in the county recorder's office, and Thomas Mulligan, formerly an inmate of the House of Correction, were picked by Miller from a large number of suspects in a "show up" at the detective bureau. Huber declined to discuss the charge when released on $5,000 bail. His brother, Otto Huber, a policeman at the Town Hall station, said that at the time of the alleged robbery Huber was paying him a visit.

NORTH SHORE FAST ELECTRIC KILLS LABORER

One of the "flying thunderbolts" of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad speeded noiselessly down on unsuspecting Louis Miller, a laborer working yesterday at the Bryn Mawr station of the Northwestern Elevated.

When the swift train had passed comrades found Miller had been killed. His body was taken to his home, 2821 North Fairfield avenue.

Fine Young Actor in Appealing "War" Picture

"SONNY."

Produced by First National.
Directed by Henry King.
Presented at the Chicago.

THE CAST:

"Sonny" (Charles Crosby)	Richard Barthelmess
Joe Marden	Richard Barthelmess
Mrs. Crosby	Margaret Seddon
Florence Crosby	Pauline Gron
Madge Craig	Lucy Fox
Her father	Herbert Grimwood
Alicia	Patterson Dial
Summers	Fred Nichols
James	James Terbell

By Mae Tinée.

When you see Richard Barthelmess in "Sonny" you are going to realize again what a fine actor he is. As in "Tol'able David," his work is remarkable for quiet power and reticence. He has a double rôle this time, and in the two characters he portrays, that of a son of gentle birth and as an uneducated lad who owns a billiard parlor in Hoboken, his appeal is equally great.

"Sonny" is a war picture. The story is of two boys who go "over there." One leaves a blind mother and an adoring small sister in a stately homestead to weep for him. The other has only "Lassie," a wistful eyed dog, to mourn his departure.

Over sea the boys become pals. "Sonny" of the stately homestead "goes west." His last request is that the buddy who looks so much like him will go back to the blind mother in his place, that she and little sister may never know of their loss. A promise to a dying pal must not be ignored, so Joe of Hoboken becomes a masquerader.

You will want to see how it all comes out, so I mustn't spoil your pleasure by telling you any more of the plot.

It will rest with the individual as to whether or not "Sonny" pleases as much as "Tol'able David." Certainly no story could have been more beautifully adapted to the screen. The acting is all splendid.

CLOSEUPS.

Larry Semon passed through town yesterday.

Mary Thurman, leading woman for Richard Barthelmess in "The Bond Boy" expects shortly to enter vaudeville.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

ANXIOUS: I WOULD NOT GIVE you the proportions of any dye for gray hair—sage, sulphur, alcohol, or any combined ingredients. Home applications of dye are perilous at best, and I believe if you must dye it you should have some one conscientious and so thoroughly experienced in the business that failure is almost impossible. Either that or let it alone, for the best of dyed heads have a look about them that is a trifle hard on the face. And gray hair can be made so wonderfully attractive with extra care given its brushing and shampooing and coiffing, don't you think?

A. C. S.: A WOMAN 28, 5 FEET 4, should weigh about 130. You are not so much overweight, but now is the time to get yourself in training so no more pounds will crowd you. Better send me s. a. e. and I will give you a set of exercises which is exactly what you need to get down to right weight and keep there. Ask for "Youth Preservers" when you send the s. a. e. In the meantime just reduce the butter, sugar, cream, and white bread consumption one-half at each meal. Let me know at end of a month what this has done for you.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Leona's cousin had come to visit and was standing in the house with his hat on.

Leona eyed him for some time, and then, unable to resist longer, she said,

"If you was my brother, my mamma would say, 'Young man, take off your hat in the house!'" M. G. S.

Davie brought home a discarded bird cage that had been given him, and asked his mother if she would buy him a song bird.

"Why, son, a really fine song bird would cost as much as $10, and we could not afford it."

"Then we might buy a song bird that don't sing so much," he said. J. M. S.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Here's a Kitten.

"We have a cat, Persian and Angora mixture, which we would be glad to give to any one who will take good care of her, as she is such a pet. She is 1 year old. We are giving her away because our apartment will be closed for the summer and we will be unable to care for her. M. B."

Grateful for Tent.

"I have been ill since last December with a nervous breakdown and the doctors all say I should sleep out of doors. I need a tent and it is impossbile for me to buy one. Has any one a tent not in use? Would be glad of any discarded clothes, too, coats of any kind. I am a widow with two children. L. R."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Quite the Contrary.

Last week my neighbor's son, who has lived in another state since his marriage, returned for a visit, bringing his wife and son. When I went to call, his mother met me at the door and ushered me into the living room, where sat a young woman holding a baby.

Naturally I thought it was the daughter-in-law, and I exclaimed, "O, I think the baby is the image of you!"

"I am the nurse," said the young woman. V. C.

Prepared for the Worst.

I am a dentist, and one day I seated a woman who weighed over 200 pounds in my dental chair and began slowly raising it.

Said she, "I will get out of the chair, doctor, while you adjust it."

"O, no," I said; "sit still; I could raise a house with this equipment." C. E. A.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cooking Bass by the Spencer Method.

Although I was unable to identify the fish which the fisherman calls a silver bass in that grand book "Fishes" by Jordan and Evermann, who give a list of twenty-one basses, that fish was as much superior to the lake trout purchased at the same time and cooked in the same way as bass are always superior with their dry meat to those fish yielding a meat of the damper sort.

The fish were filletted, dipped in heavily salted milk then in white corn meal and sprinkled with melted butter and cooked in a buttered pan in a six hundred degree oven. This sort of cooking is called the Spencer method. It was most widely and helpfully demonstrated under government auspices by Mrs. Evelene Spencer some years ago, and now can be studied in the book "Fish Cookery" by Mrs. Spencer, "fish cookery expert for United States bureau of fisheries, and John N. Cobb, director, college of fisheries, University of Washington, Seattle.

This collaboration of a scientist and a cook gives us a valuable reference book on fish and the recipes as well. It is altogether the best sort of anything obtainable. Three pages and a half are devoted to the "hot oven or Spencer method." In these pages we have described every detail and also in connection with each particular sort of fish the recipe is given with the necessary variations. Bread crumbs are prescribed by the method, but white corn meal will do.

With a lot of small fish to fry the housewife can save herself no end of time and labor and expense by using this method. I know this first hand from a woman who often saved herself and her materials and filled several luncheon boxes with delicious little cold cooked fishes from her husband's holiday catch.

DAILY HOROSCOPE
Doris Blake Says:

TODAY IT IS WELL TO BE CONSERVATIVE.

The position of Mercury and Mars being parallel, during this sway it is wise to pursue beaten paths and to conserve all one's energies. Refrain from dissipation of every sort. Those whose birthday it is may look for travel and change in the year ahead, meet with many deceptions, and should be constantly on guard against wrangling. Keep a close eye on your money. You are self-sufficient. You have logic and reason for everything. You have a religious turn of mind, slightly fanatical in tendency. You are fond of activity and life. Your chief fault is in your self-centeredness. Children born on this day should prove original and intuitive, given to argument, but logically successful in the outcome of life.

It Looks Hopeless.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 18 years of age and in love with a fellow one year my senior. I have known him for nearly two years and know that he loves me. He never asks me to go out with him and hardly ever comes up to the house. I would like to know why he never does. I see him nearly every day where I work. May be that is why? I will be so glad if you can answer this. A. A."

Now, dear, if he has not shown more interest than that, I am afraid you simply must resign yourself to the fact that yours is a one sided love affair, and fairly hopeless from your outlook! Suppose you try bestowing your affection in another direction. I think it the wiser thing to do.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

Farrar, Stock Give Opening Program of Evanston Festival

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Evanston's traffic police had more trouble directing cars in the way they should go last night than they have had at any time since the corresponding period in May a year ago. It was the first night of the North Shore Music festival.

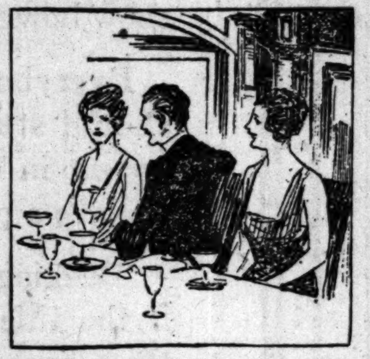
As announced and advertised, the opening concert was labeled as the "first artists' night," with the orchestra, Frederick Stock, and Geraldine Farrar as the artists. As soon as the last notes of the national anthem had died away Mr. Lutkin relinquished the baton to Mr. Stock, who took the orchestra through the good natured melodies of Brahms' "Academic Festival" overture.

Then came Miss Farrar, smiling, ornate, decorative, and disposed to please. She is following her own line this season. The magnificent orchestra was there able and ready to accompany her, but she is appearing with piano accompaniments these days. Perhaps it is as well, for she is changed in many other ways.

Songs instead of arias are her present metier, and songs in English at that, after having in the past frequently declared her preference for vocal music in its original tongue. There was a group of German works, to be followed later by a French group, and that by one from the Russian.

It is simpler in many ways. If she desires to change a song or two from what is announced on the program Claude Gotthelf, her accompanist, can make the alteration more easily than a full orchestra. Also she is changing her manner of vocalism, singing more carefully and more lightly than she used to, pronouncing English fairly well and interpreting most of her numbers quite pleasurably.

Etiquette Problem



What's Wrong Here?

Answer at bottom of this page.

MECCA OF MUSIC LOVERS

The festival was the mecca of music lovers of Chicago and north shore society. Large fern balls, numerous Japanese lanterns and branches of Japanese quince gave the Northwestern university gymnasium the proper festive appearance for such a gala occasion. The most brilliant note of color was Geraldine Farrar's gown, which was of flame color taffeta with high Spanish panniers and trimmings of large flat roses of the same vivid hue.

Among those in the audience were Miss Muriel McCormick, Mme. Marguerite, Lieut Henri Farré, Mrs. William B. Greenlee, Mr. and Mrs. George D. McLaughlin, Mrs. George H. Ingalls of New York, formerly of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Luke I. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Martin K. Northam, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Byram, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hale, Mrs. A. F. Callahan, Mrs. Samuel Dauchy, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Burnham, Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Rew, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Patten, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown Jr., Mme. Ward, Miss Estelle Ward, Mrs. Granger Farwell, Mrs. Robert H. McElwee, Mrs. John H. This White Evening Gown Is Elaborately Beaded

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—We may have failed in having a white Christmas, but we are bound to have a white Fourth of July. The preference for these snowy garments becomes more marked each day.

Indeed, even sweaters record the present mental bias, and one of the wisest things you can do for yourself is to wear one of these new long waisted white sweaters—they are usually bloused into a band around the hips—which Paris has lately been idealizing. One sees these nowadays worn at the smart restaurants frequented by women who drive in for the day from their places in the country.

For evening wear here is another snowy creation, this of white faille over a foundation of radium satin. The variety is achieved by a bead embroidery consisting of opalescent pearls, plain pearls, brilliants, and bugles.

Sunday fashion page will be found in the New Color Section.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

The minister of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes and Mrs. Grouitch will be the guests at dinner this evening of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Mason M. Patrick.

'TIZ' FOR ACHING, SORE, TIRED FEET

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, calluses and bunions.

There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

A few cents buy a box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel.

SLASH IN RAIL RATES FAILS TO EXCITE MARKET

YESTERDAY'S AVERAGES

25 industrials	97.74	96.79	97.17	+ .34
50 stocks	80.77	79.91	80.28	+ .11

The New York Times.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Although the interstate commerce commission's announcement of an average 10 per cent cut from existing railway freight rates took today's markets somewhat by surprise, its effect on stock exchange prices was of the slightest. The majority of railway shares ended the day at exactly the closing prices of the day before.

In so far as the commission's decision was a shock of a disappointment, the market's attitude might be accounted for by the fact that the railway shares have not moved up with the general list since this session's rise on the stock exchange began. But there are other reasons why a 10 per cent reduction may be accepted philosophically.

Hold 1920 Boost Too Big.

The advance in rates during August, 1920, ranging from 25 to 40 per cent in the different geographical groups, is admitted by most railway men to have been too great. Some reduction has already been made voluntarily by the roads and on the question of further cuts much difference of opinion existed. But it must not be forgotten that the effect produced on earnings by such lowering of rates is very different in a period of enlarging traffic from what it would have been in 1921.

Two years after every one of our acute financial crises, American railway traffic has invariably increased with such rapidity that the year's total freight mileage actually reached a higher figure than any previous record, with still larger totals in the succeeding years. Net revenues increased along with the traffic and despite the fact that rates continued progressively to decrease during at least half a dozen years.

Car Loadings Increase.

What the present situation indicates may be judged from today's "car loading statement" for the second week of May. Notwithstanding a decrease from the same week in 1921 of 81,000 cars of coal, increase in general merchandise was so great as to bring the total loadings 26,000 cars above last year and 18,000 above 1919.

While the railway shares stood motionless on the stock exchange today industrial shares moved with as much uncertainty as the day before and movements again had little relation to one another. The embers of the recent speculative blaze over "steel mergers" flickered rather dismally.

Further recovery occurred on today's foreign exchange market, possibly influenced by the first meeting at Paris of the reparations subcommittee to discuss a German loan.

PRODUCE MARKETS

A cleaning up of the desirable grades of butter here made a firmer market. Boston and New York were firmer and Philadelphia easy, the latter having more stock than there was call for.

Cheese is moving off here and in the east and the markets generally were firm. Fond du Lac reported a good trade and a firm market with the exception of square prints, which declined ½c.

Good supplies of eggs were taken at former prices. Arrivals, 28,956 cases, against 25,370 cases last year. Live hens and roosters declined ½c. Arrivals, 2 cars and 940 coops.

Old potatoes sold well at full prices for choice, while new moved slowly at 10@15c decline. Arrivals, 15 cars old and 38 cars new.

Good supplies of strawberries moved at about recent prices.

· FINANCIAL·NOTES ·

Now that the sugar industry has struggled back to its feet, prices are advancing day by day, and leaders of the industry are getting into a calmer mood than they have been in more than a year, it is probably inevitable that there should be considerable talk of sugar mergers among corporations which are active and direct competitors. The ice has been broken in this direction by the National Sugar Refining and Cuban-American Sugar deal, now approaching completion, but this probably is but the forerunner of a number of other interesting and important combinations now in prospect

◆

Each day brings forth its new rumor in connection with the proposed merger of independent steel companies. Yesterday's favorites were that there was a two cornered fight on between the Schwab and Topping interests for control of Midvale Steel. This report was responsible for much of the speculation in Midvale on the New York exchange, but denial of the rumor came only after the close of the market. "The five company combination," according to information, has sifted down to a "three company merger," with the other two companies "still in the picture." Thre three companies are Republic, Midvale and Inland. It is said that these three are closer together than any of the five. That the three have officially agreed and signed the contracts was denied by spokesmen for the bankers connected with the deal.

◆

The jump in Barnsdall corporation stock yesterday was based upon the report that the Atlantic Refining company, one of the Standard Oil group, had bought a controlling interest in the company from a local banking house. The report could not be confirmed at the office of the Barnsdall company, but in view of the fact that all of the Standard Oil companies are branching out for companies that have production the report was believed to have a grain of truth in it. Officials of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana refused to discuss the reports that a merger of that organization with the Gulf Oil company is contemplated.

◆

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana increased its board of directors to nine, the following men being named to fill the two positions caused by the increase and a vacancy made by a recent resignation: Robert H. McElroy, traffic manager; Edward J. Bullock, director of purchases; Thomas J. Thompson, general manager of sales, all Chicago men.

◆

The Wholesale Grocers' corporation, which is a merger formed last July of three of the oldest wholesale grocery houses of Chicago, has changed its name to the Durand-McNeill-Horner company. Frank C. Letts has been elected chairman of the board of directors, Fred C. Letts president and general manager, C. C. Virgil vice president, Oscar B. McGlasson vice president, M. L. Horner Sr. treasurer, and Robert J. Roulston secretary. On the board of directors are the foregoing and H. C. Durand, P. J. Kasper, Marvin J. McNeill, M. Gordon McNeill, and Herbert Delafield.

◆

B. G. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil company; B. W. McIlvain, vice president, and F. S. Heath, secretary, have been elected directors of the Humphreys Oil company, representing the Pure Oil company's interest of 25 per cent in that company.

◆

The first important piece of mail order house financing undertaken this year was revealed last night when it was announced that an issue of $2,700,000 of the capital stock [par value $100] of the Hartman corporation, which owns the entire capital stock of the Hartman Furniture and Carpet company and affiliated companies, would be offered for public subscription today at $87.50 a share, yielding 8 per cent, on the basis of the present dividend rate. The offering syndicate includes Hallgarten & Co. and Ames, Emerich & Co. It is pointed out that this is not a new issue, but represents stock purchased by the syndicate from interests who retired from active management of the corporation several years ago.

Sinclair Co. Buys Tract for New Refining Plant

Joliet, Ill., May 24.—A tract of 100 acres, eleven miles north of Joliet, was sold today to the Sinclair Oil company, which will erect a $2,500,000 refining plant. The property will give the company railroad sidings from the Chicago and Alton and the Santa Fe, as well as water rights on the Illinois and Michigan canal. Work on the plant will be started this summer.

Are You a Hit-or-Misser?

THE results of printing are often damaged by the use of unsuitable paper.

We have a series of books on the subject of selecting the right paper intelligently, not hit-or-miss.

They are definite and instructive. They give the reasons and show the practice. They are interesting and they show how to get results.

Everybody who gets out printing should study the questionnaires that appear in each book, showing how to analyze a printing problem.

"Making It Easy to Plan Printing" is the title of the series. If you need these books, you can have them.

N. Y. CENTRAL'S REPORT MAKES GOOD SHOWING

BY O. A. MATHER.

In spite of last year's business depression the annual report of the New York Central railroad makes a decidedly good showing. Although the volume of freight traffic fell off about one-third from 1920, this was offset by operating economies. The result was that earnings on the capital stock were the largest in three years.

Net income after all charges for the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, was $22,295,665, equivalent to 8.9 per cent on the $249,597,355 capital stock. It is stated, however, that net income includes items aggregating $5,613,183 as a result of adjustments relating to the federal control and guaranty periods. If these items be disallowed, earnings on the stock would be equivalent to 6.7 per cent. In 1920 net income was $13,734,688, equivalent to 5.5 per cent on the stock.

"Merger" Down to Three.

The proposed merger of independent steel companies, which originally embraced five concerns, appears to have narrowed down to three. Thomas L. Chadbourne, counsel for the interested companies, stated last night that the Republic Iron and Steel, the Midvale Steel and Ordnance, and the Inland Steel companies are close to agreement, but the other two, the Brier Hill and the Steel and Tube of America, are still some distance from the rest.

The present indefinite status of the consolidation was explained to Attorney General Daugherty at a conference with representatives of the steel companies yesterday. It was agreed that any merger will not be consummated until completion of the government's hearing and investigation. It also was stated that the merger of the Bethlehem and Lackawanna companies is in no way concerned with the plans for a new consolidation.

Midweek Reviews Optimistic.

The midweek reviews of the iron and steel industry continue in an optimistic vein and foresee maintenance of the present high rate of operations toward the close of the year.

"Current buying is on a greater scale than had been expected in view of the large contracts placed at the low prices of March and early April," the Iron Age says. "The Steel corporation is on a 75 per cent basis this week, and there have been small increases by several independent companies. The fact that actual specifications now on the books will engage bar and structural mills well into the third quarter and the unwillingness of most producers to sell for definite delivery in that quarter creates a situation in which prices tend upward."

"Probability of a reduction in freight rates has become something of a market factor," the Iron Trade Review says. "New business is a shade less vigorous."

Auto Industry Improves.

Improvement in the automobile industry continues one of the largest factors in manufacturing revival. The motor plants are crowding for steel deliveries, while there also is some revival in the agricultural implement plants.

"Important gains are shown in the automobile industry, and good business is assured for several months, but dependent for continuance next fall on crop conditions and prices," R. G. Dun & Co. say. "The outstanding features are: Production of cars, trucks, and tractors increasing; prices of some raw materials advancing; unemployment diminishing; and demand for skilled labor exceeding the supply."

"Manufacturers of practically all popular lines of passenger cars are far behind on orders," Automotive Industries states.

Northern States Power.

M. H. F., Fond du Lac, Wis.—The Northern States Power company reports for 1921 gross earnings of $12,963,222, compared with $11,798,779 in 1920. Net earnings were $5,207,544, against $4,466,838 in 1920. The balance after fixed charges was $2,911,061, compared with $2,318,468. There was paid $1,601,165 in preferred dividends, leaving a balance for amortization, depreciation, common dividends and surplus of $1,310,697, against $977,094 in 1920. A dividend of 4 per cent was declared on the common stock in 1921 and the present rate is 8 per cent. The 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock deserves a good rating.

General Motors.

D. W. A., Aredale, Ia.—The General Motors corporation reports for 1921 a deficit after depreciation, of $13,259,667, compared with net profits of $49,277,522 in 1920. Deficit after charges was $38,680,770, against surplus of $37,883,522 in 1920. After payment of $6,310,009 of preferred and debenture dividends and $20,468,277 of common dividends the deficit for the year was $65,459,056, which compared with a balance surplus of $14,236,660 in 1920. The profit and loss surplus was reduced to $55,814,161 as of Dec. 31, 1921, from $121,273,217 at the close of 1920. Total assets and liabilities stood at $515,132,979. Current assets were $179,214,317 and current liabilities, $81,553,967, leaving working capital of $97,660,350. No dividend has been paid on the no-par common stock since Nov. 1, 1921, when 25 cents was paid, making a total of $1 for the year. This stock is speculative at present. The outlook for this year seems brighter. In the first four months of 1922 the company produced about 115,000 motor vehicles, which is more than double the output of the corresponding period in 1921. In April about 40,000 units were produced and sold.

THE above figures are from the "Plan Sheet" in our booklet, "A Sure Road to Financial Independence." For a $5000 income, the living expenses are analyzed on the plan sheet to show in detail how the indicated surplus is arrived at. There is a blank for applying the analysis to fit your own case.

Every one interested in a systematic method of building up a surplus through the purchase of safe bonds will find it worth while to read this booklet and make use of the "Plan Sheet."

General average price of good beef cattle at Chicago yesterday advanced fully 25c to $8.60, standing highest of the year to date. While some steers sold only 10@15c higher, others were as much as 50c above Monday. Price range was unusually narrow, best offerings averaging 1,177 lbs going to Wilson & Co. at $9.35. Bulk of beef steers sold at $8.25@9.00 against $5.75 @8.25 early in January, when top kinds reached $10.00.

Competition in the cattle trade was brisk with eastern and foreign interests good buyers. Exporters sent out over 2,000 head the first half of the week, paying up to $8.60. Some 845 lb yearlings sold for shipment to Milwaukee at $9.25. Butcher stock yesterday ruled strong to 15c higher and good calves gained 15@25c. Feeding cattle generally steady.

Hog values advanced mostly 10c at the start of yesterday's market with speculators principal buyers. While some of the packers and shippers followed the early advance practically all the larger houses held back, resulting in a loss of most of the early upturn, with 10,000 estimated left over, many of them held off the market. One load averaging 196 lbs reached $10.80, with general average at $10.45.

Spring lamb values were forced to the highest level since May 5, at $15.65@15.75 for best to packers, while western fed shorn lambs changed hands 85c above previous week's high time at $13.85 to city butchers. Packers bought liberally at $13.25@13.50. Very little or no change was noted in sheep prices. Wethers reached $8.00, yearlings $9.25, two year olds $8.25, and breeding ewes $7.50.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 11,000 cattle, 27,000 hogs, and 14,000 sheep, against 6,957 cattle, 33,578 hogs, and 12,788 sheep the corresponding Thursday a year ago.

BUSINESS NEWS IN BRIEF

[Copyright: 1922: By Fairchild News Service.]

BELFAST.—The Cambric Manufacturers' Association of Belfast has decided to maintain the present price list for cambrics for the next three months. The announcement follows London rumors of a 10 per cent price cut.

NEW YORK.—Merchant buyers from all over the country now in New York report that annual May sales held by department stores and specialty shops were not as successful as in previous years. The largest volume of business was in low priced merchandise.

NEW YORK.—Prices for broad silk are mounting in the wholesale market. Desired silks, such as crêpes, have advanced 10 per cent within the last two weeks.

NEW YORK.—Shirt manufacturers will be protected as much as possible in the disposition of the 1,120,000 olive drab flannel shirts just purchased from the war department, a buyer says.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Cotton mill strikers in Rhode Island are losing ground. One large mill, which has kept open during the strike, gives affidavit to the court showing that 1,919 out of 2,200 workers have returned to work.

PORTLAND, Ore.—A Portland wool dealer has paid 35 cents a pound for the entire 1,750,000 pound clip from Senator Stanfield's flocks. This is about 50 per cent more than was paid for the 1921 clip about four months ago.

NEW YORK.—Cotton goods market factors are disappointed by business so far with the auto top trade. Despite the record car production, big sales can be made only at prices which sellers will not consider.

BELFAST.—The week has developed decidedly more business for linen manufacturers; coarser end goods particularly are wanted. Quick delivery is demanded in all cases, indicating that merchants' stocks are low.

NEWS OF THE CROPS

Weather conditions the last week were favorable for the development of the winter and spring wheat crops, according to the government weekly report. Corn has germinated rather poorly in the extreme upper Mississippi valley. In other sections the early planted is coming up to a good stand, although cultivation was delayed by wet soil in many southern states. Planting made good progress in most central and northern areas. Oats generally backward in the interior valley states, but show improvement in most sections.

George M. Le Count wired Stein, Alstrin & Co. from Sioux City, Ia.: "Wheat and oats making splendid growth through South Dakota. Crop a little late, but otherwise nearly perfect. Corn planting nearly finished in southern South Dakota, and earliest planting is coming up. Heavy reserves of old corn held on farms."

COMPANY: The Hartman Corporation, through ownership of the capital stock of the Hartman Furniture and Carpet Company and affiliated companies, is engaged in the sale of household goods, generally on credit. The business was founded in 1888, the present Corporation having been organized in Virginia in 1916. A large part of the business is done through orders by mail, the Company having in the hands of the public an estimated total of 3,000,000 active catalogues. The Company also has nine large retail stores situated in the principal distributing centers of the Middle West.

GROWTH: Net sales have increased from $4,500,000 in 1911 to more than $15,000,000 in 1920. In 1921, a year of general business depression and substantial reduction in prices, sales were nearly $11,000,000.

EARNINGS: Consolidated net earnings applicable to dividends after all charges and taxes, increased from $803,000 in 1911 to $1,859,000 in 1920. In 1921 (in spite of the conditions referred to above) it made a profit after all charges, including taxes and the writing down of inventories to market, of $373,574. Average earnings after all charges and taxes for the past six years were $1,271,114, or in excess of $10 per share. In no year since organization has the Corporation operated at a loss.

ASSETS: Total net tangible assets of December 31, 1921, as shown by the consolidated balance sheet audited by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse and Company, exclusive of the Corporation's very valuable good will, trade name, trade marks, mailing lists, etc., amounted to $11,253,260, or over $93.75 per share. Of this amount $10,256,149, over $85 per share, consisted of net current assets. There has been put back into the property and carried to surplus since the formation of the present company in 1916, out of earnings alone, approximately $4,300,000 current assets, practically seven times current liabilities.

DIVIDENDS: The Company has distributed in dividends since its formation less than 44% of its net earnings. Dividends were inaugurated in 1917 (the year following incorporation) at the rate of 5% per annum and were increased in 1920 to the present 7% rate.

Mr. Max Straus, president of the Corporation, under date of May 23, 1922, has written as follows:

"During the first four months of the current year the sales of the Hartman Corporation have increased 7.18% over the corresponding months of 1921, and expenses have decreased 6.34%. Net profits for the year should be substantially in excess of the amount required for the dividend, no reduction of which is anticipated."

LONG JETTISONS MAY WHEAT AND PRICES TUMBLE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A near collapse in May wheat, due to free selling by a house that has paid for the bulk of the cash grain delivered so far, carried the price off 5⅝c from the close of the previous day, with the finish at a net loss of 5⅝c. There was also heavy selling of July induced by the break in the May, and it lost 3¼c, while September was off 1⅝c. Corn and oats showed a heavy undertone and both grains lost ⅝@1c. Rye was ⅝@1c lower.

Rumors that the so-called May deal here was over, undoubtedly induced by the character of the selling, created a decidedly bearish sentiment amongst all classes of traders. Support in the May came mainly from a local house, which was said to have been the leading short, but the rallies were short lived and there was persistent selling on all the minor upturns. Commission houses were moderate buyers of the deferred deliveries early, but toward the last the buying was almost entirely by shorts.

Coarse Grains Under Pressure.

The bulge of Tuesday greatly reduced the local short interest and there was nothing in the character of the news to induce buyers to take hold freely.

Coarse grains were under pressure from local traders from the start, with considerable selling of July oats at times by commission houses that were best buyers on the previous day.

Liquidation in other grains had a depressing effect on rye. On the break houses with seaboard connections bought and some business was reported as having been put through.

Lard and Ribs Higher.

A reversal of form in the hog market, with scattered commission house buying, more than offset selling of September lard by packers, and the close was 2½@7½c higher on lard and unchanged to 7½c higher on ribs. Domestic cash demand continues good, although fresh meats were easier. Deliveries on May contracts aggregated 150,000 lbs lard. Packing in the west for the season to date, as compiled by the Price Current-Grain Reporter is 6,535,000 hogs, against 6,477,000 last year. Prices follow:

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

The big thing in May wheat is said to be over. This is the construction placed on the situation by many in the trade. Rumors of settlements brought the remark from George E. Marcy, president of the Armour Grain Co., who have been the most active on the buying side for more than a week past. "There is nothing to settle, as the leading longs have all the wheat they had bought delivered to them. In addition there is 2,000,000 bu more in transit to Chicago." One of the largest holders of cash wheat taken in on May delivery when told of the statement of Mr. Marcy said: "He may be right." He ventured no other opinion.

The trade in general had it last night that the May wheat is now a trailers' affair, although considerable long wheat has not been delivered. The latter has been selling out for more than a week and there is said to be more to come.

In all more than 8,000,000 bu cash wheat has been delivered so far this month, mostly by the Armour Grain Co. and J. Rosenbaum Grain Co. Their enormous sales are said to have been provided for, leaving the market to a few belated longs and to trailers. Deliveries of cash wheat to holders of May contracts of late have been redelivered, as they did not care to carry the wheat with nothing to hedge it in, which has depressed the May.

Heavy selling of May and July wheat by the leading houses that have paid for the cash grain this month led to the impression that the longs were getting out. It was also asserted that a leading house had turned bearish on July and predicted lower prices. The latter was denied after the close by the head of the house, who asserted that it never expressed opinions of that character. For two days it is estimated by the trade that around 2,000,000 bu May has been sold out by different holders and has gone to the same interests that have brought the cash wheat here to deliver. That there was nothing to settle was taken as referring to the leading short, who has the cash grain.

Traders have become bearish on wheat as the export and milling demand has been disappointing. A number of St. Louis operators who were here yesterday talked bearish on July and said crop prospects were too good and cash demand too poor to be bullish at present. Rallies are to be looked for every few days, as the markets become oversold. Tuesday's advance was more than lost and May at $1.32 at the last showed 15½c under the high of a week ago. July wheat is regarded as a sale on all bulges above the present level.

The Electric Era

THE electric era in the life of mankind, despite its magnitude, has only just begun. Contemplate—back over the last ten years:

The growth in electric lighting
The growth in the use of electric power
The growth in the use of electric transportation
The growth in the use of the telephone and telegraph

What was once a novelty and a luxury is now a necessity. Today no city could live without electric light, the telephone, the telegraph, or the electric railway, all of which are dependent on electric current.

Popular demand for electric service has increased thirty per cent in the last three years, and engineers tell us electricity is still in its infancy. The owners of properly safeguarded bonds of electric public utilities can feel assured their investment rests on a public necessity which is becoming more vital from year to year.

Bonds for Safe Investment—In common with all business institutions, the Harris Trust & Savings Bank is harmed directly or indirectly by unwise speculation and "wildcat" promotions. In a series of advertisements of which this is the Eighth, we are trying to picture to the public, out of an experience of 40 years, what we have found to be safe investments.

PLAN 11 STORES AT CHICAGO AND KEDZIE, EVANSTON

BY AL CHASE.

Work is to be rushed on another South Evanston improvement not far from the big one told about in this department two Sundays ago. Anna B. Phelps has bought from Dr. Alfred N. Murray the vacant at the southeast corner of Chicago and Kedzie avenues, Evanston, fronting 173 on Kedzie and 117 on Chicago, and will at once erect eleven tile front stores and eighteen private garages, all to be heated from one central plant. According to Baird & Warner, who will have charge of the property, the investment will be $90,000 and work will be completed in ninety days.

Two other building projects reported by Baird & Warner are at 534 Melrose street, where Louis E. Randall intends to build a high grade residence, and the 102 feet of vacant fronting north on Fairoaks street, just east of Broadway, where Leonard H. Wolf and Emmett E. Bain will erect a garage. They bought the site from Ossian C. Simonds at a reported rate of $250 a front foot.

Buys La Salle Steel Plant.

The La Salle Steel company has sold to L. A. Cohn & Bro. its plant at 5429 West Roosevelt road, on a two acre site, for a reported $63,000. The buyers are in the smelting business and will improve their purchase at a reported cost of $1500,000. A. J. Montague & Son represented all parties and Benjamin B. Morris was attorney for the buyers.

An indicated $125,000, subject to $73,500, was paid by Alice Ingram to Randolph W. Matteson for the thirty apartments on the south side of Sunnyside avenue, 225 feet east of Sheridan road.

Charles W. Ferguson & Co. report two deals in the Howard street district. Mrs. Anna L. Dever bought from Mrs. Lena McCall Gretz the 113x29 at the southwest corner of Birchwood and Clark, with old improvements, for $50,000. Edmund J. McQuaid and Emma McAllister bought from John Randazzo 50 feet on Howard, 200 feet west of the "L," for $45,000.

Elm Street Sale.

Arthur J. Ross, whose father helped build the Palmer house, and who himself for several years erected buildings for the late Potter Palmer, has sold the only building he ever constructed for himself, the four story four apartment building at 72 East Elm, to Mrs. Agnes G. Barnes, for a reported $37,000, through W. J. Boyd of W. K. Young & Bro.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

SALESMEN—ATTENTION, REAL ESTATE MEN!

We control a very large amount of land, in the big flowing belt of Texas, on railroads, within 80 to 110 miles of San Antonio, in the most beautiful country, with some of the richest, well drained soil in Southwest Texas. It is the best seller and the biggest bargain in the United States today, without a doubt. A man can buy this land, put it in cultivation and under gravity irrigation, in tracts of 640 acres, at not to exceed $80 per acre, at present prices, and if it cost him $300 per acre it would still be the cheapest land in Texas. This land can be put in cultivation without irrigation, but with the necessary houses on it, at present prices, at not to exceed $45 per acre. It will then produce as much cotton as any part of Central or North Texas, on an average, provided the ground is prepared in the fall and farmed scientifically. Our live agents are now making big money selling this land. A good live real estate man should make more money selling land for us than he can make selling for anybody else or for himself. We believe a good man can make at least $25,000 to $50,000 within the next twelve months selling our land, as we pay a liberal commission and furnish lots of assistance to our agents. For your information our Mr. Bishop has sold more land that is in cultivation today than any real estate man in the United States. At least 1-170th part of the cotton raised in the United States last year, in addition to a large amount of other crops, was grown on lands sold by him. If you are interested, write us for full details and booklet which will describe our proposition thoroughly.

MONEY BACK Guarantee

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED OR MONEY REFUNDED

WE WILL REFUND YOUR MONEY IF YOU ARE NOT SATISFIED WITH YOUR REBUILT COLE AERO EIGHT.

This is the strongest indorsement ever given any motor car (either new or used), and we doubt if ever advertised before.

TWO THINGS MAKE THIS POSSIBLE.

(1) The Price is Right.

Nowhere can you buy an equal in value represented.

(2) The Cars Are Right.

These cars are rebuilt by experts—not helpers—and all reciprocating parts are installed new and are the same as used in our present new cars. We are sold out of finished cars with the exception of two or three but have five that will be finished this week.

Come in and test these with us and assure yourself that they perform like new and that they are as good as new.

Order the color you want it painted and the make tires you want and if not satisfied allow us to return your money.

All work of rebuilding and painting is done in our own shops in our own 4 story building under the supervision of factory experts, with the most modern and complete equipment. Every car when completed is given a very rigid road test of 125 miles with more care than most new cars, despite the fact that defects in motor units are impossible, as the car has been used at least a year with every possible opportunity to develop.

Prices range from
for open models.

$750—$1,000—$1,250

Before they are rebuilt and in good running shape, and in addition we have in stock many other makes at bargain prices, such as Oldsmobile, Reo, Buick, Paige, Jordan, Hudson, Overland, Lexington, Marmon and Cadillac.

Open Evenings.
